COUNCILMAN J. A. COUCH INDICTED BY GRAND JURY ON CHARGES OF INDECENCY, ASSAULT AND BATTERY

RESCUE IS NEAR FOR MEN TRAPPED 9 DAYS IN MINE

Only 12 Feet of Work Remain To Be Tunnelled Through Before Surviving Pair Can Be Brought Out of 141-Foot Tomb.

VOICES OF VICTIMS GAINING STRENGTH

Rescuers Now Believe Men Will Be Alive If Miners Can Get Through Within Next 24 Hours.

MOOSE RIVER, N. S., April 22.—(Wednesday)—(AP)—His courage bolstered as he and his companion listened to feverish rescue workers tearing into the rock wall that holds them prisoners in an uncharted gold mine, Dr. D. E. Robertson early today said "I'm good for another 48 hours." Only 12 feet separate the entombed men from freedom.

Draegerman crews and carpenters, coming to the surface after the 10:30 p. m. (Atlanta time) shift, expressed the opinion "the boys on the next shift will break through."

The frantic efforts of the rescue workers, delayed temporarily when rotten cribwork blocked the passageway in the original operating shaft, had reduced the distance still to go to about 15 feet.

Voices Are Strong.

Doctor Robertson, who for nine days has been imprisoned 141 feet underground with Charles Alfred Scadding, sent words of encouragement to the surface.

After a conversation, Michael Dwyer, minister of mines, said the men had told him they knew help was not far off.

"I am sure they are in no immediate danger," said Dr. H. K. MacDonald, one of the physicians with the hospital unit at the surface, after he talked to Doctor Robertson and Scadding.

"From the strength of their voices we are satisfied they are able to live 24 hours and engineers say they'll certainly be through in that time.

"Those men are coming out of there alive!" he asserted. "We are equipped for any emergency."

The collapse of the rotten cribwork sent a chill of despair over the hearts of the feverish miners and the anxious watchers on the surface. Immediately, carpenters were sent below to replace the rotten supports with new timbers. The delay, the workers knew, cost precious moments.

New Pipe Line Bored.

A new pipe line similar to the one down which the communication system was dropped yesterday was being completed. Down the new hole engineers planned to drop heating apparatus and other necessities, including a transmitter and receiving equipment.

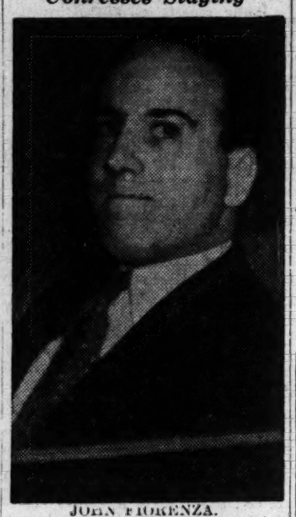

Dwyer said the miners had cleared up the four or five feet of loose rock ahead of them and between 10 and 12 feet remained before they could penetrate to the prison chamber.

Under ordinary circumstances, the minister said, Draegermen crews could tunnel through 20 feet of rock in five hours but it may take longer in the cramped quarters in the gold mine.

"I am going down," Dwyer said,

Confesses Slaying

JOHN FIORENZA.

CORD CLUE SOLVES TITTERTON KILLING

Upholsterer's Assistant Admits Assaulting and Slaying Woman Writer.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(UP)—A piece of string, frayed from 11 days of police examination, trapped John Fiorenza into confessing today that he murdered Mrs. Nancy Evans Titterton—a crime that seemed destined to go forever unsolved.

The end of the case was as startling as its beginning. Sitting in Mrs. Titterton's own apartment today—in an easy chair—Fiorenza told how and why and when he attacked the attractive, auburn-haired writer and how he eluded police for 11 days.

He is an assistant in an upholstery shop and was one of the two men who "found" Mrs. Titterton's body on the afternoon of Good Friday. He and Theodore Kruger, his employer, entered the Titterton apartment to deliver a couch they had repaired. It was Fiorenza who on that day calmly stepped to the telephone, rang police headquarters and said: "There's a woman's body in a bathtub here at 22 Beekman place."

Case Swiftly Ended.

The solution of the case came with the abruptness of the last chapter in a detective story. Fiorenza was one of the first persons questioned after the body was found, but he was exonerated. It was not until two days ago that police became interested in him again.

Fiorenza's confession lends weight and authority to at least one ancient maxim known to all detectives:

It is almost impossible to commit murder without leaving a clue.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine announced the details of Fiorenza's confession. The story begins one day before the murder—April 9.

On that day, Fiorenza knocked at the door of the Titterton apartment. He was there on business, to pick up the small couch—commonly called a love seat—and take it to the Kruger shop to be repaired. He was admitted to the apartment by Mrs. Titterton, picked up the couch and left without much conversation. Had he not been assigned that chore by his boss, Nancy Evans Titterton probably would be alive today, writing fiction and reading the detective stories she enjoyed.

By that visit he made himself known to Mrs. Titterton, and made it possible for himself to gain admittance to the apartment again.

Two Telephone Calls.

The next morning there were two important telephone calls. Fiorenza made one of them. He called up his employer and said he would be "busy in court" and would like to report

OPERA SONGBIRDS TO ARRIVE TODAY

Martinelli, d'Arville and Bamboschek Compose Vanguard of Noted Stars

Three world-famed celebrities of the operatic stage will arrive in Atlanta from New York at 8:35 o'clock this morning as the vanguard to an invasion of a group of distinguished stars who are to lead the three performances at the Fox theater Friday and Saturday as Atlanta's Dogwood Festival closes.

The train that pulls into the Terminal station this morning will bring Giovanni Martinelli, the famous tenor who has been a favorite in Atlanta for years; Colette d'Arville, charming young soprano of the Paris Opera Comique, who will appear in the title role of "Carmen" Saturday evening, and Giuseppe Bamboschek, the famed Metropolitan conductor, who will rule over the orchestra pit at each performance.

The opera stars will be met at the station by Raymond A. Kline, chairman of the festival music committee, and a delegation of Atlanta opera lovers.

Miss d'Arville has sung with Martinelli in a number of joint recitals recently. She is a typical Carmen, being a sparkling brunette from the Basque country.

With the arrival of these three this morning, definite preparations for the Friday and Saturday performances will begin. Today and tomorrow the

Cobb Says: Talmadge Fatality Unreported

By IRVIN S. COBB.

(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 21. What with cyclones and floods down south, the daily press somehow failed to record among our spring casualties the untimely end of the Governor Talmadge boom. Poor little thing, it passed away at its home in Atlanta, just as it was learning, in prattling accents, to lisp "pa-pa."

Still, the shock did not catch some of us unawares. We had a feeling it wasn't going to live. The second summer is so frequently fatal to those incubator babies.

For instance, you take the Ham Fish boom. Or if you didn't take it, somebody certainly did, because it hasn't been seen, or even heard of, for months and months.

No mention of presidential booms, however brief, would be complete without a paragraph devoted to the Colonel Theodore Roosevelt Jr. boom. This is it.

38 Persons and Companies Listed as Due Approximately $60,000 From Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder's Department; Several Said Near Bankruptcy.

The law firm of Colquitt, McDougall, Troutman & Arkwright announced yesterday that it had been retained by 38 creditors of the Atlanta Farmers' market in an attempt to collect what a member of the firm said was approximately $60,000 due the creditors for construction of the markets.

The spokesman for the firm said that "a small percentage" of the total amount due had been paid but he revealed that several small plumbing companies which had installed apparatus at the market were bordering on bankruptcy because they have been unable to get their money.

"Our clients tell us that they were promised payment in cash by Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder but that they have been unable to get any satisfaction out of Mr. Linder," the member of the firm said. "Our firm likewise has not been able to get anything definite from Mr. Linder and it was only after we appealed to Governor Talmadge to do something to keep the creditors from going into bankruptcy that we obtained the partial payment."

The lawyer explained that because the property is leased from various owners it cannot be taken over by the creditors and because Linder is an agent of the state he cannot be sued because a suit against him in the matter would be considered a suit against the state.

"Governor Talmadge told us that if he obtained a favorable decision from the supreme court on the financial cases now pending before it he might be able to liquidate the debts," the lawyer said. "However, we understand that the law creating the market system provides that state funds cannot be used for them. The funds are supposed to come out of the fees. Just how long it would take to pay off $60,000 out of the fees Mr. Linder is collecting I do not know but it would take a long time and some of the people who are due money cannot last much longer without it."

The lawyer said that the Governor appeared "more than anxious to help" but added that for the time being there was nothing that he could do.

HUNGERFORD WILL UNDER FIRE HERE

Husband, Left But $5,000, Seeks Larger Share by Probating in New York

Effort to break the will of the late Mrs. Julia Murphy Hungerford was begun by her husband, Robert Hungerford,y esterday in Fulton superior court before Judge E. E. Pomeroy.

The estate of Mrs. Hungerford is conservatively estimated at $1,200,000, including more than 5,000 shares of Coca-Cola stock.

As the court recessed yesterday afternoon until 9 o'clock this morning, arguments were being heard on a motion by counsel for Dr. Julian Riley and Hughes Spalding, executors of the will, to direct a verdict to the effect that Mrs. Hungerford was a resident of Fulton county at the time of her death and that the disputed will was her last testament.

Hungerford was left only $5,000 and some jewelry by his wife, who made her mother, Mrs. Julia E. Murphy, of Atlanta, and her sister, Mrs. Julian Riley, also of Atlanta, joint beneficiaries.

Contending that he is and was at the time of her death a resident of New York, the husband has already started court action in New York to adjudicate the will there. Under the New York law, he would receive half the estate. Hungerford has a court action started in Delaware, it was said. Some of the property is in that state.

James A. Branch, attorney for Dr. Riley and Spalding, introduced evidence yesterday to show that Mrs. Hungerford and Hungerford were residents of Fulton county. He presented applications for automobile licenses giving Fulton county as their address, application of Hungerford for membership in the Piedmont Driving Club, and several photostatic copies of New York hotel registers signed by Hungerford giving Atlanta as his address. Miss Doris Williams, a nurse, testified Hungerford told her he lived in Fulton county when he was a patient at St. Joseph's infirmary.

Marion Smith, representing Hungerford, resisted Branch's effort to obtain a directed verdict. No evidence was offered to support Hungerford's original contention that his wife was of unsound mind when the will was drawn.

Mrs. Hungerford was the former wife of Conkey P. Whitehead, Atlanta millionaire.

VOLUME OF TRADE HITS 5-YEAR HIGH

American Exports for First Three Months of 1936 Total $575,123,000.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—The heaviest volume of foreign trade in five years was recorded for the first quarter of the year today by the Commerce Department.

While America bought slightly more abroad in that period than it sold to other nations, the totals of both imports and exports reached their highest points since 1930 and 1931, respectively.

At the same time, the department reported that, despite Mussolini's need for war supplies in his East African campaign, Italian purchases in America were trending downward. The same was true of exports to Italian Africa and to Ethiopia.

In the general figures, officials pointed to two circumstances which they thought especially significant. One showed continued gains in exports of automobiles, despite the fact that the production season was advanced by several months this year.

"Unfavorable Balance."

The other, they thought, indicated a tendency toward increased exports and decreased imports of agricultural commodities.

The quarter showed what once was termed almost universally an "unfavorable balance of trade" totaling $5,387,000. The Commerce Department now calls this only an "excess of imports over exports."

New Deal economists, led by Secretary Hull, contend that a great volume of both exports and imports is preferable to a large excess of exports. New Deal foreign trade policies have sought to remove barriers against a rapid flow of trade among the nations.

For the three-month period, exports totalled $575,123,000, as compared

Two Aviators Killed As Plane Groundloops

ALAMEDA, Cal., April 21.—(AP)—Two aviators were killed when their plane groundlooped and burst into flames at the San Francisco Bay airdrome today.

The victims were "Buzz" Morrison, prominent Reno, Nev., flyer, and J. F. Long, head of the aircraft service.

Morrison had brought his plane here for repairs and the men were starting a test flight with Morrison at the controls. Flares aboard the plane burst into flames before rescuers could reach the victims.

Howard Hughes Sets New Record For Miami-to-New York Plane Hop

FLOYD BENNETT AIRPORT, N. Y., April 21.—(UP)—A silver Northrop Gamma monoplane with millionaire speed king Howard Hughes at the controls, blazed across Floyd Bennett airport at 3:11:22 p. m. (Atlanta time) today to shatter the Miami-to-New York speed record by 40 minutes. The California film producer, who holds the present world speed record for land planes and the transcontinental non-stop record, hurtled his all-metal 1,000-horsepower plane over the 1,196-mile course in the official time of four hours, 21 minutes and 32 seconds.

Hughes flew at 13,750 feet most of the way, averaging 278 miles an hour. He broke both the New York-to-Miami record of five hours one minute set by the late Jimmy Weddell in July, 1933, and the northbound time of five hours, 36 minutes flown by Don Johnston, Eastern Air Lines pilot.

Looking fresh and grinning, Hughes removed his white flying suit, helmet, goggles and parachute and greeted a crowd of 500. His first words were:

"I forgot to turn on the oxygen after I got into the plane and decided to get along without it."

He said his top speed was 290 miles an hour but the plane fought cross winds most of the way. He flew blind over the southern part of Florida after his take-off at 10:49:50 a. m. (Atlanta time). The cross winds were worst near the end of the trip.

Hughes power-dived over the field to get within the 150-foot limit required to complete a record flight, swung in a wide circle and landed before the administration building.

EFFORT TO OBTAIN RELEASE OF FUNDS FOR ROADS FUTILE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—After a joint conference today with representatives of a group of county commissioners of the state and attorneys for the United States Bureau of Public Roads, the Georgia congressional delegation agreed that existing legislation will make it impossible for the federal roads bureau to deal with any agency within the state other than the State Highway Department in releasing federal highway funds now being held up because of the Talmadge financial dictatorship.

Representatives of the county commissioners, headed by C. A. Matthews, of DeKalb county, and Tate Wright, of Athens, Clarke county attorney, had proposed that some means be found for releasing the Georgia allotment of federal highway funds directly to the counties.

Talmadge Is Criticized.

At the same time the delegation, in a statement outlining the scope of the discussion taking place in the meeting, severely castigated Governor Eugene Talmadge for charges recently made in the state that members of the congressional group are responsible for withholding the Georgia funds.

After pointing out that the Georgia allotment will remain in the federal treasury to the credit of the state until the present impasse is cleared up, the delegation released this statement, which was clearly aimed at the Governor:

"These facts clearly show the falsity of charges that have been made within the state that the delegation is in any wise responsible for the action of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in temporarily withholding

HOUSE BODY ENDS TAX BILL ACTION

Complicated Measure Is Expected To Raise $800,000,000 Each Year.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—A highly complicated, 249-page tax bill, carrying no definite estimate as to its revenue possibilities although claimed by its backers to be a potential source of between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000, today cleared its last hurdle on the way to the house floor.

Even as the measure was finally introduced and approved two hours later by the ways and means committee, republican members of that group rushed to completion a minority report attacking the program. It was not, however, immediately made public.

The bill, completed exactly seven weeks, to a day, after the plan was suggested by President Roosevelt in a special message, varied in part from his proposals. Noticeably missing was his suggestion for new processing taxes.

Anxious, nevertheless, to dispose of one of the two major barriers to adjournment, house leaders planned to take the bill to the floor Thursday, rush it through general debate by next Tuesday and pass it by the following Friday.

Party Line Broken.

Indicative of the fight awaiting the appearance of the bill on the floor was the fact that the ways and means committee failed to hold all its democrats in line in approving the measure.

The 15-to-8 committee vote aligned the seven republicans solidly against the legislation, along with Representative Lamneck, democrat, Ohio, who went on record by proxy. Two democrats, Representatives McCormack, of Massachusetts, and Lewis, of Maryland, were absent.

The heart of the bill is a new system of corporation taxing. Rates graduated according to proportions of corporate income withheld from distribution to stockholders would be applied against corporation earnings.

In addition, dividends would be brought under the 4 per cent normal income tax and dividends to foreigners would be taxed at a flat rate.

The present corporation income tax would be repealed at once, while capital stock and excess profits taxes would be retained for the time being and then repealed.

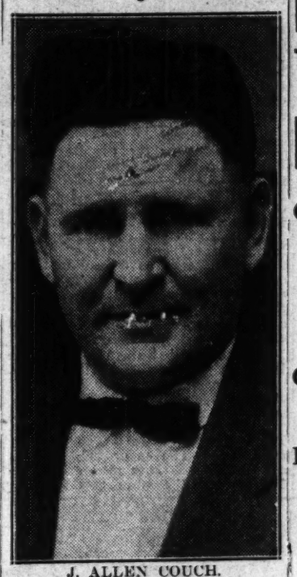

An 80 per cent "windfall" tax would be imposed on processors who avoided payment of the old AAA processing taxes.

Special rates would be set up under the new corporate tax plan to give preferred treatment to corporations in receivership and those which are compelled to use definite parts of their incomes to retire standing debts.

Democratic supporters have con-

TROOPS 200 MILES FROM ADDIS ABABA

Badoglio Expected To Attempt To Cross-Up Haile Selassie's Defense

ADDIS ABABA, April 21.—(AP)—Italy's army is still nearly 200 miles away from this almost deserted capital, the government claimed tonight.

Confirmed reports disclosed that the primitive and precipitious highway from Dessye, a town now in the hands of Italians, is still practically clear of the European invaders.

(The Addis Ababa correspondent of the British Exchange Telegraph Agency reported to London that an Ethiopian infantry column had reached an Italian airdrome northwest of Dessye and burned 19 Italian airplanes and the entire gasoline supply.)

There were indications that Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italian commander, might attempt to cross up Emperor Haile Selassie's defense plans by a surprise advance on Addis Ababa from the east or southeast.

From Dessye, Badoglio's next push could skirt the Shoan mountains, where they tumble into the Danakil desert, in an attempt to reach the capital from Ankober. He could even seek to join the Italian Somaliland or southern forces at Hawash and follow the railroad into Addis Ababa.

No Italians Sighted.

Sholameda, another distant point on the Dessye road, also reported no Italians have been sighted.

Unconfirmed reports reached here of a fierce battle north of Addis Ababa but were later discredited when the government disclosed it had communicated by wireless and telephone with distant towns on all possible routes of approach to the capital, including Ankober and Hawash.

Government officials expressed belief Marshal Badoglio would mark time now that the League of Nations has failed to adopt stronger sanctions, but the Dessye road still appears to be the logical route for an attempted advance on the capital.

For this reason Ethiopian armies are being rapidly reinforced south of Dessye.

Another train leaves tomorrow on the three-day trip to the coast at Djibouti, French Somaliland, and many more foreign residents are expected to leave on it.

A rush of Europeans to grounds of legations here for safety was blamed by officials for inciting panic among the natives but many of them who fled the city yesterday are returning to their homes.

A government official disclosed Ethiopia plans to make a desperate stand against the Italians on passes rising 12,000 feet about 60 miles

POLICE BOARD ROW TAKES NEW SLANT; KEY KEEPS SILENT

Committeeman Plans To Make Bond Today; Bridges Terms Move 'Putting It Up to Mayor To Take Some Action.'

COUNCIL MEMBERS REFUSE COMMENT

Policemen Testify at Session on Incident That Occurred at Tenth and Piedmont on March 24.

Councilman J. Allen Couch, member of the council police committee, was indicted on charges of public indecency and assault and battery yesterday as an important step in the investigation of the city police department being conducted by the Fulton grand jury.

Bond for Couch was set at $100 in each case and bench warrants for his arrest were issued yesterday afternoon. The councilman telephoned and said that he will appear at the sheriff's office this morning to make the bond, deputies declared.

Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police committee, with whom Couch clashed over police administration policies at the committee's session last Thursday night, characterized the indictment as putting "it up to the mayor to take some action now."

Key Declines Comment.

Key and members of city council generally, however, declined to comment on the indictment.

Councilman C. W. Hester, Bridges' colleague from the third ward, asserted "Couch should resign to save council members unnecessary criticism," but added, "I would not vote to impeach him from what I know of the matter."

Councilman Raleigh Drennon, ninth ward, who had championed a move to ask the entire police committee to resign after the session last Thursday night and was balked because of legal barriers, said:

"I know nothing that council can do about the matter. The people have a vote on all of us in September. They should register and vote. That's just about the best way I know in which they can handle their own business in local public affairs."

Regret Expressed.

Alderman Farris A. Mitchell, discharged by Mayor Key with Councilmen George B. Lyle and Howard Haire from the police committee when council was reorganized the first of the year, said he regretted the occurrence, while Lyle had no comment.

Haire said he believed that it is up to the mayor to initiate a move to clean up the situation. He said:

"As a deposed member of the 1933 police committee I have been reluctant to say anything about police matters for fear I would be misconstrued as being disgruntled. However, the 1936 police committee is the mayor's selection and in as much as it is now in such a muddle I think it is up to the mayor to initiate some move to clean it up."

Except for Bridges, the other three members of the committee had no comment to make. They are Alderman William H. Joyner and Councilmen Alvin L. Richards and Horace M. Rantin.

Walter M. Sutton, chairman of the Atlanta Board of Firemasters, said:

"I thought Mr. Couch should have resigned as a member of the police committee, and still do. A man should not sit in judgment on others for the funds and indicates not only a reckless disregard for the truth but also a desire on the part of those making the charge to divert attention from the state and place responsibility for the temporary cessation of all road work in Georgia on the members of the delegation, most of whom supported the measure making the funds available."

Both Senators Present.

Gathering in the office of Representative Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, dean of the group, the delegation conferred in executive session with the visiting county commissioners and county attorneys for more than three hours this afternoon. All members of the group were on hand, including both Senator Walter F. George and Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. Representatives of about a dozen counties were present, together with C. D. Curtiss and L. E. Boykin of the bureau of roads legal department.

Although it was agreed existing statutes prevented the bureau from dealing with the counties direct, further consideration is to be given the proposal by delegation members and it would not be surprising to see a bill introduced on the subject shortly.

The situation could be corrected by an amendment to the pending Cartright bill, continuing the federal aid highway appropriations, it was said.

Asking the delegation to devise some means for releasing the money directly to the counties, Commissioner Matthews told the group at the meeting that as long as Talmadge is given federal funds for highway and other purposes he will continue to fight the delegation and the national administration. He said:

"As long as you gentlemen furnish Eugene Talmadge with the gun and ammunition to shoot you with and to shoot the Roosevelt administration with, he will continue to fight the Georgia delegation in congress; fool the people, brag on reducing taxes and paying the state's debts with federal aid. You are furnishing him for patronage purposes, and brag on his defense of state's rights, and at the same time destroy the rights of the counties and the rights of the people.

Sentiment Against Talmadge.

Sentiment in Georgia against Talmadge is growing by leaps and bounds. Noticeably so within the past 30 days. I am sure that all of the gentlemen with me here today will agree to that. If you give us this money we will expend it on needed projects for the economic benefit of the people, as the President and administration desire it."

After the conference Representative Vinson released the following statement relating the discussion which took place:

"At the meeting of the Georgia delegation with representatives of the county commissioners of Georgia, attended by officials of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, it developed that there was only a remote possibilty of Georgia's losing any of the large sums allocated for highway purposes.

Temporary Withholding.

"A spokesman for the Bureau of Public Roads emphasized the fact that payments to the state were being temporarily withheld until the state courts of Georgia determine who is the legal treasurer, authorized to receive the funds, and also pointed out that nearly half a million dollars of federal funds is actually on deposit in banks of Georgia and that these funds are subject to the check of the state authorities when the state courts determine who is authorized to draw them out.

"The Federal Bureau of Public Roads is still proceeding to transact business with the highway department of Georgia and is continuing to enter into co-operative agreements, providing for the expenditure of federal funds. The letting of contracts and the payment of estimates on projects now under construction have merely been deferred until the state gets its own house in order and establishes who is the proper recipient of federal funds.

$17,000,000 Available.

"The funds available for road work in Georgia amount to approximately $17,000,000 and will be available until June 30, 1937. In the event co-operative agreements have been entered into between state and federal agencies on or before that date, the federal-aid funds will not revert to the treasury even though construction contracts have not been let nor the work actually started.

"These facts clearly show the falsity of charges that have been made within the state that the delegation is in any wise responsible for the action of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads in temporarily withholding funds, and indicates not only a reckless disregard for the truth, but also a desire on the part of those making the charge to divert attention from the state and place responsibility for the temporary cessation of all road work in Georgia on the members of the delegation, most of whom supported the measure making the funds available.

State Must Settle.

"Attorneys representing the Federal Bureau of Public Roads stated that as soon as the controversy which originated in and confined within the state is settled, federal funds will again be available.

"It was pointed out by the attorneys for the Bureau of Public Roads to the commissioners who were seeking to secure an allocation from the funds for building farm-to-market and country roads that under existing federal legislation, the deal with any agency within the state except the State Highway Department nor make any payments of funds save to the state treasurer."

PRISON GATES REOPEN FOR PHIL KENNAMER

McALESTER, Okla., April 21.—(AP)—Phil Kennamer surrendered at the state penitentiary here at 8:10 p. m. (Atlanta time) tonight to resume serving a 25-year term for the fatal shooting of John F. Gorrell Jr., a case which rocked Tulsa society.

The 19-year-old son of a federal judge alighted alone from a green coupe, brushing past reporters and photographers as he hurried up the prison steps.

Warden Roy Kenny said Kennamer would be assigned the number 31,420—the same numerals he bore for a month before being released on $25,000 appeal bond.

SMALL PAPERS' VIEW ON POLITICS REVEALED

First Session of Association Is Devoted to Cities Under 50,000.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—John L. Stewart, Pennsylvania publisher, declared today at the opening session of the American Newspaper Publishers' annual convention that because of the vital effect which national politics and legislation have on the average man the small town paper has taken on a national outlook.

Today's session was devoted entirely to the problems of newspapers which have a circulation of less than 50,000. About 300 of the 500 publishers registered for the three-day convention attended the meeting.

"Today," said Stewart, who is editor and publisher of the Beaver Falls (Pa.) News-Tribune, and the Washington (Pa.) Observer and Reporter, "as we look out on the world of our own circle we find the workers on the streets and highways on many public projects with their minds centered on Washington and not on local affairs.

"The sources of the greatest news—from a political standpoint, are the various bureaus which have been set up by federal and state authorities.

"Thus our local situation has taken on a national environment. It makes for an influence which cannot be escaped and certainly cannot be ignored. Each community is a cross-section of the entire country. What happens in our town now is happening in every other in much the same way.

National Outlook.

"As interpreters of the news and in asserting our editorial influence we have taken on a national outlook rather than a strictly local one; and at no times, perhaps, in journalism has the editorial column in the small newspaper become so important to reader interest. In making over our country we must make over our newspapers."

The publishers discussed virtually every phase of newspaper production, including advertising, circulation, photography, engraving, syndicate and mechanical problem. They also devoted considerable time to the relation of radio to the newspaper.

J. S. Gray, of the Monroe (Mich.) News and president of the Inland Daily Press Association, declared that radio broadcasts of news features helped rather than hindered newspaper sales.

"Speeches delivered over the radio increase the interest of newspaper readers," he said. "They want to see the text to confirm their oral record."

Radio Is Praised.

Walter W. Krebs, of the Johnstown (Pa.) Tribune, said all newspapers should own their own radio stations. During the five days his plant was disabled by the flood, he stated, his paper broadcast over its own station the hour-by-hour developments.

"Newspapers are foolish not to own their own stations," he asserted.

The convention tomorrow will consider three questions: Freedom of the press, radio and newsboys.

News and photographic features of small papers were criticized by Gordon K. Bush, of the Athens (Ohio) Messenger, who said that pictures now supplied by photo services are too general and too few.

John S. Parks, of the Fort Smith (Ark.) Times-Record, suggested that small papers install their own advertising copy departments to turn out advertising "with a punch."

Representatives of four newspapers advocated the use of type setting machines to reduce costs in the composing room. They were D. P. Young, of the York (Pa.) Dispatch; F. W. Schauz, of the Decatur (Ill.) Herald; Curtis B. Johnson, of the Charlotte (N. C.) Observer, and Sherman H. Bowles, of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

"TB" MEETING TODAY.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—(AP)—The 32d annual convention of the National Tuberculosis Association will convene here tomorrow night with leading fighters of the disease in attendance. For two days persons engaged in tubercular work have been converging on the city for preliminary meetings in advance of the general convention.

World-Wide Briefs By Wire and Cable

CHARGED IN BRIBE PLOT.

KAHOKA, Mo., April 21.—(AP)—A complaint charging Harry Spangler, Clark county highway engineer, with attempting to bribe a juror in the criminal conspiracy trial last week of Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench and three co-defendants, was filed today by Prosecuting Attorney G. R. Breidenstein.

SENTENCED IN ASSAULT.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—Three hours after his case was called in criminal court today, James Taylor, a negro houseboy, was convicted of criminally attacking his employer, Mrs. Denver Perry, at her home near here February 18, and his punishment fixed at death in the electric chair.

VOYAGER IS TOWED IN.

HAVANA, April 21.—(AP)—Port pilots today towed in a small powerboat in which Frank M. Coward was voyaging alone from Key West to Panama. The pilots said Coward, who was in good physical shape, had run out of fuel when they found him off Havana. He left Key West April 17.

TO DISREGARD PROVISIONS.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today authorized carriers to disregard long and short haul provision of the Interstate Commerce Act in establishing rates on shipments of vegetables and avocado pears from Florida to destinations throughout the United States.

"BARGAIN DAY" ON TAXES.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—This city held a "bargain day" that was successful. It offered bargain discount rates for settlement in full of delinquent taxes. A preliminary survey of the results led officials to estimate 15,000 pieces of property were returned to the tax rolls.

BROTHERS HELD IN ASSAULT.

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 21.—(AP)—Austin Pilgreen, 22, and his 14-year-old brother, Odell, were arraigned in municipal court today on charges of assault with intent to kill Jack Barker, 25, whose tongue was slashed from tip to base with a knife last week.

40,000 MINERS GO ON STRIKE.

MADRID, April 21.—(AP)—Forty thousand miners in the province of Huelva struck today for shorter hours and more pay. Among the mines affected were the British-owned Rio Tinto workings employing about 20,000 men.

MINISTER FREED IN SLAYING.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—The Rev. James W. Howell, 24-year-old Church of Christ minister, charged with the knife slaying of Richard Bonds on January 25, was given a directed verdict of acquittal in criminal court today. Howell, employed at a grocery during a recent strike, said he was attacked by Bonds across the street from the store.

NEGRO CUTS ARTERY, DIES.

HOMESTEAD, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—Roger Johnson, negro, was dead here today from a butcher knife cut he received accidentally after slashing at his wife and missing her. Witnesses said the wife fell backward as he swung the knife and it sliced an artery in his leg instead. He bled to death.

WORKER KILLED BY TRAIN.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—Lucas Thiers, 40, a WPA timekeeper, was killed almost instantly early today when struck by an Illinois Central work train on a switch leading into the Nonconnah yards, just outside the city limits.

KILLED IN TRUCK ACCIDENT.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—Wallace Bellamy, 26, of Seville, Fla., was killed here today when he was thrown from his truck tarough a plate glass window. Witnesses said he swerved his heavy truck when another truck just ahead of him suddenly turned.

MISSIONARY FEARED SEIZED.

NANKING, April 21.—(AP)—Reports from southwestern Yunnan province, indicating renewed communist activity there, caused fears today that an American missionary, Miss A. E. Pfautz, might have been captured by the invaders.

NAZIS HONOR WAR ACE.

BERLIN, April 21.—(AP)—A military display was staged today in commemoration of the death on the battlefield of Germany's most popular wartime aviator, Baron Manfred Von Richtofen, April 21, 1918. The day's exercises included a parade of air forces and the decoration of Von Richthofen's tomb.

FOUND SHOT TO DEATH.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21—(AP)—The body of Charles C. Gale, 68, a former furniture manufacturer, was found in his bedroom today, a bullet wound through his mouth. He had been in ill health.

NAMED HUSBAND'S SUCCESSOR.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Myrtle O'Quinn, of Clearwater, today was appointed by Governor Sholts as clerk of the Pinellas county circuit court. Mrs. O'Quinn succeeds her husband, Karl B. O'Quinn, who died recently. The term will expire next January.

STRING CLUE SOLVES TITTERTON SLAYING

late for work. Permission was granted. Around 11 a. m., the Titterton telephone rang. On the other end of the wire was Mrs. F. R. Mansbridge, a friend. Mrs. Titterton and Mrs. Mansbridge discussed a dinner party they were going to attend the following night. Mrs. Titterton was alone in the apartment—Lewis H. Titterton, her husband, had gone to the National Broadcasting Company, where he is head of the continuity department, around 9 a. m.

So between 11 o'clock and 11:50, Fiorenza appeared at the apartment. No one saw him come in. Mrs. Titterton opened the door, recognized the "furniture man" who had called the day before and admitted him. Let Police Commissioner Valentine take up the story here:

"He immediately set upon Mrs. Titterton, placing a gag around her mouth and tying her hands with twine. Then he attacked her. After that he carried her to the bathtub and placed her in it."

Other Details of Killing.

The crisp police report does not tell all the story. Fiorenza also ripped off all of Mrs. Titterton's clothing except her stockings, and threw her on the bed. Around her neck he knotted the coat of her own pink pajamas, and also used a red blouse to strangle her. Then he cut away the cords with which he had bound her and presumably stuffed them in his pocket. One vital strand of twine was left, however, and that was the one that trapped Fiorenza.

Police found that cord under the body in the bathtub—found it after they had gone racing to Beekman place in response to the telephone call from Fiorenza himself.

With the body sprawled in the bathtub, Fiorenza slipped out of the apartment house and hurried over to the Kruger upholstery shop. He arrived at 11:50 a. m., and found that the work on the Titterton love seat had been finished. He and Kruger made arrangements to deliver it that afternoon.

Finding of Body.

Around 1:30 p. m., Fiorenza rang the Titterton doorbell for the third time in two days. There was no answer. The door was ajar. He and Kruger put down the love seat and gave the door a tentative push. They entered. It is a small apartment—bedroom, living room, dinette and bathroom. The bathroom door was open.

Kruger recalled today that when they saw Mrs. Titterton's body, Fiorenza seemed surprised. According to Kruger, Fiorenza looked at the body of the woman he had murdered about two hours previously and said:

"This must have been the work of a maniac."

Then Fiorenza stepped to the telephone and dialed police headquarters.

Fiorenza and Kruger, of course, were the first persons detectives questioned. Apparently no attempt was made immediately to check up on Fiorenza's alibi that he had been in court that morning. By dusk Fiorenza had been exonerated, and suspicion was turning toward three house painters and the negro janitor of the apartment house, Dudley Mings. They, too, were exonerated.

Piece of String.

The clues were scanty. Attempts to bring out fingerprints on the Titterton furniture failed, and Inspector Francis Kear, holding up the 12 1-2 inch piece of twine, said that was a mighty small clue with which to work. The first week of investigation developed only one theory that now stands up under the test of known facts.

It was that whoever committed this murder was a person known to Mrs. Titterton and trusted by her. There were no indications of struggle in the apartment, so obviously the murderer had no trouble in gaining access. Fiorenza cleverly gagged Mrs. Titterton as soon as he got in the apartment, and that explained why none of the other tenants in the building heard cries for help.

The investigation went along a score of trails. Chief hope was placed in the police department's scientific laboratory in Brooklyn, where Dr. Alexander Gettler, a toxicologist, worked long hours over test tubes, paint scrapings and stains on clothing. In the end, it was not science but old-fashioned pavement pounding by ordinary cops which solved the case.

Manufacture Traced.

These policemen were instructed to take the strand of twine and find out who manufactured it. It seemed to be a thankless, tireless task. Cord factories in Philadelphia and York, Pa., were checked without result. Sixty-five weary cops went from town to town in New Jersey, meeting failure everywhere.

Detectives got as far as Kentucky on the search, and every time they returned and reported failure, they were told to go out and start all over again.

Three days ago they got results. They not only found the factory where such cord was manufactured, but found that this plant sold its product to the Kruger Upholstery shop. There was no immediate rush to arrest Fiorenza; instead, police were ordered out on another weary job. They were instructed to "tail" Fiorenza day and night in the hope he would do something to incriminate himself. For 48 hours it was impossible for Fiorenza to leave his house without police headquarters knowing it immediately; detectives knew what he ate, which newspapers he read, what movies he attended.

Fiorenza Seized.

Late last night they grabbed him, but took him to a hotel room instead of to headquarters. There he underwent what police call "vigorous" questioning. It went on through the night. This afternoon Valentine called in newspapermen and said: "We have broken the Titterton case."

Then the public began to find out some things about Fiorenza. He is, according to Valentine, an ex-convict who is on probation. The "court business" he had on the morning of the murder was to report to police, but instead he went to the Titterton apartment.

Persons who know him best were astonished when he confessed. Fiorenza apparently had a surface appearance of respectability.

"He was a good boy," said his mother, Mrs. Theresa Fiorenza Cupani, weeping. "Only he had a weakness for stealing automobiles for joy rides. I can't understand this."

She said he was engaged to Miss Pauline Di Antonio, of the Bronx, and was to be married in six months.

Fiorenza's employer, Kruger, said: "He was a nice boy. I always thought. I won't believe this until I hear it from his own lips."

Late today police took Fiorenza up for his fourth trip to the Titterton apartment, where he re-enacted the crime.

Police had Fiorenza go through the crime from the time he knocked on the Titterton door until he slipped out of the apartment. Detective James Hayden impersonated Mrs. Titterton, was thrown on the bed and finally taken to the bathtub. When newspapermen were admitted to the apartment, Fiorenza was sitting in a comfortable chair. Near by stood Valentine. He pointed to Fiorenza and said:

"This man has confessed. You have confessed, haven't you, Fiorenza?"

"Yes," Fiorenza said, nodding.

"He said," Valentine continued, "that his sole motive was the attack; that he was enamored of her. This man came here professing he wanted to get additional ideas on the remodeling of the love seat. Then he the way he got in here. Then he pushed her down on the bed, tied her hands, ripped her clothing from her body and attacked her."

Police said one detail Fiorenza had supplied was that he ran water into the bathtub after placing Mrs. Titterton into it. She may have been alive then, for water was found in her lungs.

Dr. Howard Gosline, psychiatrist of Bellevue hospital, who examined Fiorenza, reported "he might have trouble from committing illegal acts."

CREDITORS OF MARKET UNABLE TO COLLECT

partment of Agriculture made as of January 1 by State Auditor Tom Wisdom. If any of these obligations have been paid since the audit was made there has been no announcement of it. The firm of Colquitt, McDougall, Troutman and Arkwright did not make public a list of the creditors.

Creditor List.

Guy D. Jackson, $173; L. A. Epperson, $267; Franklin Printing Co., $58; Atlanta Blue Print Co., $14; Atlanta Aggregate Co., $2,747; Atlanta Waterworks, $20; J. M. Alexander & Co., $831; Black & Decker Manufacturing Co., $114; Brunson Iron & Metal Co., $9; Brooks Foundry & Machine Co., $90; Cromer & Thornton, $2,454; F. J. Cooledge & Sons, $2; Carithers-Wallace-Courtney Co., $3; Conklin Tin Plate & Metal Co., $251; Electrical Installation and Repair Co., $4,900; Sam E. Finley, $3,117; Fulton Paper Company, $14; Franklin Printing Co., $15; Georgia Roofing & Supply Co., $1,026; J. T. McDaniel & Co., $8; Patillo Lumber Co., $6,898; Skinner Brothers, $5; Spearman Concrete Pipe Co., $247; L. R. Williams Printing Co., $7,400; Wright Co., $433; West Lumber Co., $127; Atlanta Title & Trust Co., $27.

Jackson Expenses.

Guy D. Jackson is the Bleckley county representative in the general assembly. He was the author of the act creating the markets and since the adjournment of the legislature he has been helping Commissioner Linder inaugurate them over the state. The audit of Mr. Wisdom shows that while he received no salary he drew $1,200 in expense money between April 1 and December 31 last ear.

The audit lists only 28 of the 38 creditors and obligations totalling $31,477. It is presumed that the balance of the total accrued after January 1 and will not be revealed officially until a new audit of the department is made.

The site of the market was leased by Commissioner Linder from the owners of the various tracts comprising it. Fulton county furnished convicts and machinery for much of the work done on it.

4 CATOOSA OFFICERS FACING OPPOSITION

RINGGOLD, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Only four incumbent officials face opposition in the Catoosa county democratic primary May 6. They are S. B. Ward, ordinary, who is opposed by C. C. Vosburg and M. L. Harris, and School Superintendent W. J. Greene Jr., who is opposed by Miss Ruth Williams.

J. E. Evitt, clerk of court; Sheriff J. M. Moreland, Tax Collector Enoch West, Tax Receiver Bob Bowman, Coroner Glendon Merritt and Surveyor W. G. Howard are unopposed.

In the race for four places on the county commission, J. M. Watts and J. T. Kellerhalls, incumbents, are candidates with E. M. Combs, G. T. Williams, T. J. Broome, D. M. McDaniel, C. H. Black, C. S. Arwood and Joe R. Huskey also in the race. Commissioners Paul Bowman and J. W. Wimpy are not seeking re-election.

HUGHES SETS RECORD FROM MIAMI TO N. Y.

tified him he had broken the record.

"Will you try to beat the record back to Miami?" he was asked.

"No, I just came from there and I don't intend to go back."

"Have you plans for any other record-breaking flights?"

"No, not just yet."

Hughes nonchalantly supervised the grounding of his plane in hangar No. 6. The 31-year-old bachelor, reputed to be worth $75,000,000, said he would spend the night in Manhattan for "a bit of celebration."

It will be his third in eight months. On September 13, 1935, he piloted a 1,000-horsepower Wasp-powered monoplane at 352.4 miles an hour over a measured course at Santa Ana, Cal., to set the world's land plane speed record, held formerly by Raymond Delmotte, of France. He narrowly escaped death when his engine cut out on the sixth flight and he crashed into a beet patch.

Last January 14, he streaked across the continent from Burbank, Cal., to Newark airport in nine hours, 27 minutes, 10 second to shear 35 minutes off the record set by Colonel Roscoe Turner. It was a non-stop record and Hughes claimed he could trim some more time off his own mark in an east to west flight.

TO RESUME DUTIES.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—Matt Lynch, 23-year-old labor union organizer, kidnaped Sunday, said tonight he was going to return to Rockwood's hosiery strike scene tomorrow, to resume his duties.

SCHOOL STRIKE ENDS.

HAZLETON, Pa., April 21.—(AP)—School children, who declared a strike last week and paraded with home-made banners to the din of wash boilers, went back to their classrooms today while the state sought to learn what caused the demonstration.

OWENS ON TRIAL AGAIN ON THURSDAY MORNING

Faces Charges of Gaming, Possession of Whisky, Assault and Battery.

Ralph Owens, who is getting to be almost as well known in Fulton courts as a bailiff, is scheduled to go on trial again Thursday in Fulton criminal court on three misdemeanor counts.

Already under sentences of 24 months on three assault and battery convictions, Owens yesterday won a tilt in municipal court where C. J. Christian, who he was convicted Monday of assaulting, attempted to have him put under a peace bond.

His next court adventure, barring accidents, will be before Judge Jesse M. Wood Thursday morning, when he will be tried on charges of gaming, possession of whisky, and assault and battery.

The gaming accusation is that Owens played dice in the police station last November when President Roosevelt was a visitor in Atlanta. No other persons have been named as participants in the dice game.

The indictment charging Owens with assault and battery stated that Owens attacked "three unknown persons" on Houston street Halloween night. He is also accused of possessing 42 pints of whisky which was found in a car October 19, 1935.

His attorney, W. R. Bentley, filed a demand for trial on these charges.

Owens a month ago was found guilty in criminal court of assaulting a Houston street businessman and a department store nightwatchman last year. He was given two 12-month sentences to run concurrently.

Monday he was convicted of assault and battery on the person of Charles J. Christian, his former partner in the liquor business, and got a 12-month sentence in this also.

Christian applied for a peace warrant against Owens following the trial, saying that Owens had threatened him. When Judge Luther Z. Rosser heard the case yesterday morning, Christian was evasive and said that he had heard Owens had threatened him. Judge Rosser dismissed the case and assessed the court costs of $10.35 against Christian.

Owens is out under two $1,000 bonds pending appeals.

TALMADGE SEEKS WASHINGTON BILL

Calls on Solons To Introduce Action To Pay Penalty Taxes.

Governor Talmadge yesterday called on Georgia's congressional delegation to introduce a bill to pay farmers the penalty taxes collected under the AAA.

"Hundreds of thousands of farmers over the United States paid an excessive tax on small allotments given them by the Department of Agriculture," the Governor said, "for growing cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, rice, peanuts and hogs.

"When they grew over the allotment, they were charged another tax, and forced to pay it.

"When the AAA was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court, the President announced that these penalty taxes would be paid back to the farmers. Since that announcement we have heard nothing of any bill providing for the payment to these farmers of these penalty taxes.

"Why not introduce a bill to collect this money back and pay it to the farmers who were forced to pay penalty taxes on the same constitutional law?

"The penalty tax paid by the one and two-horse farmers all over America is what raised millions of dollars to be paid gigantic corporations.

"Last Saturday, while I was down at my farm, I had a two-horse farmer to tell me about a tax of $60 that he had to pay to get two bales of cotton ginned. His allotment was only four bales. He made six bales, and they charged him $60 to gin the other two.

"This is not a lone case. It is a general condition all over the southland. These farmers are entitled to this tax penalty.

"What say our senators and our congressmen?"

Future of Aviation Discussed by Official

AMERICA-EUROPE PLANE TRIPS SEEN

Week-End Journeys Forecast Within Five Years by Rickenbacker.

Week-end trips from America to Europe may be possible within the next five years, it was predicted yesterday by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, World War flying ace, in an address before the Atlanta Kiwanis Club.

About 40 Atlanta aviation enthusiasts were invited to attend the club's weekly luncheon and hear the famous flyer. Henry C. Heinz, past president of Kiwanis International, introduced the speaker, and Jesse Draper, president of the Atlanta club, presided.

Captain Rickenbacker discussed both present-day and future air transportation. He declared aviation is the "best insurance against world strife" and described the important role aviation probably will play in future wars. Safety in the air is increasing and planes and flying devices are continually being improved, he said.

Frank W. Blalock and Harry Womack, recently elected to membership in the club, were welcomed at the meeting yesterday.

JURY ACQUITS GAMBLE IN $3,900 HOLDUP CASE

Witnesses Testify Suspect Was in Talladega, Ala., on Day of Robbery.

Henderson H. Gamble, jointly indicted with Joe W. Patterson for the $3,900 Grant store holdup last December 2, was found not guilty by a jury in Fulton superior court last night after five hours of deliberation.

But Gamble's troubles were not ended by the verdict, because as he sat in the courtroom yesterday afternoon he was rearrested on a charge of stealing an automobile made in an indictment by the Fulton grand jury yesterday morning.

Gamble, who has several aliases, has yet to face trial in federal court at Savannah on charges of hijacking a liquor truck a few months ago in south Georgia.

Gamble won his freedom here yesterday on his contention that he was in Talladega, Ala., on the date of the daring robbery of the Grant store bank messenger on Whitehall street.

His counsel introduced witnesses who swore that Gamble was in the Alabama city for several days before and after the holdup.

The state put up three witnesses who identified him as Patterson's partner in the crime. R. K. Carrigan, Grant manager, and Simon Harvey, porter, who were carrying the $3,900 to the bank together, both said he was one of two men who stopped them as they walked on Whitehall toward the bank, flashed a gun and demanded the cash. Another employe said Gamble had been seen in the store a short while before.

Paterson was convicted of the robbery and was sentenced to serve from five to 15 years on the chain gang a month ago.

Gamble yesterday was indicted on charges of stealing the car of an Atlanta man on November 14, 1933.

Court attaches said he was convicted of transporting this car across a state line more than two years ago in federal court.

Bond for Gamble on the new charge was set at $1,500. He had been out under $5,000 bail.

I. O. O. F. TO OBSERVE 117TH ANNIVERSARY

North Georgia Members Will Hold Rally at Mableton Tomorrow Night.

The 117th anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be celebrated by members throughout north Georgia at a rally to be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the lodge at Mableton. O. Lee White, prominent Atlanta attorney and civic leader, will deliver the principal address.

Invitations to attend the rally have been issued to Odd Fellows and Rebekahs throughout this section by F. C. Kolb, chairman of Mableton Lodge No. 202.

Mr. White will speak on "The Need of Odd Fellowship, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." He is chairman of the visiting committees of the north Georgia lodges of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, Junior Order and Daughters of America, and of the Red Men and Pocahontas.

He is a member of the Georgia, Fulton county and Atlanta bar associations, and is prominently identified with Masons, Elks, Men of Justice, Woodmen of the World and other civic, fraternal and patriotic organizations.

To Address W.O.W.Camp

JUDGE CHARLES A. HINES.

DIRECTOR OF W. OF W. SPEAKS HERE FRIDAY

Judge Charles A. Hines, of Greensboro, N. C., recently appointed director of the Woodmen of the World to succeed the late E. B. Lewis, of Kinston, N. C., will address the Empire State Camp No. 7, W. O. W., at the Red Men's wigwam on Central avenue at 8 o'clock Friday night. Announcement of the coming of the new director was made yesterday by Henry C. Fabian, state W. O. W. manager.

"Judge Hines is a long-standing member of the Woodmen and is an outstanding speaker," Mr. Fabian said. "We are urging all Woodmen in and near Atlanta to be sure to attend Friday night's meeting."

The program will include a homecoming celebration for all former members of the camp.

The following directors were named as the executive committee by the board: Mr. Noyes, Clark Howell, Atlanta Constitution; E. Lansing Ray, St. Louis Globe-Democrat; Mr. McLean, Paul Patterson, Baltimore Sun, and Stuart H. Perry, Adrian, Mich., Telegram. Mr. Howell was re-elected.

The members as recommended by the annual meeting to serve as an auditing committee were appointed.

MRS. ROOSEVELT URGES UNITED PEACE EFFORTS

British Statesman Advocates Formation of New League of Nations.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address prepared for delivery tonight in the emergency peace campaign to keep the United States out of war, said that "by and large the vast number of our individual citizens still shirk their responsibility."

Mrs. Roosevelt was unable to participate in a broadcast of addresses and it was read for her by Mrs. Hannah Clothier Hull, of Philadelphia, president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

George Lansbury, laborite member of the British parliament, urged the formation of a new League of Nations including India, Egypt and the African peoples.

Mrs. Roosevelt briefly told of the efforts of the government to maintain peace among the nations, and added: "The record of our people is not so good."

"We have continued in certain groups to insist on private profit," she said, "with belligerent countries in spite of the appeal made to us by our government to keep our trade on a peace-time basis with all belligerent nations.

"Certain groups in our country, notably the Quakers, who have had a leading part in initiating this campaign, have for years tried to awaken our individual citizens to their responsibility for peace. A growing number of groups are now associating themselves with the Quakers, but by and large the vast number of our individual citizens still shirk their responsibility; they still say 'We as individuals can do very little to shape national policies.' They forget that we as individuals elect the people who do shape those policies and we can elect others if at any time we feel our representatives fail to conform with our desires."

NATIONAL

As a Thousand Ferrets—

In almost every phase of their life, from birth to death, the want ad is an invaluable aid to the average family. For many social and business purposes, it is indispensable. Whether you would buy or sell, hire or seek employment, the little want ad gives your message a distinction and power that brings it to thousands of responsive eyes in the course of a few hours. If you have lost something, classified advertising will comb and ferret tirelessly, exhaustively, to regain your loss. If you seek a place to live, a new car, or even a piece of furniture, the want ad will relentlessly and unerringly track down the object of your choice. If you have something to sell or services to offer, your proposition will be placed before the public eye bearing the stamp of approval of The Constitution. Whatever your message, want ads will bring it where you could not otherwise enter and to more receptive listeners than you could ever hope to reach. However large or small the individual ad, it carries with it all the fame, strength and influence of the paper in which it is published.

National WANT AD WEEK · APRIL 19 - APRIL 26 · ASSOCIATION OF NEWSPAPER CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGERS

A Nation-Wide Tribute to the Oldest Form of Newspaper Advertising

This is National Want Ad Week, a period set aside by the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers, of which The Constitution is a member, to emphasize the importance of Want Ads to the average family. Are they aiding YOU in the living of YOUR life?

WALTER SMITH took his first views of life comfortably cuddled in a crib his fond parents bought through a want ad.

AND from those first days onward the young man's life was to be ordered by the faith his parents and, later, he himself, placed in an advertising medium.

NOW in the fleeting course of time our hero, education bent, passed through the reefs and shoals in his grammar and high school courses and found himself ready for college.

TO pay tuition Walt organized the "Campus Cutups" and tooted his saxophone. Pa Smith early had watched the want ads with son's musical training in mind.

AT graduation Walt received proud parents' plaudits and begin his search for a job. Wise boy, he read want ads, saving shoe leather and carfare.

DRESSED in his best with answers ready, Walt waited for interview. Boss measured our man; thought he looked willing, possibly ambitious, and said "You'll do."

WEEKS stretched into months. Walt saved money and saved more when a raise came. Then Spring and the open road urge came when the used car want ads held real fascination.

ENTER love, ending in Lohengrin and confetti. Walt and the new missus took the want ad route in finding an apartment and the little and big things to make it "home."

EVEN thrifty Walt found income unequal to outlay occasionally, as when the stork began his visits in passing years. Want ads were ever-ready index for solution to this harried husband's financial troubles.

KEEP in mind, gentle reader, as our story closes, that "Walt Smiths" are to be found wherever want ads are waiting to give them service, in the affairs of everyday life.

FINAL SERVICES TODAY FOR LOUIS M. HOWE

President, Mrs. Roosevelt and Family Accompany Body to Massachusetts.

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO FALL RIVER, Mass., April 21.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Roosevelt journeyed to Fall River, Mass., tonight to bury their old friend, Louis M. Howe.

The special train bearing the body of Howe, secretary to the President after more than two decades as his political advisor, left the capital shortly before 11 p. m. (Atlanta time). Simple funeral services were held late this afternoon in the east room of the White House, attended by the highest officials of the land.

With the President and Mrs. Roosevelt were members of Howe's family, his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Robert Baker, of Urbana, Ill., and a son, Hartley, of Boston. Mrs. Howe rode to the station with the President and his wife.

White House associates of Howe likewise accompanied the body to the family burial plot where burial will be tomorrow morning shortly after arrival of the train at 9 a. m. (Atlanta time). These included Stephen T. Early and Marvin H. McIntyre, secretaries; Miss Marguerite Le Hand, personal secretary to the President, and Miss Margaret Durand, secretary to Howe.

The dark bronze casket was placed in a car at the forward end of the train, then banked with flowers in such profusion that they virtually filled the coach.

The presidential party, boarding the train more than a half hour before scheduled departure, retired immediately.

Mr. Roosevelt plans to return to the capital immediately after the rites tomorrow, reaching Washington in the evening.

GOMEZ ARRIVES IN WASHINGTON

Cuba's President-Elect and Family on Visit to the United States.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Miguel Mariano Gomez, president-elect of Cuba, arrived at this capital today to be greeted by high diplomatic officials and an escort of marines and bluejackets.

Gomez came to Washington by train from California, where he landed from the Panama canal on a pre-inauguration visit to the United States. With the president-elect were his wife, his three daughters and brother-in-law, Dr. Julio Morales Coello.

The Cuban party was received at the station by Secretary Cordell Hull and other officials of the State Department.

Ambassador Guillermo Patterson y Juaregui headed the Cuban embassy staff.

President Roosevelt sent official and personal greetings to the visitors, expressing regret that the death of Louis McHenry Howe, whose funeral services were held this afternoon, prevented fulfillment of plans to entertain Senor and Senora Gomez.

PROF. ROBERT JONES DIES IN TENNESSEE

MURFREESBORO, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—Professor Robert Lee Jones, head of the state school system from 1907-11 and formerly city school superintendent at both Memphis and Chattanooga, died here late today. Ill health had forced him to resign the Memphis position last summer. He was 69.

Mrs. Jones and their son, Horace, a member of the faculty and athletic director of Middle Tennessee State Teacher College here, were at the bedside.

The funeral will be Thursday at 2:30 p. m. (Atlanta time) at the residence of P. A. Lyon, president of the college.

An active career that extended over half a century carried Professor Jones into many important positions and brought him a large share of educational honors.

LOPEZ CONCERT AT FOX POPULAR WITH CROWDS

Orchestra Program Followed by Dance Revue by Atlanta Artists.

Vincent Lopez and his famous dance orchestra are here for a series of appearances as one of the features of the Dogwood Festival, and gave their first concert Tuesday afternoon at the Fox theater. Lopez, outstanding authority on modern dance rhythms and composer of the first "swing music" that was published as "swing music"—"The Lopez Swing"—which style has captured the country, led his orchestra in a spirited program of popular and featured numbers, varied by vocal choruses sung by members of the orchestra and an attractive little feminine blues singer, spiced by the antics and comedy choruses of the drummer. One of the most enjoyable features of the program was the remarkable whistling of Fred Lowry.

Lopez delighted his listeners with his own keyboard tricks—he is quite as famous as a novelty pianist as he is as a band leader—playing a group of two original piano solos, with orchestral accompaniment, "Piano Echoes" and "Free Fingers." The whirl of songs offered, and favorably received chiefly because of their novel style of presentation, included "Goody-Goody," "Christopher Columbus," the Hungarian "Suicide Song," "Gloomy Sunday," "Beautiful Lady in Blue," "I'm Gonna Clap My Hands," "Tormented," a modern version of "Tiger Rag," "I'm Sentimental Over You," "Love Is Like a Cigarette" and "Lights Out"—and, oh yes! "The Music Goes 'Round and 'Round!"

Following the Lopez concert there was a dance revue, presenting a galaxy of talented Atlanta dancers, contributing to the gala festivities. Perry Bechtel's orchestra played for this part of the show. Space does not permit detailed description of all the dances of the review, but there were several outstanding specialties. Doris Corry gave a clever dance interpretation of "Sophisticated Stride." Jean and Eugene Adams were featured in two peppy numbers that won loud applause, "College Rhythm" and "Champagne Waltz." Mickey Zachery and Evelyn Day used their nimble feet in an attractive dance to "Truckin'." And Miriam Morgan's modernistic dance was exceptionally good. The Hassler brothers provoked a lot of laughs with their comedy team, and Katherine Dittig was featured in a song-and-dance number. The finale, a colorful Gypsy ensemble, spotlighted an adagio trio, composed of Mary Duncan, Clifford Zimmerman and Damitri Pappageorge.

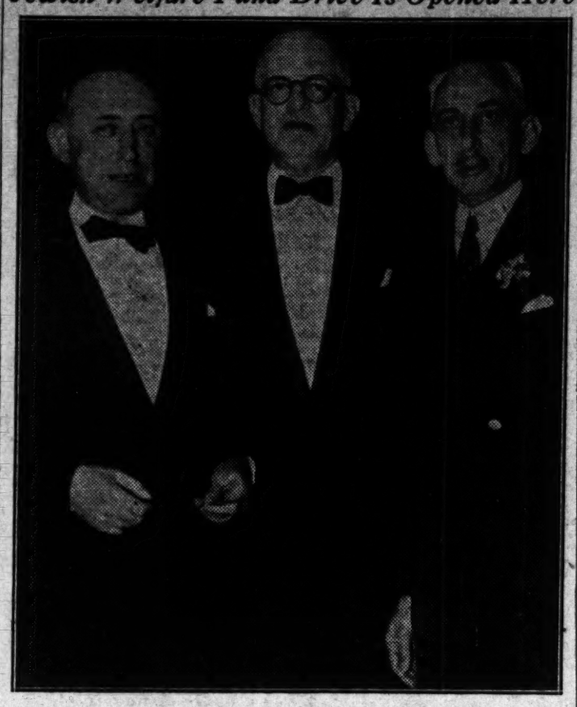

HEAVY BOND ASSESSED ON ROBBERY CHARGES

Robbery charges resulted in the holding in $2,000 bond for the grand jury of Damon Woods, 24, negro, of 303 Chestnut street, at a hearing in recorder's court at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was arrested Saturday night.

Police charged that earlier in that night Woods robbed William F. Bolen, of 1348 Donnelly avenue, S. W., of $7.75 at Marietta and Fairlie streets, and John McLaughlin, negro, of 579 Magnolia street, of $2.50 at Elliott and Mitchell streets.

Bolen was slightly cut on the throat with a penknife during the robbery, according to police.

Jewish Welfare Fund Drive Is Opened Here

Approximately 700 Atlanta Jews last night attended the dinner-meeting which officially opened the Atlanta Jewish Welfare campaign. The persecution of German Jews was described by Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of New York city, distinguished Jewish leader. Shown here are Rabbi Wise, left; Harold Hirsch, center, Atlanta attorney and general campaign chairman, and Simon Selig, right, vice chairman. About $40,000 was raised by the close of the meeting. Staff photo by Turner Hiers.

Persecutions of Jews in Germany Denounced in Speech by Rabbi Wise

The persecution of German Jews and Palestine as a haven of peace and security for refugees were pictured last night by Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, of New York city, in a denunciation of nazi practices as he addressed 700 Atlanta Jews attending the dinner-meeting which officially launched the Jewish welfare fund campaign.

Though $50,000 is Atlanta's quota, approximately $40,000 had been raised by the close of the meeting last night. City-wide solicitations will begin this morning.

Describing the plight of German Jews, Rabbi Wise declared:

"Many Jewish children in Germany realize that to be born a Jew is to be in a position almost impossible to suffer and sustain. I have found that many are committing suicide. I cannot adequately picture the ghastly situation. We, however, have committed ourselves to aid them. If we fail I see every Jew in the land walking with stooped shoulders and an averted glance."

Rabbis of all Atlanta synagogs, and many members of each congregation, attended the meeting. Harold Hirsch, Atlanta attorney and general campaign chairman, introduced Rabbi Wise, who recently visited Germany, and was invited here as the speaker to open officially the Atlanta campaign. Many contributions were made following Rabbi Wise's address.

"Despite all difficulties and charges brought against the Jew, no one can honestly maintain indictments against him of being anything but a helpful and potential force in the social progress of the world," the rabbi said. "If any group has given wonderfully to medicine, philosophy, poetry and all the arts and sciences in Germany, it is the Jew. History will record the attack upon the Jew by nazis as one of the gravest mistakes that could be made by a man entrusted with the leadership of his country."

Jews have one way of answering Hitler and that is by practicing "self-restraint," and using charity and justice as their weapons, he said. He urged every Jew to "join in the battle for justice."

"If you feel insulted and degraded, do something," he challenged. "Let's rise up and let our wrath give power to our resentment."

He urged Jews everywhere to "give freely so that there will be a continuous support of the Jews in Germany, support of refugees fleeing to other countries and support of the program at Palestine."

Despite the recent riots in Palestine, he said, "conditions there are greatly improved." He said the city is cleaner, more prosperous, with a university center developing and most of the slum sections improved or rebuilt. He said Palestine was a place of "passionate enthusiasms" and that riots were to be expected.

Expenses for the dinner were underwritten by a friend of the campaign whose name was not disclosed. In urging the Atlanta Jewry to contribute funds, Hirsch pointed out "this example of giving without mention" as the spirit in which Atlanta Jews should respond.

Solicitations will begin this morning. Thirty-five captains have been appointed by Hirsch to head an army of 200 workers.

COUNCILMAN J.A.COUCH IS INDICTED BY JURORS

same offense to which he pleads guilty."

Couch declined to comment, adding he would make his defense at the proper time.

Two Bills Drawn.

Couch was named in two true bills, one alleging that he acted in a manner dangerous to public morals, and the other charging that he assaulted Patrolman C. F. Preston.

The councilman has been the center of a hectic turmoil in the affairs of the police committee since he was arrested for drunk and disorderly conduct March 24. The feud between Couch and Chairman G. Dan Bridges flared last week in arguments over reinstating policemen fired for being drunk.

The incident resulting in the two indictments occurred in front of a lunch room at 1003 Piedmont avenue at the corner of Tenth.

Patrolman Preston arrested Couch there and charged him with being drunk and disorderly. The details of the disorderly conduct charge were reported to police headquarters in affidavits made by Patrolman Preston and Lieutenant E. W. Ginn but this charge was not pressed when the councilman entered a plea of guilty to being drunk and was fined $17 in recorder's court.

Affidavits Shown.

Grand jurymen were shown the affidavits by Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant at a special session Monday, it was said. From the contents, the two bills of indictment were drawn and five witnesses were subpoenaed yesterday morning in a surprise move.

In addition to Lieutenant Ginn and Preston, Officer N. E. Nolan, Ginn's driver, and R. A. Shatzer and Bill McLaughlin were questioned by the jurors.

It was understood they testified that Couch, drunk and almost stupefied, had committed an act of indency in the presence of a number of persons other than the witnesses summoned by the grand jury yesterday.

When Preston sought to take Couch in charge, the councilman struck the officer in the chest, breaking his fountain pen and inflicting minor injuries, it was alleged.

Both offenses are classed as misdemeanors and the indictments will be transferred to the Fulton criminal court to be tried.

Another Session Today.

Foreman R. A. Agnew, who had indicated Monday that no action was planned immediately, announced yesterday afternoon that another special session of the grand jury will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

This meeting will be the routine investigation of the county offices of clerk of the superior court and the ordinary, it was understood. Clerk J. W. Simmons and Judge Thomas H. Jeffries will be interviewed, it was said.

Another special session is scheduled for Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock to probe the affairs of the city school board of education, at which time charges by W. W. Matthews, president of the board, against City School Superintendent Willis A. Sutton will probably be aired.

Matthews charges that Sutton controls the board through a "job racket," by which he appoints the relatives and friends of board members in return for their support.

The board president, Superintendent Sutton, members of the education board and several city employes are expected to be summoned Thursday.

Further Probe Seen.

It was understood that the investigation of the city police department is not yet completed, although no grand juror has said that any other meetings will be held on that subject.

Reports were that several specific charges are being formulated to present to the grand jury before it goes out of office next week. The plans for further action in relation to the police are being kept dark.

The Couch indictments were among a number of true bills returned by the grand jury yesterday.

William R. Dempsey, white, described by officers as being a "big whisky man," was indicted on several counts.

He was charged with manufacturing liquor June 6, 1935, in a house at the corner of Maloy and Evans streets, S. E., and with possession of 40 gallons of malt and distilling apparatus there.

Dempsey and Harry H. Howe were named in a true bill which alleged they manufactured whisky in a house near Red Oak on the Roosevelt highway which was raided recently by county police.

County officers said the still at this place was one of the largest captured in Fulton county in recent months. Dempsey and Howe were charged with possession of the distilling apparatus there also.

Melvin Green, a negro, was indicted for assault with intent to murder Floyd Gilmore, negro, on March 23. Officers said Gilmore held the winning bug number on that day and went to Green to collect. In an altercation which resulted, Green shot and wounded Gilmore, they said.

Among other members of council who refused to comment on the Couch case were:

Alderman John F. Scott, James E. Bowden, Robert Carpenter, J. C. (Mott) Aldredge, John Ball, I. Gloer Hailey, Ellis B. Barrett.

LIGHT VOTE CAST AT LOUISIANA POLLS

Candidates of Previous Primary Are Ratified in Election.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—(AP)—Louisiana's electorate complied with state election laws today by going through the motions of electing a full slate of state candidates and naming a United States senator to fill the unexpired term of the late Huey P. Long.

The vote was extremely light as not a single contest appeared on the ballots. The voters merely ratified the candidates who were successful in the democratic primary election last January.

Judge Richard W. Leche, of New Orleans, was named to the governorship, and will succeed Governor James A. Noe, who was elevated to the chief executiveship on the death of the late O. K. Allen.

To the lieutenant governorship was elected Earl K. Long, brother of the late senator, and Mrs. Rose M. Long was formally elected to the unexpired term of her husband. She has been serving in the post under appointment of Governor Noe.

Also formally ratified was a new legislature, including a woman senator, Mrs. Thomas Holland, the first in the history of the state.

The official vote cast today will not be known until it is promulgated by the secretary of state at Baton Rouge.

RESCUE OF TWO MEN IS EXPECTED HOURLY

"and I am going to stay down until we get the men up."

Late yesterday the two had indicated they are prepared for death when Robertson called his brother-in-law to come to the speaking tube and take down instructions as to what should be done if the two do not come out alive.

Many of the workers are so exhausted that they are operating in 15-minute shifts but some of them have not been to the surface in 30 hours, determined to be the first to break through the underground prison.

SHERIFF, AID KILLED IN CATTLE DIP WAR

COLFAX, La., April 21.—(AP)—A new cattle-dipping war flared in Louisiana today with the shooting and killing of Sheriff W. L. Nugent, 45, and Deputy Sheriff D. L. Brunson, 46, of Grant parish, six miles north of here.

Deputy Sheriff L. Roach said officers and a large posse were seeking Walter Johnson, a farmer. He said Johnson, armed with a shotgun, rifle and pistol, took refuge in nearby woods and refused to come out.

Officers of the State Bureau of Identification and Investigation at Baton Rouge were dispatched to the scene to aid local authorities and it was believed that federal agents would also be pressed into service.

Roach said Nugent and Brunson were aiding federal range riders who had been seeking to round up cattle for dipping.

W. B. Hughes, inspector for the United States Bureau of Animal Industry in charge of enforcement of tick eradication in Grant parish, and more than a dozen range riders were within 100 yards of Nugent and Brunson when they were slain, but there were no witnesses to the actual shooting.

SHOWERS 'PROBABLE,' WEATHERMAN SAYS

Overcast skies and probable showers, along with a lessening of the warm temperatures, is the forecast for Atlanta today.

Temperatures will range between 58 and 70 degrees, according to word from Chief Forecaster George W. Mindling, of the weather bureau. Yesterday the mercury, starting at 58 degrees in the morning, rose to 82 shortly after 1 p. m. and then eased off slightly as the clouds obscured the sun.

CERNIGLIA SERVICES WILL BE HELD TODAY

Final rites for John Cerniglia, member of a prominent Italian family, who died Monday at the residence, 649 North Highland avenue, N. E., will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the Sacred Heart church.

The Rev. Fr. John Emmerth will officiate, and burial will be in West View cemetery with Sam R. Greenberg in charge.

CCC ENROLLMENT OFF.

NASHVILLE, April 21.—(AP)—Enrollment in the 66 Civilian Conservation Corps camps in Tennessee now is down to 9,000, State Director R. J. Barnes said today. He estimated the total would go as low as 7,000 by June 30, adding that the quota for each camp is about 150 boys.

Man, 70, Prefers Horse To Trains on Long Ride

LONG BEACH, Cal., April 21.—(AP)—A shaggy-mustached survivor of the frontier days in Texas started for New York city by horseback today because "I can't stand to ride on trains, planes or autos and it's too far to walk."

He is Dan "Alabama" Stewart, 70.

"I am going to make the trip on 'Old Red,' my cow pony, taking my time, camping along the way, and seeing the country," he said. "After I see New York, I'm going to ride to Tuscaloosa, Ala., where I was born, to settle down."

STEIWER IS SELECTED KEYNOTER FOR G. O. P.

Leader Chosen as Temporary Chairman of Republican Convention.

CLEVELAND, April 21.—(AP)—Senator Frederick Steiwer, of Oregon, World War veteran and generally conceded to be a "middle-of-the-roader" in party affairs, was the unanimous choice today of the republican national committee as keynoter and temporary chairman of the national G. O. P. convention here June 9.

"Steiwer's was the only name placed formally in nomination," said Henry P. Fletcher, committee chairman. "The selection was unanimous."

Ralph Williams, of Oregon, dean of the committee, nominated Steiwer for keynoter.

The Oregon senator, elected in 1920 and re-elected in 1932, is held to be acceptable to supporters of Senator William E. Borah, Governor Alf M. Landon, Colonel Frank Knox, and of others whose names have been mentioned as probable candidates for the presidential nomination.

Fletcher said others whose names were submitted for discussion for keynoter included C. Wayland Brooks and Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois; Arthur Hyde, of Missouri; Theodore Christianson, of Minnesota; James W. Wadsworth, of New York, and John B. Bricker, of Ohio.

John Hamilton, national committeeman from Kansas and manager of the presidential nomination campaign of Governor Landon, said concerning the committee's choice:

"Prior to selection of the temporary chairman, I stated to the committee that my only interest, both as a member of the arrangements committee and as anager of the Landon candidacy, was in the selection of a man who will forcefully and clearly state the position of the republican party to the convention and to the people of the nation.

DEMOCRATS MAY NAME BARKLEY AND ROBINSON

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—The selection of Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, as keynoter and Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, as permanent chairman of the democratic national convention, was forecast tonight in informed democratic quarters.

This prediction shares political interest in the capital with the spreading of word that William Allen White, Kansas editor and supporter of Governor Alf M. Landon, had discussed the shaping of the republican platform with Senator Borah, of Idaho.

Note was taken here also of the reaction to the selection in Cleveland today of Senator Frederick Steiwer, of Oregon, as keynoter for the republican national convention. From the camps of Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, and from Borah and Landon came only praise.

Borah asserted he was "glad they have chosen a western man." Landon declared himself "glad to get the news." The word from Knox' campaign manager was "splendid."

The official selection of the keynoter and chairman of the democratic convention at Philadelphia, at which the renomination of President Roosevelt generally is regarded as a foregone conclusion, will not be made until Saturday.

An arrangements committee will meet at that time in Philadelphia, with Chairman James A. Farley, of the democratic national committee, presiding. It was learned authoritatively today, however, that both Senators Barkley and Robinson have been found acceptable to the President.

Boost in British Taxes Is Proposed To Care for Increased Army Budget

LONDON, April 21.—(AP)—The British taxpayer will have to dig a little deeper into his pocket to pay his income tax and buy his tea, the chancellor of the exchequer told the house of commons today.

"The current standard income tax is 4 shillings, 6 pence to the pound, or roughly $1.12.

A 1936-37 budget expanded by military expenditures for defense would put the government "in the red" without the addition of levies on incomes and tea as well as a surtax on lager beer imported from non-empire countries, Neville Chamberlain advised a critical chamber.

Moreover, he said, duties on key industries, which were to have expired this year, would have to be continued 10 years more.

The income tax, he said, would be raised 3 pence a pound (about .823 per cent; the dollar was quoted in the London foreign exchange market Tuesday at 4.94 1-16 to the pound). The tax on tea will be increased immediately 2 pence (4 cents) a pound; it applies to both empire and foreign tea.

However, the income tax exemption for married persons will be raised from 170 pounds ($850) to 180 pounds ($900) and the exemption for children from 50 pounds and 60 pounds.

Lager beer from non-empire countries will be taxed a pound sterling a barrel.

The chancellor estimated Great Britain would have to produce 797,897,000 pounds, including at least 20,000,000 pounds for additional defense purposes, for expenditures in the 1936-37 fiscal year.

Calling the tax boosts a "bitter disappointment," the chancellor immediately was set upon by the opposition. Clement Atlee, labor leader, called his budget one "which ultimately leads to war."

Sir Archibald Sinclair characterized it as "a budget of shattered hopes. The financial outlook today is graver than at any time since 1931."

The chancellor estimated the government would benefit by 12,000,000 pounds from the increased income tax and 3,500,000 pounds from the jump in the tax on tea.

He estimated he would balance the nation's books with a surplus of 484,000 pounds with the increased levies, on an income of 798,381,000 pounds from the usual sources plus the fresh revenue.

He reminded the nation that since the rearmament program was "in the interests at all, it is only fair that all should contribute toward it."

These are the 6 questions most people ask about Packard 120

1 What is the down payment?
If your old car is of more than average value, you may have no down payment to make at all. No fixed figure will cover all cases, of course. But a recent survey conducted in several cities revealed that down payments made by Packard 120 buyers averaged only $87.50 after allowance had been made for their used cars.

2 What are the monthly payments?
Because Packard spreads the payments over a period to suit your convenience, the monthly payments amount to only a few dollars more than those of a low-priced car. And Packard's 6% finance plan is unsurpassed for liberality.

3 Does it cost much to keep up?
Emphatically, no. There are two reasons why this is true. First, because the Packard 120, thanks to its better engineering, its greater precision, and its finer materials, should require less service than any other car you have ever owned. Second, because service charges for the Packard 120 are competitive with those of any other car in its price class. In fact, a recent analysis showed that charges for typical service operations, including parts and labor, are less on the Packard 120 than the average for five other comparably-priced cars.

4 Is it a real Packard?
If you will inspect the Packard 120 and drive it over any route you please, you will agree that it is a real Packard in performance, in appearance, in comfort and luxury. It is a car built in the fine car tradition instead of a car built to a price. It brings you everything Packard stands for—*yet it sells for as little as $990.

5 What is its chief advantage over other cars?
No other car can offer you the prestige of the Packard name. No other car can match Packard long mechanical life. But above and beyond these, no other car can offer you Packard's freedom from style depreciation.

Style depreciation is the biggest single influence in obsoleting any new car. If you choose a car whose history is one of radical yearly style changes, you take the risk of having the car soon lose its identity. But when you buy a Packard 120, you are assured that your car will stay smart, not just for the current year, but for years to come. Because Packard adheres to one basically beautiful design, a Packard 120 stays smart, stays a car you are proud of.

6 How is the car going?
The success of the Packard 120 has amazed the automobile world. This car has climbed from scratch to second place in a price class which includes twelve cars. No comparably-priced car in history has won so quickly such a large group of delighted owners.

Before you buy any car, match Packard 120 against the field. Compare it with any other car on any point you care to name. Go to a Packard showroom, drive the car, and get the facts as they apply to your own case on how easy the car is to own. Then we leave it to you as to whether you want to own any other car.

FLOOD WATERS RECEDE IN COASTAL SECTION

Brunswick-Savannah Road Not Closed and Route 38 To Be Opened Today.

By the Associated Press.

Flood waters which troubled a wide area in southeastern Georgia receded yesterday.

The coastal highway, No. 17, arterial route from Florida north, continued open and officials said there was no danger it would be closed.

The water was lower in Altamaha river delta at high tide yesterday than on Monday and the crest apparently has passed. Some additional territory was covered at high tide Monday night but water did not get over coastal highway.

Brunswick said advices there were that no further trouble is expected at the South Newport and Sapeloe rivers north of Darien, where high water caused difficulty several days ago.

Highways were sandbagged to protect fills and to keep water from covering them.

Numbers of persons still were out of their flooded homes, but no suffering has been reported. In the Clay Hole section near Everett City the water was lower yesterday but the area was still inundated. Residents have been furnished with supplies, sent by boat in some instances.

All along Route 17, the coastal highway, civic leaders emphasized that traffic was proceeding normally. The highway has never been closed between Brunswick and Savannah.

"There is no danger of Route 17 being closed," said E. A. Logan, division state highway engineer in Brunswick. Logan also announced that Route 38 at Doctortown, between Jesup and Ludowici, would be opened for traffic at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning.

GAINESVILLE YOUTH KILLED IN FLORIDA

Schoolboy Who Escaped Tornado Meets Death in Truck Crash.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Ralph Thomas Smith, 16, who escaped death when the home of his mother, Mrs. T. A. Smith, was demolished in the recent tornado here, was killed last night in a traffic accident near MacClemey, Fla., where he has been visiting since the storm.

The boy, his mother and a sister had been visiting with an uncle, A. Walters. Friends and relatives were notified here today he was killed when he fell from a truck containing a party of picknickers. A wheel passed over his head.

He was a senior at Gainesville High and assistant art director on the annual staff.

Funeral services are planned here tomorrow with burial at Alta Vista cemetery.

Two brothers and five sisters survive.

MERIWETHER PLANS TO AID FEE FUND

Check Is Sent to Roosevelt Headquarters From Clarke County.

GREENVILLE, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's friends and neighbors of Meriwether county organized a campaign today for contributions to the $10,000 presidential primary entry fee.

J. R. Gay, of Gay, Ga., was made chairman of a mass meeting at the courthouse, and Jack Norris, of Warm Springs, where Mr. Roosevelt spends much of his vacation time, was named secretary.

Plans were made to organize every district in the county and many at the meeting expressd the hope Meriwether would lead Georgia's other 158 counties in contributions to the fund.

CHECK IS SENT FROM CLARKE COUNTY

ATHENS, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—A check for $176.50 today was sent to Marion H. Allen, state campaign manager for President Roosevelt, by Frank C. Shackelford, president of the Clarke County Roosevelt Club.

The money was contributed through the Athens Banner-Herald by Roosevelt supporters of the county toward raising the $10,000 entrance fee in the Georgia presidential primary.

MRS. STALLINGS DIES AT NEWNAN HOSPITAL

NEWNAN, April 21.—Funeral services for Mrs. Beulah Prather Stallings, Coweta county resident, will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the chapel of Hamilton & Conley, with Dr. Ronald C. Young, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Mrs. Stallings died last night at a Newnan hospital, where she had been seriously ill for a week.

A native of Coweta, she spent the early years of her life in Hogansville, coming to Newnan after her marriage. A member of the Central Baptist church, she was active in religious activities until her health began to decline.

She is survived by her husband, T. O. Stallings, of Newnan; a son by an earlier marriage, Callaway Summers, of Atlanta; her mother, Mrs. Rebecca Prather, of Hogansville; three brothers, E. C. Prather, of Lake City, Fla.; O. W. Prather, of Hogansville, and W. E. Prather, of Newnan, and by one sister, Mrs. C. F. Bergthorf, of Springfield, S. C.

ORR NAMED ORDINARY IN CLARKE ELECTION

ATHENS, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Unofficial returns from the Clarke county primary tonight indicated the re-election of R. C. Orr, incumbent ordinary, over L. Dennis Penney by the margin of 130 votes.

In a four-cornered race for coroner, Bert L. Beussee was elected to succeed Coroner J. F. Shepherd, who did not offer for re-election. The unofficial count showed Beussee, 760; W. D. Watson, 605; D. N. Burger, 492, and W. L. Munday, 214.

In the Sandy Creek district, L. P. Crawford was tied with R. M. Todd for county committeeman, necessitating a run-off race. A. O. Flanagan was re-elected to the committee over Jim Towns, in the Whitehall district.

There were no contests in the various other offices.

JUDGE THOMAS URGES LAW ENFORCEMENT

THOMASVILLE, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Murder, robbery and other crimes do not menace the country, says Judge W. E. Thomas. "The menace to the country is the attitude of its thinking people."

Delivering a charge to the Thomas county grand jury, the veteran jurist said that "in the enforcement of the laws of your state lies the safety of your institutions, the protection of your schools, the purity of your churches, the safety of your homes and of the young manhood and young womanhood of this country."

He said much of the responsibility for law enforcement lay in the hands of the grand and trial juries.

STATE MEDICAL BODY MEETS AT SAVANNAH

Scientific Discussions To Open Today; Dr. Paullin To Preside.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—The ills of mankind were up for review today as the Medical Association of Georgia began its 87th annual convention.

The house of delegates held its first meeting during the afternoon and heard various officers' reports, a preliminary report of the committee on medical economics and transacted other business.

A second session of the house of delegates was also held tonight.

The scientific program of the association is to start tomorrow morning under the leadership of Dr. James E. Paullin, of Atlanta, president of the association. Addresses of welcome will be delivered by Dr. Cornelius F. Holton, of Savannah, president of the Georgia Medical Society, of Chatham county, which is host to the convention; and Mayor Thomas Gamble, of Savannah. The response will be by Dr. William S. Goldsmith, of Atlanta.

Among the doctors to present scientific papers at the morning session tomorrow will be W. Edward Storey, of Columbus; J. P. Tye, of Albany; T. C. Davison, of Atlanta; J. Gaston Gay, of Atlanta; Ben Hill Clifton, Atlanta; J. Reid Broderick, Savannah.

The fundamental aspects of the diagnosis and treatment of anemia are to be discussed by William Bosworth Castle, associate professor of medicine, Harvard University medical school, Boston, at noon.

HARVEY AND SMITH BOTH TAKE STAND

Robbery Charge Is Denied by Famous Pair Before Rome Court.

ROME, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Leland Harvey and Aubrey Smith, pardoned desperadoes on trial in a $9,800 pay roll robbery here, testified today they were in Chicago at the time the crime was committed.

In lengthy statements they recounted details of their trip back to Macon the next day after Smith was notified of the sickness of his mother there.

Harvey and Smith were preceded by a group of defense witnesses who testified the two were not the occupants of the robbery car. The case is expected to reach the jury late tomorrow.

Mrs. Mollie Williams said she gave road directions to two men and was certain they were not the defendants.

Harvey and Smith were brought to trial in state court after a federal court convictions was set aside by Judge E. Marvin Underwood on grounds of lack of sufficient evidence. The defense cited this ruling in the Floyd superior court today.

SHARON, PA., SWEPT BY $1,500,000 BLAZE

SHARON, Pa., April 21.—(AP)—A $1,500,000 fire wiped out Sharon's main shopping section early today and destroyed the protected Home Circle temple, headquarters of one of the country's oldest fraternal insurance organizations. Fire Chief Roy Hall, who estimated damage at about a million and a half, said the origin was undetermined.

Veteran Editor Is Ill.

J. C. WILLIAMS.

EDITOR WILLIAMS IS CRITICALLY ILL

Veteran Greensboro Publisher Stricken With Heart Attack.

GREENSBORO, Ga., April 21.—James Cranston Williams, veteran editor of the Greensboro Herald-Journal, local weekly newspaper, is critically ill at his home here tonight after suffering a heart attack. He suffered a sinking spell about 7 o'clock, but late tonight he had rallied somewhat.

Known familiarly as "Uncle Jim," the noted editor has been a Georgia journalist for more than 53 years.

At the age of 12 he entered a printing office of the Crawfordville Democrat as the printer's "devil." While working on this newspaper he "pulled" a George Washington hand press and is one of the few men who have printed a newspaper on that type of press.

Serving through his apprenticeship, he worked in many southern printing offices, his positions varying from foreman of the composing room, advertising solicitor and circulation manager to editor.

Both his sons, Cranston Williams and Carey Williams, followed in their father's footsteps as newspapermen, with Carey Williams attaining distinction as a paragrapher.

Cranston Williams became secretary and manager of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, with headquarters in Chattanooga, several years ago.

Widely known as a diagnostician, he had practiced medicine here 40 years. He represented Lincoln county in the state legislature for two terms.

Dr. Estes was prominent in civic and charity work here.

In addition to his wife, seven daughters, two sons and two brothers are among the survivors. The daughters and sons are Mrs. J. L. Bussey, Lincolnton; Mrs. James Turner, Augusta; Mrs. Ben Neal, Hartsville, S. C.; Mrs. Jennie McClendon, Atlanta, and Misses Mildred, Alice and Dorothy Estes, and W. H. Estes Jr., and Wiley Estes.

HEALTH PRIZE WON BY GLYNN COUNTY

Georgia Community Gets Award From National Association.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Counties in Kansas, Texas, California, Georgia, Tennessee and New York tonight were announced winners in the second annual interchamber rural health conservation contest.

The American Public Health Association said prizes would be awarded April 27 to these counties for the best county health work during 1935:

Glynn county, Georgia, and Davidson county, Tennessee.

The contest, aimed at eliminating premature deaths and the reduction of economic losses due to unnecessary illness, graded entrants on a wide program of health work and organization, and preventive measures.

Dr. M. E. Winchester is health officer in Glynn county.

They are: Tap Bennett, of Athens; Norman Chalker, Mitchell; Frank Mann, McRae; Byron Mathews, Atlanta; Edward Baxter, Ashburn; John Hudson, Atlanta; Wadsworth McGinty, Atlanta; Robert Troutman, Atlanta, and O. M. Cates, Sale City.

HEADS PHARMACY CLUB.

ATHENS, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Robert Anderson, of Hillboro, has been elected president of the University of Georgia Pharmacy Club, succeeding Robert Ward, of Elberton. Other new officers are: Lanier Hardeman, of Colbert, vice president, and H. A. Matthews, of Miller, secretary-treasurer.

BLAZE DAMAGES STATE HOSPITAL

No Patients Injured in Fire at Milledgeville Institution.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Fire which broke out in the negro male building of the state hospital here today was brought under control without injury to any of the patients.

Dr. John W. Oden, superintendent of the hospital, said the damage was estimated at approximately $1,000.

The blaze broke out in what is known as the sixth ward where violent negro males are housed. Most of the 400 patients housed in the building were out of doors in the walled enclosure surrounding the building when the fire was discovered.

Sick patients in the ward infirmary were taken out on stretchers by attendants and nurses while the group outside was quickly marshaled and marched out to a nearby field.

The blaze started in the roof and had gained headway when found. The hospital fire department began fighting the blaze and the Milledgeville department was called, but on its arrival, the fire was practically out.

The fire was confined to the third floor and rear of the building, one of the oldest at the hospital.

Tabby Places Kittens In Nest With Chicks

LAGRANGE, Ga., April 21.—(AP) Peace has come to the troubled chicken house at the home of P. T. Hipp here, and now a group of newly-hatched chicks and a couple of stray kittens are living together happily, even though their parents don't see things eye to eye.

The trouble started when a stray cat brought her two kittens to a nest where a hen was clucking contentedly over her six newly-hatched chicks.

The cat wanted a warm place for her kittens. The hen wanted privacy for her brood and recognized in the cat an enemy.

But in the case of the cat, mother love overcame family pride so Tabby put up with the pecking of the hen, to get her kittens a warm spot.

DR. L. G. HENDERSON IS NAMED MODERATOR

QUITMAN, Ga., April 21.—Dr. L. G. Henderson, Albany pastor, was elected moderator of the Southwest Georgia presbytery, meeting here today and tomorrow. Rev. S. W. Denby, Cairo, is clerk.

Rev. M. A. McDonald was elected commissioner to the general assembly in Augusta in May, Rev. W. L. Foley, Quitman, alternate; H. T. McIntosh, Albany, was elected elder, and J. M. Heeth, Quitman, alternate.

JUDGE FELTON DIES IN MACON COUNTY

Ordinary for Last 28 Years Passes at Montezuma Home.

MONTEZUMA, Ga., April 21.—(AP) Judge A. C. Felton Sr., 87, ordinary of Macon county, died this morning at the home of a daughter here after an illness of six weeks.

When the recent primary was held in Macon county he did not offer for re-election and his term as ordinary would have expired the first of next January.

Judge Felton was one of the best known men in middle Georgia. He graduated at Mercer University during the last year that institution was at Penfield, Ga. He was one of the oldest living graduates of Mercer at the time of his death.

The funeral was held this afternoon at the Methodist church in Montezuma, of which he was a member. He also was a member of the Masonic order.

COUNCIL SIDESTEPS

Faced with an intolerable condition in the affairs of the police department, city council at its meeting Monday was content to wash its hands of the mess and leave its solution to the police committee, which has already conclusively demonstrated its inability, or unwillingness, to direct the affairs of the department in an efficient and businesslike manner.

Last year's committee at least made an effort to eliminate undesirable members from the force and to stamp out unhealthy conditions—but the present committee, split by factional strife, is apparently controlled by a majority faction willing to put personal politics above the safety of the lives and property of the public.

An outraged public will not accept without stern condemnation the weak-kneed action of council in sidestepping its duty and responsibility to clean out the mess into which the affairs of the police department, already inexcusably bad, have been plunged by the introduction of personal politics into the policies of the police board.

The board is composed of a group of council members and it will be difficult to convince the public that the council as a whole is powerless to prevent a committee of its own members from playing fast and loose with the safety of every man, woman and child in the city.

No police department can render efficient and adequate protection to the community it serves if its ranks are filled with men who drink or who are willing to "mooch" on those they are being paid to protect.

And yet, over the protest of two of its members, the present board at its last meeting reinstated to duty a policeman convicted in police court of drunkenness, and replaced other men fired for cause last year by a committee imbued with a better idea of its duty to the public.

The people of Atlanta will not tolerate a condition that finds the already existing demoralization in the police department being made all the worse by the apparent effort of a police board faction, led by a commissioner who was himself recently convicted in police court of drunkenness on the streets, and later indicted by the grand jury, to load up the force with men mentally, morally and physically unfit to wear a uniform.

Alderman Gilliam is correct in his statement that "council cannot ignore the resentment expressed by the citizens."

If it wants to do so, council can find some effective way to bring an end to the disgraceful mess in which the police department is involved.

Should it fail to do so, then it must accept the blame for an intolerable situation.

In that event, there can be no reasonable doubt as to the public attitude toward those public officials lacking the courage to take a stand against conditions that are a civic disgrace.

OPTIMISM RULES EDITORS

The optimistic views on business expressed by the editors of the leading newspapers in the United States now in New York to attend the annual meetings of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association are impressive evidence of the extent to which the country has recovered from the depression.

The symposium of these opinions prepared by the Associated Press has added significance, since 70 per cent of the large newspapers of the United States are of republican faith and most of them have vigorously differed with at least some of the policies of the New Deal.

Yet not an editor was to be found who does not report that economic conditions in his section are either normally prosperous or practically so. From New England to the Pacific coast and from Michigan to the gulf, industry, agriculture and trade are reported as in sound and healthy condition.

Strange it is that some of those who have been the greatest gainers from the economic right-about-face the country has taken under the leadership of President Roosevelt should now be among those most bitterly attacking the New Deal. From the profits the New Deal has enabled them to make they are spending thousands of dollars to defeat the New Deal.

Politics causes men to do many strange things, but never has the country seen a more remarkable development than the willingness of a few disgruntled financial and industrial leaders to attempt to undermine the administration that has brought them from the brink of ruin in a comparatively few months.

That their efforts will avail them nothing is evidenced in the opinions of nation-wide conditions voiced by the leading editors of the country. No people who have been given optimism instead of despair, work in place of idleness and profits instead of losses can be expected to desert the administration responsible for the kaleidoscopic change that has taken place in the United States since March, 1933.

NATIONAL WANT AD WEEK

The purpose of National Want Ad Week, now being observed in every section of the country, is to bring a more widespread realization of the value and service of this type of advertising.

The small and inexpensive want ad serves the American family in an intimate and helpful way. Business is also aided in ways apart from the service that can be obtained through the more expensive display advertising which plays so vital a part in the building of profits for commercial and industrial concerns of every type. . . . . .

The want ad pages of a newspaper are a great exchange mart which can be "visited" every day by the members of every family in a community without the necessity of leaving home. Here can be advertised for sale or barter articles which, although in good condition, are no longer of use to one family but may be needed by another; or there may be found a lead to a lucrative business opportunity; or a new home, either for rent or sale, may be found listed.

In these and many other ways the want ad can fill the wants of every type of home from the most modest to those of many rooms.

In recognition of the intimate and worth-while service performed within the home and for business, the newspapers of many countries publish their want ads on the first and succeeding pages of each issue. In America the demand for the display of news in these pages, so that the reader may quickly be posted on the important developments of the day, has brought the custom of publishing want ads in the back pages of the newspapers.

But because they are seemingly relegated to an unimportant position in no wise lessens the value of the service they perform. They are as vitally important to the home and business as any other matter published in a metropolitan newspaper.

More people should avail themselves of want ads—to profitably dispose of articles no longer needed or to secure at a reduced price commodities that are required within the home; to secure employes in the home or business; or for the thousand and one other services that these inexpensive and inconspicuous little ads can render.

It is for this purpose that National Want Ad Week is being observed. Every person who is not a regular reader of the want ad pages should start today. They will be well repaid.

Grandfathers.

The president of the French republic became a grandfather the other day and thus joined the ranks of those happy people of whom a farmer neighbor of mine in France said one day that they are to be envied. "Cicero," he said, "wrote a book on the happy circumstances of old age. I read that book. The good man succeeds in enumerating a number of honorable burdens. Cicero did not take into account the only joy which compensates an old man for the trouble to live on." And my ancient friend went on: "You bring up your children. You work for them. You make sacrifices for them so that they will be happy. Often they give you more worry than joy. You want them to be well educated, well mannered. You are constantly afflicted by worry and disquietude on their score and you often play the comedy of severity. And then when you think you have at last succeeded in making men or women of them they leave you.

"Our grandchildren," he went on, "are the ones who pay us for our troubles. The happiness of a grandfather is made up of a delightful egoism. He has no responsibility in the education of his grandchildren. He will probably not see them grow up entirely. He will know nothing of their forgetfulness and their ingratitude. He discovers with constant marveling the awakening, the unfoldment of these adorable little creatures, as if he had never seen any before. It is a miracle, a miracle of redemption, you might say," went on my friend. Here I am myself, old and declining, often disgusted with man and tired of the whole mortal show. But my little grandchildren, why they revive in me the joy of living.

"The smile of my little granddaughter, she is 16 months old, is of a truly angelic disinterestedness. Of course, when she is 3 years old she will look at my hand to see what I am bringing her. But today I have the happy impression that I am loved for my own sake, with an affection which is exempt from jealousy. When I come to her mother's house the girl goes through a perfect ritual. She takes me by the hand and she leads me to the creche, where her little sister sleeps and she asks me to lift her up to the little one so that she can plant a big, awkward kiss on the forehead of that baby." So talked my wise old friend in France.

I wonder whether one of his little grandchildren sometimes takes our president by the hand to lead him, the chief of the nation, to the bed of his or her little brother? Do they sit on the lawn of the White House and pick flowers to make a beautiful wreath for grandfather? That is a famous recreation. Not only for the children, I dare say.

There are people who will shrug their shoulders. Others will say: "What does it matter?" This play with children, surely it is without significance."

Ah, but it has significance! For those who languish under so-called high honors, who are burdened with worries and titanic jobs, for those who battle against error and ignorance, encouraged by some, insulted by others, nothing really counts in this life very seriously but the smile of a little child. These smiles are amongst the favors accorded by the gods to those who have done their task well.

Good Morning

BY LOUIE D. NEWTON.

KILLING TIME.

While serving as president of Wesleyan College, Dr. W. N. Ainsworth, now one of the bishops of the Methodist Church, South, made an address at a chapel service at Mercer University. I was a sophomore at the time and although a sophomore I listened to the visiting speaker and caught a sentence which lingers with me in ever-deepening truth. Dr. Ainsworth said:

"He who kills time is the foulest of murderers."

At first I felt he had overstated an obvious truth, but the more I think of it the more I am inclined to agree with the bishop. The person who deliberately kills time is destroying every possible outlet for service on his own part and almost without exception he is hindering someone else in the race of life.

For example, you make an engagement with someone to meet you at a certain time with the purpose in mind of meeting that engagement and subsequent engagements for the day. The person is late, often out of sheer laziness and negligence. You are upset and unfitted for the engagement when the person does arrive and you are penalized for the engagements that follow.

I have observed that the person who habitually kills time soon destroys his or her usefulness in the community. Let it be said once that such and such a person is always late and that impression will travel like the wind, hurting that person through all the days.

The Bible has many helpful teachings just at this point. I mention two: "Slothfulness casteth one into a deep sleep" and "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." And perhaps I may add even a third observation of the Book: "Seest thou a man diligent in his business? He shall stand before kings."

Talmudic Tales

(Based upon the laws, legends and philosophy found in the Talmud, which contains the civil and canonical laws and traditions of the Jewish people, dating back as far as 3,000 years.)

WHAT IS MORE BITTER THAN DEATH?

The mighty ocean is overshadowed by the majestic mountain, but the lofty mountain may be leveled by iron.

Water is absorbed by the clouds, and clouds are scattered by the wind.

A sturdy wall withstands the wind, but man can destroy the strongest wall.

Then along comes fear to conquer man, while strong wine easily banishes fear.

Sleep overcomes the effect of wine, but sleep, in turn, is routed by sickness.

And finally, sickness surrenders to death, but what is more bitter than death?

A bad woman.

For it is written, "More bitter than death is the woman whose heart is snares and nets and her hands as bands."—Eccles. 7:26.

Due to the extensive interest in Talmudic Tales, 128 of the legends and over 500 pearls of wisdom have been collected in an attractive book of 195 pages, handsomely bound in grained blue vellum cloth, with gold-stamped title. Autographed by author. Suitable for gifts or prizes. Price $1.50 postpaid. Address orders to "Talmudic Tales," care The Atlanta Constitution.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

BY PAUL MALLON.

VALUES WASHINGTON, April 21.—The value of trying to preserve peace by economic force may now be measured in dollars and sense.

The figures are not being announced here, possibly because they raise an embarrassing question. But if you will go into the records of the League of Nations, you will find just what has happened under the sanctions trade embargoes adopted against Italy last fall.

After all President Roosevelt said in his appeals to American business to hold down on trade with Italy, after all State Secretary Hull threatened to do to exporters caught napping to Italy, after all the hullabaloo here about American co-operation—against Mussolini—the figures show that Uncle Sam was the biggest profiter from the sanctionist peace drive. He did not make very much, not enough to be called a profiteer, but he made practically all the profit there was. He took the markets England and France formerly had in Italy, and if he had not done it, someone else would have.

The result of the whole transaction was detrimental to the peace advocates, only a minor annoyance to the belligerent, and profitable to outsiders.

It shows what usually happens when anyone or any group tries to play big brother to the world.

FIGURES A trustworthy unofficial estimate is that, from the time sanctions were invoked, United States trade with Italy has increased about $4,000,000.

The League official figures afford only a comparison for the first three months of sanctions, November, December and January. For that period, United States trade with Italy increased $2,347,000 over the similar period of the previous year.

In the same official period, England's trade dropped from $2,742,000 to $226,000, France's from $1,389,000 to $159,000, indicating that, as far as they were concerned, they really put the embargoes into effect.

Other gainers besides the United States were Austria (increase $1,500,000) and Germany (increase $940,000).

PROOF One of the wisest of Washington businessmen returned to Washington recently with convincing proof that Mr. Roosevelt would be defeated for re-election.

He says 95 per cent of the big shots in Wall Street are convinced that Roosevelt's re-election is certain and they have never been right about anything yet.

DIRT The head of the democratic congressional campaign is Pat Drewry, of Virginia, and that of the republican is Chester Bolton, of Ohio. They were chatting in the lobby when a member came up and asked them about Postmaster General Farley's statement that this is going to be a dirty presidential campaign.

"No, sir, not as far as we are concerned," replied the democrat. "I have the highest respet for Mr. Bolton." "No, indeed," chimed Bolton, "Mr. Drewry is the highest type you could place in such a position."

They looked at each other without laughing, and then went to their respective offices—probably to okay bitter publicity attacks against each other.

MUCH ADO The unusual tiff between the senate and house about paying Senator Black's law partner a $10,000 fee, is spreading on the inside. It may cause some real personal trouble involving other legislation.

The house leaders have indirectly sent word to Black that, unless he changes his tactics on the lobby bill, there is not going to be a bill.

What made them angry was the fact that Black ditched the house lobby bill by sending it to a senate committee. The usual practice required him merely to disagree with it and request a conference with the house so that differences between the house bill and his might be straightened out.

Now the senators say they will tack the $10,000 fee on a general appropriation bill so the house will not dare to kill it. The house crowd says if the senate does that, it will give Black another punch in the nose by a vote of the house.

Thus it may be a big fight, but not necessarily a constructive one.

BULLDOZING Life is a lottery for the WPA workers in a Pennsylvania coal region, if for no one else. They say they were given books of chances on an automobile to be given away three days before the Pennsylvania primary. The bosses passed out the books, each containing $1 worth of chances, with instruction that each WPA worker must sell the chances or pay for them himself.

SILHOUETTES

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Flossie is big and Flossie is black
And Flossie's a good-natured soul.
She's a queen with a big mixing bowl.

Flossie is slow and sometimes she's late,
And sometimes she scorches the pan,
But her pies would the heart of a gourmet elate

A Story Of Dialect.

School teacher on the east side of New York asked her class:

"Tell me the difference between a stoic and a cynic."

Little Jake Isenstein replied:

"A stoik is a boid wot brings boibies and the sinnik is the place where yer washes de boiby after the stoik brung it."

Speaking Of Schools.

Teacher in a high school in Georgia asked her class—it was the senior class, too—to write out the first verse of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Two score of them tried but not one could do it correctly. And later the teacher admitted she had to look it up.

Inconsequential Memories.

I suppose all of us have little memories of things experienced, seen, read or heard that stick for many years, for no apparent reason at all.

I recall a line which appeared in a book review, written by H. L. Mencken, in the old Smart Set. It must be at least 25 years ago. I was reading the magazine on a train and that one line seemed to me so funny my laughter made other passengers turn and stare.

Then there is a sentence in a novel I read more than 30 years ago. I forget the name of the book and the name of the author. The entire plot, together with the names of all the characters, has gone to the limbo of forgetfulness.

Yet I remember a woman character, speaking of her husband, saying she thought it foolish, when a man's stomach was a little out of sorts, for him to get scared and start praying; "worrying the Lord about a matter that two penn'orth of salts would put right."

A Line From An Old Play.

And there is that line, spoken by Tom Wise in the play, "The Gentleman From Mississippi." The old senator from the south is looking over his monthly bills. He finds one for ten dollars from his haberdasher and complains bitterly about "outrageous prices." The next bill is from his liquor dealer. It totals more than $200. The senator takes one glance at the bottom figure and comments: "Very reasonable. Very reasonable."

Incidentally, I noticed the other day that a young Hollywood columnist, speaking of this same play, erroneously called it "A Gentleman From Mississippi." The article is "The," title of the play coming from the parliamentary expression used in addressing a member of the senate, "The gentleman from —— has the floor," etc.

A Young Unknown.

When "The Gentleman From Mississippi" was first produced on Broadway, Tom Wise, in the title role, was the star. His name alone was up in lights over the theater marquee.

There was a young actor in the cast playing the role of the Washington newspaperman who resigns from his paper to become secretary to the senator. Influenced largely because the senator's daughter is very beautiful.

After the first week of the play's run, this young actor had achieved such a success in his role he was the talk of Broadway. No one had heard of him before and folks were asking about his origin and predicting a big future for him, almost in the same breath.

The producers of the play persuaded the author to change his script a little, in order to make the secretary's role more important. And they put the young man's name up in lights, co-starring him with Tom Wise for the remainder of the play's long run.

His name was Douglas Fairbanks. Yes, now known as the senior.

What's Wrong With the British.

Dictionary sheds a great light.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From The Constitution of Saturday, April 22, 1911:

"The management of the Capital City Club announces that on the evenings of April 27 and 29 there will be a table d'hote supper served at the club after the performance of grand opera Thursday and Saturday evenings. On the evening of the 27th, members of the Festival Association will entertain artists of the company at the club after the performance."

And Fifty Years Ago.

From The Constitution of Thursday, April 22, 1886:

"The board of police commissioners convened in called session last night for the purpose of investigating charges against a half dozen members of the force. During the session the resolution Mr. Cooper introduced in the city council was discussed. The resolution provides for a week's rest for each member of the force during the summer."

Historian.

William Edward Hartpole Lecky was born near Dublin, Ireland, in 1838. He was in his thirties when he began writing his classic History of England in the Eighteenth Century, upon which he devoted 19 years! But this and his History of European Morals and the Map of Life rank among the great books of all time.

The latter is a discussion in popular style of some of the ethical problems which rise in everyday life, which he significantly prefaces with a quotation from De Toqueville: "Life is neither pleasure nor suffering, but a grave affair entrusted to us, that we must conduct and terminate to our honor."

'Quake of 1812.

The severest earthquake recorded in American history struck the country in 1812, without affecting the Pacific coast. Epicenter was near New Madrid, Mo. For 300 miles around the earth undulated. Old lakes were drained, new ones formed. Islands in the Mississippi river sank, and water was thrown high in the air like eruptions from a volcano. Loud explosions accompanied the opening of great fissures a mile or more in length. But because the country was sparsely settled, loss of life was small.

Simultaneously it or another earthquake destroyed Caracas, Venezuela, killing thousands.

FAIR ENOUGH

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Political Nobodies. It has been more than a year since I visited Washington, but the last time I was there I had a feeling that the disposition of the government was unnecessarily bossy and that a lot of politicians and appointees in office were just reckless nobodies, who never amounted to much in their old home towns, enjoying a wild time in protected jobs at much better pay than they could hope to obtain in private business.

Roosevelt had horned his A, a defiant note addressed to the money changers; J. P. Morgan had sat for his picture, bouncing a midget on his lap, and Ferd Pecora had dug up enough pay dirt to send some of the worst of the big shots to prison with Al Capone, if the Department of Justice hadn't forgotten its reason for being and turned to playing a game of cops and robbers.

It may be a good thing for the G-men to shoot to kill in dealing with the Dillingers and Baby Face Nelsons, but when the department goes after men in the politer brackets the custom is to bring 'em back alive. Thereafter it is the task of the prosecutors to prove they did what they did, but the record shows that the most notorious white-collar bad men wiggle off the hook. The Department of Justice would look better if it had nailed just one big shot for illegal parking.

Social Dramming. When I was last in Washington there was too much pub crawling and social dramming, and it seemed as if almost any burbling rumpot who found himself unfit to hold a job in competitive life could wind himself around the neck of some plastered politician and talk himself into a government office at, anyway, $3,000 a year, and probably more.

"Reckless" or "irresponsible" is the word which I would select to describe the frame of mind of too many people who had their feet in the trough in Washington, and I think they got their inspiration from Mr. Big himself, because he wasn't any too exacting and he certainly did love to needle and burn those who disagreed with him.

It was fun, all right, to crack down on the big shots and see them rub where it hurt, but I don't believe that while we were laughing at that we realized that all the petty job-holders were developing the crack-down psychology and coming to think of themselves as lower case Roosevelts and Hugh Johnsons. There are nobody knows how many thousands of appointees in Washington who are merely the objects of political charity, and it isn't the best thing for the country that they should forget their true status and worthlessness and convince themselvs that they are masters of the people. I thought as long ago as a year back that the government personnel was acquiring the frame of mind of one of those lowdown, to-hell-with-the-taxpayer administrations which occur in the cities.

Commotion and Initials. In the pleasant excitement of the early days of the New Deal, when Mr. Big was dumping his great big box car numbers into the lap of congress and the personnel was enjoying the first delights of repeal in the dairy lunches and drug stores of the national capital, nobody but a disgruntled republican would have thought to question the future. The atmosphere was full of noise, commotion and initials, the government buildings were full of deserving democrats and too many of them were full of dry martinis to permit of coherent thought or planning.

Now, after three years, it strikes me that Mr. Roosevelt has too little to show in the way of sound results and much too much in the way of arrogant authority in public positions which were designed for public servants.

It is no defense to blame the supreme court for turning back its fondest undertakings with the word "phooey" written across them, because other presidents have had to play ball under the rules and abide by the decision of the umpire, and he took the job on the same terms. His NRA was a dizzy undertaking, in the first place, as he probably knew in his own heart from the very beginning, and though the big parade in New York and the picket line language of General Johnson were good entertainment, the show played to a big loss in the end.

Like all other presidents, the boss hadn't settled into his chair before he started campaigning for re-election and therefore couldn't do his stuff, if he had any stuff, with a free and honest hand.

Wholesale Delousing. It would be foolish, of course, to suggest that he call in all his minor crack-downers at this time and compel a wholesale, conscientious delousing of the government departments, because campaign time is no time to fire the boys who turn out the vote. But Roosevelt is one president who could do the honest thing and still be re-elected, because his contract has a four-year renewal clause as plain as if it had been written in by a lawyer. The boys couldn't stop him if they tried.

But, at least, he could let the idea percolate down through the government that the wild party is over now and that henceforth it is up to the Roosevelt administration to make good with achievements, not excitement. But he won't do that, either, and four years from now, when the new boss sweeps out, Mr. Roosevelt will be the most hated president and the worst flop in the history of the U. S. A. It isn't in his crowd to make good or even to make a conscieutious effort.

Why Use Everlasting Granite To Build a Shelter for the Night?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

H. L. Menkin once said that few people are capable of the grand passion. That may be an exaggeration, but at least it is true, as any observer can see for himself, that many people are incapable of any deep and lasting emotion.

They are as shallow and unstable as children—interested or excited or devoted for a day, and tomorrow concerned with other matters.

They divorce one another as casually as they discard a worn garment, for there is nothing solid in them to hold an anchor.

The sweetest of the old songs declares that the heart that truly loves never forgets, but as truly loves on to the close, and that doubtless is true.

For true love is like a new birth, a growth of fibre, a development like the opening of a flower. It is not subject to the will, and it cannot be undone.

The loved one may die or be unfaithful, or be cruel and selfish and unfair; and the lover may suffer and writhe in torment, or burn with resentment of such callous injustice, or weep in heartbroken loneliness, but the love will live on through all hurt and sorrow.

Marriage can endure without love, for the proud and solid man, having pledged his honor to love, honor and cherish, for better or worse, so long as life shall last, feels bound by his self-respect and sense of duty, no matter what price he must pay. And women of the same type will hide their hurt and disappointment and keep their pledge as best they can to the end.

But those who, like the Japanese, feel honorably free to break a pledge that no longer is profitable, and have no capacity for the love that is more binding than pledges, will discard their mates with a clear conscience when the first thrill of shallow infatuation has given place to boredom.

The remedy will not be found in making divorce harder, but in making marriage harder.

If marriage is to be saved, it should be restricted to those who are capable of love and those who honor a vow, and its sacred office denied to those who merely wish to experiment.

HEALTH TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Scientific investigation by Haggard and Greenberg showed that smoking produces a definite temporary increase in the blood sugar and a corresponding increase in the rate of combustion of this fuel. The effect on the blood sugar is probably due to the excitation of the adrenal gland secretion, which Cannon, Aub and Binger showed a smoke produces. This mobilization of blood sugar no doubt explains the gratification the smoker gets from indulgence.

Emotional excitement has much the same influence on the blood sugar, through increase in the secretion of the adrenal glands. If the natural or normal reaction to emotion is not repressed or too greatly sublimated the muscular activity involved in the reaction, whether it be fighting, running away, playing or working to achieve a purpose, physiologically brings about the increased oxidation of the blood sugar. This is the normal functioning of the machine.

I do not believe temperate use of tobacco injures health. Now just what constitutes temperance in the use of tobacco is a question of opinion. Most physicians agree that tobacco is invariably injurious to children, and physiologically an individual is a child until he or she has attained full adult development, that is, the age of 22 to 25 years.

Some physicians permit expectant mothers and even nursing mothers to smoke two or three cigarets a day, though the use of tobacco in any amount tends to diminish capacity to nurse the baby successfully.

Temperate indulgence is a matter of opinion. I should say the smoker who indulges only after the day's work is done and the main meal is eaten is a temperature smoker. It is certainly excess when one lights up before a meal or in the course of a meal; or when one succumbs to the desire to smoke while ostensibly at work, physical or mental work or at play in which skill or efficiency is a factor. Likewise the smoker who lights a cigaret as a nervous gesture, to appear nonchalant or to conceal patent ineptitude is indulging to excess.

What are the signs or symptoms of tobaccosis? The most familiar manifestations of this chronic poisoning are too rapid heart action especially under any physical effort; palpitation or consciousness of heart beat; shortness of breath or poor "wind" when the victim makes any physical effort; sometimes attacks of pseudo-angina or "neuralgia" in the region of the heart; frequently hyperchlorhydria, excessive acidity of gastric juice, and in some instances other associated symptoms which may lead to a diagnosis of peptic or duodenal ulcer; impairment of vision, narrowing of color field, partial color blindness; eventually high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis.

Practically there appears to be no significant difference between the effects of smoking ordinary tobacco and so-called denicotinized, mentholated or otherwise treated tobacco.

Victim of tobaccosis must remember that while the tobacco, nicotine or other substance may be entirely eliminated from the system within a few days after smoking is stopped, it requires many months to restore health after the damage that has been done by overindulgence.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Husband on His Feed.

My husband suffered a good deal with heartburn after each meal. Recently he started eating a dish of bran for breakfast, with some fruit or tomato juice, a doughnut or two, and a cup of cereal coffee. He feels much better and has no heartburn since he started on bran. Is it too much roughage? . . . (Mrs. W. E.)

Answer—No. It is wholesome food. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for the monograph "Wheat to Eat." Try some of the dishes made of plain wheat, and you'll have a better husband.

Hollywood Today

BY SHEILAH GRAHAM.

HOLLYWOOD, April 21.—Eleven p. m., at the Metropolitan Airport, 17 miles from Hollywood—now the Baskul Flying Field, somewhere in the Manchuria of James Hilton's "Lost Horizon." . . . The field is bright with floodlights. Two huge, bimotored planes wait in front of the office. . . . Seven hundred Chinese coolies simulate terror as they carry furniture and personal packs, drive pigs, cows, goats, donkey carts and cars of ancient vintage, and run around in circles, doing precisely nothing. . . . In the distance—about 20 yards away—the sky is rosy with the flames of the burning city of Baskul. . . . Four cameras turn, as Ronald Colman and John Howard fight desperately through the maddened Chinese and make a dash for the radio room. "Get me Shanghai!" commands Ronnie. The property man gets him Shanghai. "This is Conway," Colman barks. "Colonel, I need more planes. The bandits are in Baskul. The whole town's on fire. If they reach us here, it's—good night."

"That's fine, Ronnie," comments Director Frank Capra, who sits quiet as ever in a chair in front of the camera. Capra is a sartorial vision in tweed cap, brown foulard scarf, heavy leather jerkin, gray flannel slacks, heavy boots and gloves. "Let's do it once more before we take it." Two hours later, the "take" is made.

Mr. Colman has a head cold. Someone gives him a cough drop. He looks very British in his Irish tweed jacket, an old felt hat—American make—flannel trousers—not forgetting his old school tie.

"I really don't know what I shall do after this," he says hoarsely. "I'm a little tired, you know—I've made three films, one after the other ("Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo," "Tale of Two Cities" and "Under Two Flags"). When this one is over maybe I'll take a trip somewhere—as far away from Hollywood as I can get. I might do a picture in England—but I have made no plans. I want a long rest first."

Edward Everett Horton, playing Lovett, the American, in the picture, prefers not to wait that long for his rest—and is sound asleep in the back seat of his sedan. . . . Isabel Jewell, who takes the part of the missionary, is with her mother in the temporary commissary in one of the hangars, demolishing the larger part of a roast chicken and French-fried potatoes. She wears a thick polo coat—it's a cold night—eyelashes heavy with mascara, overrouged lips, and ankle-length pink wooly pantaloons—the kind grandmother wore.

"In "The Suicide Club" set—from the story by Robert Louis Stevenson. Frank Morgan and Robert Montgomery—the new Montgomery, complete with sideburns and whiskers—lean against a satisfactory 1880 clubroom bar. . . . The usual oldest member of the club is, as usual, bald-headed and fast asleep.

"I'm terribly nervous," says Louis Hayward (young Englishman imported to Hollywood because of good performance in Noel Coward's New York "Point Valaine"). He has to make a three-minute speech for which he has been rehearsing all morning.

"Ready?" cries Director J. Walter Ruben. "Turn 'em. Quiet. Speak. Camera." . . . Approximately one minute later—coincident with the popping of a champagne cork—made off-set by sharply withdrawing a suction pump—Hayward fluffs his lines. . . . A three-minute pause, and the scene is restarted. This time, Montgomery forgets his lines, at the same champagne pop. . . . Time out, while the property man practices how to pop a cork without making the actors forget their lines. . . . On the third take, Hayward manages to remember another ten lines. "I'm tired," he explains. "I've done nothing all day but wait for this speech, and it's got on my nerves." Frank Morgan repowders his face, and the scene is re-shot. Again Hayward breaks down. . . . It gets monotonous for everyone after the sixth time, and a half hour halt is called to enable Mr. Hayward to re-learn his lines.

"I'm all set now," he calls cheerfully at the end of that period.

NOTED OPERA STARS ARRIVE HERE TODAY

entire troupe will be assembling and by tomorrow afternoon the first rehearsals will be in full swing.

Atlantans will have an opportunity at these three performances to hear and view a performance by outstanding celebrities at an unusually low price. Seats are selling for $2 each as the top price and for this sum—half the admission fee charged for the Metropolitan performances in Atlanta several years ago—music lovers will have a distinctly Metropolitan performance.

Recruited from Metropolitan.

Most of the principals, the chorus, the ballet and the orchestra have been recruited from Metropolitan ranks by Marvin McDonald, Atlanta concert manager, who was sent to New York several months ago with instructions to assemble a top-notch company. He came back with contracts signed by a troupe which will cost the guarantors $21,000, or $7,000 for each performance.

The 5,000-seating capacity of the Fox auditorium will make it possible to more than pay off this guarantee in spite of the small admission fee and the success of these performances will mean the revival of opera as a spring event in Atlanta.

All the artists who will appear in Atlanta this week-end have worked together in the three performances scheduled here.

Sketches of Principals.

The backgrounds of some of the principals who will sing here follows:

"Aida"—Friday night. Giovanni Martinelli, the Metropolitan's leading dramatic tenor; Dusolina Giannini, who scored a triumph at the Metropolitan in her debut in "Aida;" Dreda Aves, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera; Carlo Morelli, the baritone from Chile, who was engaged for four performances with the Metropolitan this season and stayed for 20; Nino Ruisi, the Metropolitan's leading basso.

"La Boheme"—Saturday afternoon. Joseph Bentonelli, who sung with Lucrezia Bori in his debut with the Metropolitan last season; Hilda Burke, soprano of the Metropolitan; Morelli Metropolitan baritone; Charlotte Symons, the Metropolitan's lyric soprano; Ruisi, the basso, and Pompilio Malatesta, well known to Atlantans through his long connection with the Metropolitan.

"Carmen"—Saturday night. Colette d'Arville, noted Carmen of Paris; Hilda Burke, who sang as Micaela in every Metropolitan performance last season; Martinelli as "Don Jose;" Charlotte Symons, Renee Norton and Foster Miller.

Desire Defrere, the Metropolitan's stage director for several years, will have full charge behind the scenes at each performance.

ATLANTAN POISONED; IS IN MIAMI HOSPITAL

Mistakenly swallowing poison tablets, according to police, a man who gave his name as R. N. Hancock, 34, of 758 Tenth street, N. E., drug salesman, was taken to a Miami hospital in serious condition yesterday.

Police said Hancock told them he took the tablets believing they were a headache remedy, about an hour before being taken into custody following a traffic mishap.

Hancock explained to detectives that he had the tablets in his possession to use in sterilizing his hands, lacerated by a fishing line during a trip Sunday.

BLANTON WINSHIP ARRIVES IN MIAMI

Puerto Rican Governor To Seek Federal Aid for Islands.

MIAMI, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—General Blanton Winship, governor of Puerto Rico, arrived here today by commercial plane en route to Washington, where he will seek additional federal aid for the island territory.

Conferences will be held with cabinet and other government officials, Winship said, in an effort to obtain funds for continuing the Puerto Rican agricultural relief and highway construction programs.

He also will appear before the rivers and harbors congress to request money for improving the island ports, principally the one at San Juan.

The strength of the nationalist movement in Puerto Rico has been "highly overrated," declared the governor, who said the political organization commanded only 5,000 followers of the island's 200,000 voters.

OSCEOLA COUNTY APPROVES CANAL

Opposition to Florida Project Is Withdrawn by Commissioners.

KISSIMMEE, Fla., April 21.—(UP)—The board of Osceola county commissioners today abruptly reversed its stand in opposition to the trans-Florida canal, adopting a resolution supporting the $143,000,000 development.

Previously, the board had gone on record as opposing the project.

The board's resolution said it was "willing to rely on statements of army engineers and geological experts and the assurance of the President of the United States that he would not permit construction of the cross-state canal if there were any possibility that the construction would endanger the fresh water supply of the state of Florida.

"We do hereby indorse construction of the canal as being a project of great benefit to the state of Florida," the resolution concluded. It instructed the clerk of the board to forward a copy of the resolution to President Roosevelt.

round trips to Bermuda and a vacation at Sea Island.

Enchanted Garden.

This afternoon another performance of the Enchanted Garden, which so charmed the big audience yesterday afternoon, will be repeated at the Conservation garden, on Lullwater road. This is free.

Once more the sightseeing tours will conduct Atlantans on visits to Pace's Ferry road section, Garden Hills, Morningside, Emory University, Stone Mountain, Druid Hills, cyclorama, federal prison and return, a 56-mile trip, tickets $1.50, on sale at Cable Piano Company. Buses leave from a terminal point on Broad street at the Flatiron building at 9:30 o'clock and 1:30 o'clock.

The Hettie Jane Dunaway gardens, at Newnan, will attract the usual crowd because of the dramatic interest in the gardens. A special bus trip has been arranged, bus leaving the Cable Piano Company at 10 o'clock for these gardens, price $1.25 a round trip. Also a special bus trip to accommodate those going to the reception at Decatur, bus leaving Cable Piano Company at 2 o'clock, price $1 for trip to Decatur, Dogwood Hills, Dogwood farm and museum and Stone Mountain.

Decatur Reception.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon, Decatur will stage a great reception for those who are going through that city en route to the informal reception at Dogwood Hills, the home of Hugh Howell. Public officials of Decatur and DeKalb county will welcome the visitors and the music will be dispensed by the Girls' High orchestra and the Agnes Scott College Glee Club.

The estate and museum of Sheriff Jake Hall, of DeKalb county, continues open to the public free of charge. The Dogwood Farm is near Panthersville.

High Museum will continue to exhibit the special collection of floral art of distinguished painters that has been brought to Atlanta for Atlanta Dogwood Festival Week. The Beaux Arts group of the Studio Club exhibit at The Biltmore will draw its share of the crowd.

Lakewood Shows.

Lakewood, free gate, with its 17 rides and 24 shows staged by Rubin & Cherry, will be open from 11 o'clock to midnight.

The parade of progress at Tech stadium is attracting many and today this traveling show expects larger crowds than before to this scientific exhibition.

And as a final big event, costume dancing at Five Points will attract a multitude, where amid festive lights dancers will hold forth, prizes will be awarded, and other entertainment provided.

An official souvenir program of the Dogwood Festival activities, carrying stories of the events, pictures of the opera stars, interesting descriptions of various entertainments, are now on sale at all the banks, at High Museum, Cable Piano Company, and on the street, price 20 cents. This program covers all the activities, giving the hour of each performance, the place, and those taking part, and should prove a great help to Atlantans and vistors in planning their schedule.

RADIO AMATEURS COMPETE TONIGHT

Southern Championship in Store for Winner of Fox Theater Contest.

The Fox theater audience which will bestow the crown of champion of Dixie upon some aspiring radio amateur tonight is urged to be present promptly at curtain-time, 8:15 o'clock as the judging of the winners will be decided in two sections.

With more than 20 picturesque attractions seeking the title, it is necessary to divide the contestants into two platoons. An "applause machine" will register the volume of appreciation accorded each participant and the four high scorers in each division will then fight it out for the final award.

Beautiful al fresco stage settings, Perry Bechtel's orchestra and a brigade of announcers from Atlanta's three broadcasting stations will provide the background for the most elaborate parade of champion amateurs in Atlanta's history.

Many of the acts will bring their own followings who may be counted upon to influence the "applause machine" as heavily as possible. Every act already has won honors in previous competitions and the cash prizes and recognition resulting from a victory in the Dogwood Festival tournament mean much to the candidates.

Virtually every type of entertainment popular with the public—imitations, crooning, comedy, dancing, harmony, hill-billy, novelty and all the rest—will pass in rapid-fire review before the Fox theater audience.

DR. PAISLEY SPEAKS AT CHURCH TONIGHT

Dr. E. B. Paisley formerly of Atlanta, president of the Presbyterian Training school at Richmond, Va., will be the chief speaker at the "fellowship" services to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church. Dr. O. G. Jones, who is serving as pastor of the church in the absence of the Rev. W. M. Elliott Jr., will lead the devotional.

Mrs. R. G. Stephens, president of the woman's auxiliary, who arranged the program, urges the congregation to attend. Social hour is to be held in the recreation room following the service.

Dr. Paisley has been president of the school at Richmond for several years. The school offers courses in religious education and Bible to Presbyterian laymen.

STALLINGS STRESSES CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT

TIFTON, Ga., April 21.—(AP)—Stressing the need of organized, co-operative effort in community development, H. A. Stallings, of Waycross, district governor of Georgia Lions Clubs, told the students of Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College today that "the day of ruthless individualism has closed."

Stallings, associate editor of the Waycross Journal-Herald, said the "new day of organized co-operation has dawned.

"The lone wolf in the community, the man who refuses to participate in organized effort for community development is becoming more and more unpopular.

"We can look forward confidently to the day when pressure of public opinion will eliminate the last of the lone wolves from business, from the professions, from agriculture and from our citizenship.

"If we can graduate from our colleges adults who need not to be sold on the need of practical co-operation we can speed up the development so sorely needed throughout our nation."

Candy Ballet to Appear With Dancecrafters

Dance Crafters Rehearse Roles For Presentation Tomorrow Night

In a secluded spot the Dance Crafters are busily rehearsing their 600 participants for the great show to be presented tomorrow night at the Fox theater. Every effort is being made to build the presentation of "Hansel and Gretel" and "Midsummer Night's Dream" into the biggest event during the entire Atlanta Dogwood Festival week. The dress rehearsal disclosed the fact that no more beautiful costumes have ever been seen in Atlanta than those to be worn in this show. Dance routines are being practiced with the idea of perfecting the different interpretations to the last possible degree of perfection.

A delightfully fantastic woodland scene from Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" opens the program. To the immortal music of Felix Mendelssohn, especially composed as a musical setting for the immortal bard's great play, the soloists and supporting ballet will present in dance form the conflict between Oberon and Titania, rulers of the fairy kingdom; the cruel spell laid on the beautiful Titania, and her final release and reconciliation with Oberon. The comic antics of the impish Puck and the swaggering Bottom with his tradesman companions provide high comedy.

The leads were selected after exhaustive tryouts. Maurice Evans, Bee Rich and Pittman Corry, three accomplished dancers who have been widely acclaimed, will enact the respective roles of Titania, Oberon and Puck.

In the beloved story of "Hansel and Gretel" Verdery Boyd as Hansel and Mary Anne Linane as Gretel will dance to the colorful music of Humperdinck. Marion Bailey Springer is the fearsome witch, Ernestine Hirsch Stern the sandman, and Sunya Shurman the will-o'-the-wisp.

The fairy-tale scene are beautifully staged with superb lighting effects. German peasants, carefree in play; angel goddesses, goblins, gingerbread children, all the well-known characters come to life for the delight of the audience.

This beautiful production is presented as a joint dramatic play of a group of dancers known as the Dance Crafters. This particular show is being put on by them as their contribution to the annual national dance week celebrations.

Pupils of dance teachers will take the leads, with a cast of 600 made up of students from the dramatic department of Agnes Scott College, Girls' High and Fulton High schools.

ELDERS APPOINTED BY A. M. E. CHURCH

Georgia Diocese Meets; Morris Brown College Seeks Permanent Home.

Presiding elders of the Georgia diocese of the A. M. E. church and the executive board of Morris Brown College met yesterday morning in the college chapel to discuss plans for raising funds to secure a permanent home for the institution.

The meeting was called by Bishop W. A. Fountain, presiding bishop of the Georgia diocese.

L. D. Milton, cashier of the Citizens' Trust Company, spoke on "The Church as a Business as Well as a Religious Institution." Reports were submitted by various church committees.

Transportation was also arranged for delegates to the quadrennial general conference, which meets next month in New York, and the joint meeting reaffirmed a resolution requesting the return of Bishop Fountain for another quadrennium as episcopal head of the church for Georgia.

Date of the tri-convention was fixed at August 12, to be held in Atlanta.

The following appointments were announced: Rev. H. W. Grant, presiding elder, Moultrie district; Rev. D. W. Morgan, Donaldsonville district; Rev. C. C. Crouch, Talbotton district; Rev. J. W. Dennis, Blakeley district, succeeding Dr. J. I. Stringer, deceased; Rev. J. C. Peppers, Ocilla station; Dr. J. R. Fleming, state evangelist; Dr. C. A. Wingfield, press reporter, succeeding Dr. J. A. Hadley, deceased; Rev. J. W. Langster, Athens district, succeeding Dr. J. A. Hadley, deceased.

A rally to raise funds is in progress by the college, established 50 years ago, and white citizens of Atlanta and Georgia have been urged to aid.

DECATUR PARTICIPATES IN DOGWOOD FESTIVAL

Reception Will Be Held Following Visit to DeKalb Points.

Decatur will participate in the Dogwood Festival today.

From 2 until 4 o'clock this afternoon, a public reception will be held in the Decatur square for those in the motorcade who will visit Dogwood Hills, home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Howell, where an informal reception will be held, the estate of Sheriff Jake Hall, and Stone Mountain.

The motorcade will be met on Ponce de Leon avenue, and escorted to Decatur by the 40-piece band from Boys' High school, and DeKalb county and Decatur officials, preceded by a motorcycle escort.

Sheriff Hall and Scott Candler, mayor of Decatur, will make brief addresses of welcome. Girls' High school orchestra and the Agnes Scott Glee Club will present a musical program.

Special buses, leaving the Cable Piano Company at 2 o'clock this afternoon, will form part of the motorcade. The round-trip ticket is $1. Special buses will also leave at 10 o'clock this morning for the Dunaway Gardens at Newnan, $1.25 round-trip.

If you feel tired, run-down, nervous and out of sorts

There is usually a definite reason for such complaints . . . so, now let's reason sensibly.

Don't try to get well in a day . . . this is asking too much of Nature. Remember, she has certain natural processes that just cannot be hurried.

But there is a certain scientific way you can assist by starting those digestive juices in the stomach to flowing more freely and at the same time supply a balanced mineral deficiency the body needs.

Therefore, if you are pale, tired, lack a keen appetite, have lost weight and feel rundown . . . a frequent sign that your blood-cells are weak, with a tendency towards anemia—then do try in the simple, easy way so many millions approve—by starting a course of S.S.S. Blood Tonic.

FOR Speed IN COOKING

You Must use GAS

Brass tacks

Years ago careful buyers rejected vague methods of measurement of their purchases, and demanded that the merchant "get down to Brass Tacks," and measure by the accurately spaced row of brass tacks on the counter. Loose claims made for many ranges today make this even more necessary.

BREAKFAST in six minutes is simple, when you cook with Gas. This means the normal American breakfast, too—bacon, eggs, toast and coffee—for an average family of four.

Or—when there's a steak to broil—intense, searing heat is yours instantly, simply by turning a valve. No matter whether you are cooking on Top Burners, in Oven or Broiler, you have this same instant control of exactly the heat you want.

No other fuel can equal this quick, sure speed of Gas.

TOMORROW'S CHILD

By JULIE ANNE MOORE

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Valentine Clarke, who is to marry Robert Greeley, a young New England lawyer in a month, goes from New Manchester to New York with her Aunt Mahala's housekeeper, Mrs. Warren, on a shopping trip. Val's father, Barrie Clarke, had been killed in a Russian airplane crash two year's earlier. Kate Hollister, daughter of Barrie's sister, is editor of a fashion magazine. Val phones Kate, who invites her to a party where she meets Hugh Malcolm, successful young playwright; Bret Gallishaw, a New Manchester boy who while doing newspaper work in New York, wrote a best seller; Leslie Crawford, Bret's halfbrother, and Winifred Sperry, who are starring in Hugh's latest success, "End of Tears," and Guy Williams, who inherited millions and has a small part in the play. Although it had been understood Bret was to marry Kate, he and wealthy Evelyn Garfield are married when his novel becomes a movie hit. It is evident that there is hard feeling between Bret and Leslie, and that Leslie is very much upset when Winifred and Hugh are together. Leslie and Winifred are free to attend the evening party because the theater was burned down and Kate, who had intending giving a party to celebrate the 78-week run of the play, advances it two weeks. When Kate announces that Leslie and Winifred are going to give a scene from the play, Guy asks Val to go with him to Pete's place, saying she is to see the play anyhow. Believing Pete's place is near by, Val leaves with him. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT IV.

Suddenly the girl stood on tiptoe and pressed her slim hands to Pete Gaboriau's eyes.

"Ah," Pete said, smiling broadly; "it is Miss Cameron. No one else would do it."

She released him, pulled him 'round, laughing. "No one else would dare, you mean. I'm not afraid of you, Peter, old horse. You're just another male to me."

Pete nodded, genially. "Yes, Miss Cameron. You are always right." He extended his fat hands, palms up: "Meester Williams has not come yet? Perhaps—" grinning.

"Now don't start that drivel," the girl said sharply. "There's no other girl. And what if there were—what's wrong with Cran here?" She caught the boy's arm, pulled him nearer. "You're nuts about me, aren't you, sweetness?"

The boy looked a Pete, smiling. "She turns me down for the Twenty-Three-Million-Dollar Boy and I'm still supposed to be nuts about her."

She jerked his arm, roughly. "But you are. You know you are. I couldn't live if I thought I didn't have you for a spare, Cran."

Pete's fat stomach shook with laugher. Abruptly, as his eyes moved toward the entrance, the upheaval ceased. He touched the girl's arm, pointed:

"Look, Miss Cameron . . . See, I was right. It was another lady—and so lovely a lady. Perhaps you will need your 'spare' yet . . ."

Val had never seen such a large place in her life, nor so many people dancing. "I hope you know your way around," she said, and almost unconsciously slipped her arm through Guy's. "It wouldn't be any trick at all to get lost in this place."

"And what you see is only a small part of the story," Guy said, his green eyes searching the faces of the dancers. "There's not another place like Pete's in the world. . . . I wonder—" Suddenly he was pulling her forward. "There they are," he said, dropping his voice. "Take things as they come now, Val. This isn't New Manchester, nor Kate's apartment. Anything goes but murder and snootiness."

She didn't know whom he meant, but she waited and in a moment Louise Cameron was clinging to Guy, kissing him shamelessly, ignoring the girl beside him as if she had not existed.

Val had an almost overpowering impulse to put her fingers in the girl's golden hair and jerk her away. Instead she looked at the rather nice looking boy and presently returned his friendly smile.

Guy freed himself at last, went through the formality of introductions . . . "Louise Cameron—Leeze to you. . . . Crandal Scott. . . . Val Clarke from up New England way."

To each Val said, "How do you do," but Leeze Cameron only glared at her.

Then Leeze was dragging Guy onto the dance floor and Cran was saying, "You probably want to brush up after that ride. The ladies' parlor is on the left—the one with the curtained arch. That's right."

Val thought, "Thank heaven for one sane human being in the world." She said, "I'll be right back," and smiled her gratitude.

He was waiting where she had left him. "You two certainly took your time getting here," he said not unpleasantly. "What happened?"

She met his blue gaze, wonderingly. "You knew we were coming?"

"I knew Guy was coming. He was to be here not later than 11:30. Leeze was wild." He crooked his arm, glanced at his watch. "One forty-five. Well, as no one has ever said before, the night's young. . . . Been here before?"

"Never," Val said, but she was thinking, "I suppose I ought to call Kate and tell here where I am—though she probably knows Guy well enough to guess." She said, "Shall we dance now"

He danced well, with his cheek against her hair, talking little until quietly: "I had a premonition this was going to be a big night for me." And after a moment: "Just so we'll know where we are—is there anything between you and Guy?" . . . And when she looked up, smilingly, and shook her head: "Swell. . . . That's perfectly swell, Val. . . ."

As Val danced with Crandall Scott in Pete Gaboriau's Sall a Manger she tried to account for her presence there. Last night at this hour she had been sleeping soundly in her own four-poster at Aunt Mahala's, dreaming, perhaps, of her coming marriage to Robert and of the shopping trip she was to make to New York, the clothes she would buy. . . . Now, less than 12 hours after leaving New Manchester she was within a few miles of Philadelphia dancing in what Guy had said was one of the most notorious resorts in the east—with a boy about whom she knew only that his name was Crandall Scott and that his hair was shiny black and his eyes long and very blue and his wide mouth sensitive and quick to smile when she looked up at him.

"Why so quiet?" Cran asked, his lips touching her hair. "Or don't you like to talk when you're dancing?"

She kept her head very still. "I don't mind." And then, feeling the gentle pressure of his cheek, "but I like long silences, too. They give you a chance to consider what it's all about."

"That's right," he said. "Only—no matter how much you consider, you still don't know, do you? Take us, now . . ." He brought his head around, holding her off a little so that he could see her face. "An hour ago you and I didn't exist for each other, and—" He broke off to ask "Say, you get down to Washington occasionally, don't you?"

Val said, "I haven't been to Washington in years. Do you live in Washington?"

"Yes, didn't Guy tell you? Leeze, too. My father was in the senate for 15 years. All he does now is play golf and read the newspapers. Leeze's father owned a couple of railroads or something. Anyway, he died and left her mother a pile of dough."

"She's cute," Val said. "You two haven't finished college, have you?"

"We quit—with a year to go. . . . She's hell-on-wheels, if you meant Leeze. Guy's about the only one who can do anything with her. He had to sock her one night when she got plastered and tried to kick his windshield out. They were both pretty well in the bag that night."

Val's head jerked up. "You don't mean he really hit her?"

He nodded, grinning. "You must not know him very well. That boy'd take a poke at his mother when he's boiled up."

Val did not see Guy come up, but she felt herself sliding out of Cran's arms and then she saw Cran and Leeze dancing off and there was Guy, scowling, and the music had stopped.

"Did I bring you here or didn't I?" Guy asked, pulling her arm through his and moving off toward the dining room. "Every glimpse I had of you and Cran, you were cuddled up like a couple on a park bench."

"He's an excellent dancer and an interesting talker. We've been having a grand time." She kept her tone casual. "Overlooking your rudeness in not asking me to dance up to the present, why didn't you tell me you had a date here"

"With Leeze? . . . Leeze is nothing but a kid, Val." Then a brittle quality in his voice: "What difference did it make?"

ALUMINUM COOKING VESSELS DO NOT POISON THE FOOD

When aluminum was first used for cooking utensils, ignorant people feared that foods cooked in them would be poisoned. This was especially believed about acid foods. This matter has been carefully investigated by scientific experts for years, and they say that aluminum is as safe as any other kind of material for cooking foods. Many of the leading health authorities use aluminum almost entirely for cooking.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

THE ART OF PRINTING.

III—More About Movable Type.

To print the Bible was a long, hard task. Gutenberg labored on it for almost five years. One by one the pages were "set up" in type. After a page of type was ready, it was put in the press and covered with ink. Then paper was placed over it, the press handle was turned and the page was printed. It has been figured that 50 or 60 pages were printed in one hour.

"Cheese roller" press used 350 years ago.

That was far faster than any expert penman could have made copies, but it was slow compared with modern printing. Page after page of type (all the words in Latin) Gutenberg made ready and printed. He must have felt that he never would come to the end.

Not having enough funds of his own to pay for type, paper and other expenses, Gutenberg borrowed money from a man named Fust. This man has been called "money-greedy." He wanted profit from the sum he lent and he did not want to wait too long. Gutenberg was in his late fifties when he finished the five-year task of printing the Bible. Then, when his work was crowned with success, Fust brought suit against him. Fust demanded that he be allowed to seize the type, type molds, press and Bibles. The judge decided in his favor and Gutenberg lost the fruit of his long labors.

Each Bible contained 1,282 pages and was bound in two volumes. The printing had been done with care, and is the best known up to that time. Whether or not Gutenberg was first to use movable type, he was a great pioneer of the printing industry. During the last few years of his life he received a pension from an archbishop and was treated with some honor.

The first movable type letters were carved from wood, but these gave way to letters cast from metal. Gutenberg has received credit for being first to use a mixture of lead and tin in making type letters, and for making ink of lamp-black and linseed oil, like much of the printing ink used today.

Soon after Gutenberg brought forth his Bible, the use of movable type spread far and wide. German printers went to Italy and started printshops of the new kind. An Englishman living in Bruges, Belgium, learned the art and returned to England, where he became a famous printer. His name was William Caxton.

For a century after the death of Gutenberg, each printshop had its own set of molds and cast its own type. Then there came to be "type foundries" which cast type for sale to printers in many places. The first of these seems to have been in France, but the plan was followed in other countries.

During the present century, the custom of casting type in each place where printing is done has come back to a large degree. Linotype and monotype machines make it simple to cast type quickly.

EXECUTIVES REPORT BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Stockholders of several leading corporations attending annual meetings today heard executives tell of robust business improvement and cite high hopes for continued recovery.

Words of confidence and cheer, long stuck in the throats of traditionally cautious executives, tumbled out freely from leaders of basic industries.

Companies whose shareholders gathered today ranged from automobiles to books, and included a representative from each of the following major divisions: Chemicals, copper, locomotives, tires and rubber, electric power, cement and the films.

In Detroit, K. T. Keller, president and general manager of Chrysler Corporation, said retail sales for the most recent week had smashed the company's previous records. Hourly rates of pay are the highest in the history of the corporation, exceeding even those paid in 1929, he stated.

The president of Union Carbide & Carbon Corporation, Jesse J. Ricks, told shareholders at the meeting in New York the corporation's income for the first three months had bumped a new top for any first quarter in the history of the organization.

In New York, L. S. Cates, president of Phelps Dodge Corporation, described the outlook for the copper industry as apparently the most optimistic in half a decade.

American Locomotive's chief executive, William C. Dickerman, explained that unfilled orders had soared to $9,500,000 from $2,800,000 a year ago. Prospects, he added, are more pleasing than at any time in five years.

To shareholders of United States Rubber Company meeting in New York, William De Krafft, first vice president, said, "There is no question that the United States Rubber Company has emerged from years of depression despite the handicap thrown on its business by heavy taxes and increases in the price of rubber and cotton."

The New York meeting of American Waterworks & Electric Company was marked by the disclosure by President H. Hobart Porter that the heavier demand for electric power in the company's territory, in the east and south, will soon require the installation of additional generating equipment.

W. T. H. Howe, president of the American Book Company, cited gradual improvement and said the management "feels very hopeful."

Sidney R. Kent, president of Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, told his audience earnings for the first quarter had more than doubled, floods and blizzards notwithstanding.

Penn-Dixie Cement's president, Blaine S. Smith, said shipments in the first three months had exceeded those of 1935 by 23 per cent.

ETHIOPIAN ATTACK ON ITALIANS FAILS

WITH THE SOUTHERN ITALIAN ARMY AT GORAHAI, Ethiopia, April 21.—(Via Wireless)—(AP) A fierce Ethiopian attack on the rear guard of Italy's southern army failed today with heavy losses to the attackers, couriers reported to the headquarters here of General Rodolfo Graziani.

The attack was made on a column under the command of General Nassi.

A courier said the Ethiopians, already cut in two by General Nassi's advance on Bircut, attempted to fall in behind and cut off his contacts with headquarters but were "completely defeated in a hand-to-hand conflict."

ITALIANS OBSERVE 2,698TH BIRTHDAY

ROME, April 21.—(AP)—The "hell on wheels" column of Italy's southern army pressed forward more than 65 miles today as Premier Mussolini, celebrating the 2,698th birthday of Rome, declared "our ship is arriving in port with all sails flying."

Although rain hampered the celebration, Italy's equivalent to America's Labor Day, Il Duce sped from place to place inaugurating public works.

His first appearance was on a rooftop with a pick, where he gave the first stroke to a vast program for the demolition of outraged buildings surrounding the Roman senate.

Two new 8,000-ton cruisers, the Duca Delgi Abruzzi and the Garibaldi, were launched respectively at Specia and Trieste in the presence of enthusiastic crowds.

The distinguished inventor, Guglielmi Marconi, in a speech in the presence of the king at the Academy of Italy said Italy's African undertaking would lead to new inspiration in poetry, history, sculpture and painting.

He presided over the conferring of Mussolini's prizes for literature, art and science.

In the daily war communique, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, commander-in-chief of the African armies, disclosed that the southern army was advancing and that he has transferred northern headquarters to Dessye, formerly the headquarters of Emperor Haile Selassie.

LEAGUE CLAIMS ITALY VIRTUALLY WITHOUT GOLD

GENEVA, April 21.—(AP)—Downcast by failure to clear a road to east African peace, the League of Nations tonight looked on Italy's steadily diminishing supply of gold as a possible deterrent to much further extension of her campaign against Ethiopia.

The expense of Premier Benito Mussolini's war, coupled with sanctions, said a communique issued by the League, has reduced the country's gold supply with remarkable rapidity.

Experts of the committee on sanctions, examining reports from many countries, estimated that between last October 20 and the end of March, this year, the Bank of Italy had lost 105,-300,000 gold dollars in foreign assets.

This is nearly half the 227,200,000 gold dollars it had in October.

"What amount of gold in foreign assets the (Italian) government has been able to collect domestically since October is unknown," the report said.

Gold holdings of the Bank of Italy dropped 27,800,000 gold dollars between October 20, 1935, and the end of the year—a figure which the communique said had been confirmed by reports in the Italian press.

The League's campaign for conciliation in Africa was dropped in an atmosphere which bespoke the conviction of League officials that Geneva's position was made exceedingly difficult. The council will not meet again, under present plans, until its next regular session May 11.

YUGOSLAVIA, RUMANIA MAY FOLLOW ENGLAND

PARIS, April 21.—(AP)—High French sources said tonight that Yugoslavia and Rumania, expressing "increasing anxiety" over France's "vacillation" in negotiations to end the Italo-Ethiopian war, will follow Great Britain's lead from now on.

These sources declared the information was conveyed to Premier Albert Sarraut and Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin by Joseph Paul-Boncour, minister of state, who attended the League of Nations sessions at Geneva.

Rumanian and Yugoslavian delegates told Boncour, it was said, that their governments might be "forced" to seek protection from Germany if the League was proved definitely powerless to aid the smaller nations of Europe.

French officials acknowledged that Yugoslavia still fears a struggle with Italy over Dalmatia and France's friendship for Premier Mussolini has made Belgrade fear the French will refuse aid in the event of a conflict.

Rumania, the French declared, is "alarmed" over the increase in treaty scrapping in Europe and fears Hungary, tied to Italy by economic agreements, will demand revision of frontier lines unless the League proves strong.

Yugoslav circles said their government was "disappointed" over France's failure to compensate for losses suffered in taking sanctions against Italy.

They said Britain gave Yugoslavia additional trade but all France agreed to buy after long negotiation was "12 horses."

French officials said both Rumania and Yugoslavia have found profitable markets in Germany since their trade was cut with Italy, thus increasing the political attraction to the Nazi republic.

ETHIOPIAN DESERTER DESCRIBES REVOLT

LONDON, April 21.—(AP)—An exchange telegraph agency dispatch from Debra Birhan, Ethiopia, tonight said a deserter from a tribe in Italian pay arrived there exhausted and told how Ethiopian troops revolted and sacked Dessye after Italian instigation.

Troops who are called "shiftas," he said, and who are bandits in peace times, killed 200 of the troops of Crown Prince Afaa Wosan while they slept. He claimed the crown prince then evacuated the city, now held by the Italians.

IL DUCE MAY ISSUE MOBILIZATION CALL

ROME, April 21.—(AP)—Posters stuck on the walls of cafes in the outlying districts of Rome publicly disclosed tonight that Premier Mussolini intends calling the nation into another armed mobilization, or "adunata," shortly.

The posters said: "The generous impetus of our fighters, nourished in the heroic climate of the revolution (fascist), is crushing the last resistance of the barbaric enemy.

"A solemn hour for the destiny of the country is near. Hold yourself in readiness to rush to headquarters of your group at the first signal for an adunata."

To Speak Here Tomorrow

WALTER W. HEAD.

President of National Council To Make Official Visit to City Tomorrow.

A regional conference of volunteer Boy Scout leaders of North and South Carolina, Florida and Georgia, with Walter W. Head, president of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America as the leader, will be held at the Ansley hotel here tomorrow.

It will be Mr. Head's first official visit to Atlanta since 1934, when he directed a conference of Atlanta Scout leaders.

Mr. Head is president of one of America's largest life insurance companies and maintains headquarters at St. Louis. He is a farmer, banker and one of the leading businessmen of the middle west. In 1923 and 1924 he served as president of the American Bankers' Association.

The St. Louis man first was elected president of the Boy Scouts in 1926 and held the post until 1931. In 1931 he was succeeded by the late Mortimer L. Schiff but at Mr. Schiff's request he became a vice president. Following Mr. Schiff's death he was again elevated to the Scout presidency. He also is a member of the Boy Scout International Committee.

Mr. Head always has shown a deep interest in boys' work and in social service general.

TENANT FARMER BILL CONSIDERED BY SOLONS

Measure Would Provide Funds for Purchase of Property.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Legislation intended to convert tenant farmers into independent landowners was revived on Capitol Hill today but its fate was uncertain.

A far-from-unanimous house agriculture committee began consideration of a bill clipped from the billion-dollar Bankhead measure passed by the senate last session.

The house committee print, not yet formally introduced as a bill, calls only for $50,000,000 as capital stock for a farmers' home corporation and a one-year program to start. The senate measure likewise would provide $50,000,000 capital stock the first year, but would specify additional amounts over a long period until a total of $1,000,000,000 is reached.

The $50,000,000 would be provided out of relief money. It would be used to buy land for resale in small tracts to tenants.

There have been persistent demands this session from a southern bloc, of which Representative Maverick, democrat, Texas, is a leader, for some action looking to solving the tenant farmer problem.

Chairman Jones, democrat, Texas, of agriculture committee, and Rexford G. Tugwell, of the Resettlement Administration, conferred yesterday with President Roosevelt. Jones insisted, however, that while the legislation was mentioned the conference had no connection with the committee's action today. Another executive session will be devoted to the bill tomorrow.

From other sources it was learned that some democrats on the agriculture committee were against even the modified bill, and one member said frankly he saw little hope for action this session.

NEGRO DIES IN CRASH ON JUNIPER STREET

Hurled From Auto; Liquor Said Taken From Other Automobile.

A negro youth was instantly killed shortly before 10 o'clock last night when the automobile in which he was a passenger collided with another machine at Eleventh and Juniper streets, northeast.

Police said they found six half-pint bottles of whisky in a sewer near the scene, allegedly removed from the other car after the crash.

The dead negro was Curtis Kellens, 23, of 212 Butler street, N. E. He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries when he was thrown from the machine after it collided with a car driven by a man listed by police as L. C. Edgar, of Hapeville. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at Grady hospital.

20 The death of the negro marked the 20th fatal traffic accident within the city limits since the first of the year and the third this month.

Edgar was driving north on Juniper street when his machine struck a car driven by Frank Barnett, negro, of 945 Palmetto avenue, hitting it broadside and hurling it to the sidewalk, police reported.

After talking with a patrolman, Edgar left the scene in another machine. A few moments later, a witness told police, an unidentified man took the liquor from Edgar's car and threw it into a sewer. Patrolman R. R. Davis found the liquor, according to police.

Both cars were sent to the police garage. Edgar's was marked "hold for whisky."

BIDS ARE AWAITED.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 21.—(UP)—Bids will be received April 30 for construction of a state tubercular hospital, to cost approximately $650,-000 and to be located on a 60-acre tract near Orlando. Ross Watson, superintendent of the state institutional improvement program, announced today.

ICKES MAY TESTIFY IN UTILITIES TANGLE

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Brisk legal tilts ending in announcement that Secretary Ickes would be asked to testify climaxed efforts of private power companies in the district supreme court today to have PWA loans to build public uitlities declared unconstitutional.

Jerome Frank, chief of government counsel, said Ickes would be called after he repeatedly had clashed with Dean Acherson, representing private industry, on admissibility of testimony by witnesses for the Alabama Power Company.

The Alabama company and the Iowa City Light & Power Company, the Oklahoma Utilities Company and Texas Utilities have joined in five combined suits to restrain PWA and treasury officials from advancing $2,908,-000 in loans and grants for the construction of public power plants in Florence, Decatur, Sheffield, Tuscumbia, Russellville, Guntersville and Hartselle, Ala.; Iowa City, Iowa; Plainview, Texas, and Hominy, Okla.

2 PERSONS KILLED IN ALABAMA CRASH

FORT PAYNE, Ala., April 21.—(AP)—Two persons were fatally injured and four others hurt early this morning when the automobile in which they were driving overturned on the Birmingham highway six miles south of Valley Head. The dead: Miss Nettie Mosley, 21, Fort Payne, and Harrison Palmer, 45, Fyffe, Ala.

The injured were listed as Miss Ethel Isom, 20, of Lookout Mountain, near here; Orville Gilbreath, 29, Idar, Ala.; C. K. Potter, Fyffe, and Oliver Lacey, 25, of Fyffe.

DEMOCRAT ELECTED.

MIAMI, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—C. O. Wright, Miami attorney and former counsel for the state road department, was elected president of the Young Democrat Club of Dade county today. Wright succeeds George M. Okell Jr., who resigned recently to run for the legislature.

EXPLORER HONORED.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—The American Geographical Society tonight presented its David Livingstone centenary medal to Lincoln Ellsworth, polar explorer, "for special achievement in the field of geography of the southern hemisphere."

JOSEPH WOLF GROUP TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Democratic Convention Must Decide of Delegations From Minnesota.

ST. PAUL, April 21.—(AP)—Blanket indorsement of the New Deal and election of 26 national convention delegates pledged to support President Roosevelt for renomination were unanimously voted by the state meeting of Joseph Wolf democrats today.

Wolf, national committeeman, pleaded for party harmony in the face of action taken by another wing of Minnesota democrats who two months ago held their own convention, elected national delegates pledged to Roosevelt and planned to pick a slate of state candidates.

The Wolf convention, where most of the 3,042 seats were occupied, and the opposing assembly, led by Congressman Elmer J. Ryan, John Regan and Joseph Moonan, each has insisted the other was meeting "illegally."

The national convention will be called upon to determine which group of 26 delegates shall be seated at Philadelphia in June.

CLARK ASKS NATION TO BACK ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Inviting comparison of the "reactionary policies" of past republican administrations with "democratic achievements," Senator Clark, democrat, Missouri, tonight asked the American electorate to choose between "Roosevelt or reaction."

In a radio speech, Clark said the issue in the November elections would be whether Americans "desire to return to reactionary policies which led to the tragic disasters of the Hoover administration or follow the path of progress and recovery under Franklin D. Roosevelt."

"The democratic party," he said, "submits its case upon its record of achievement. The test of this administration must be the effect of its enactments upon the well-being of the country, and a comparison between conditions as they were in March, 1933, and as they are today.

Columbus Wins Opening Game From Peaches

LUTHER WILLIAMS FIELD, MACON, Ga., April 21.—A lot of baseball ghosts came trooping back today as the old Sally league came out of its baseball grave and took its place once more in the lineup of organized leagues.

NAP RUCKER.

Missing since the 1930 season, the old league that fathered three of the greatest players the game ever knew and a host of lesser stars, returns to the baseball wars with an excellent chance of again becoming a substantial minor league.

Look at the old names:

Ty Cobb comes out of the mists of 30 years ago. He was a raw-boned, lithe farm boy from Royston, Ga. He was destined to become the greatest baseball player the game ever knew, leaving so many records there can be no argument, on the record, as to the identity of the game's lone superlative product.

After him comes another tall figure. They called him Shoeless Joe Jackson because he played his first baseball barefooted. He could hit as few men could. He was destined to go to the heights and then be cast out of the game in the great baseball house cleaning begun by the Black Sox scandal.

Nap Rucker follows, nominated by the late John McGraw as the finest left-handed pitcher in baseball, follows from the shadows of the old years of this league. He rounded out an honorable career and is now honored in his home city of Roswell with the office of mayor.

And in the earliest years there was Billy Smith, manager here in 1904 and 1905. He won pennants in those years. And in 1906 he took most of his Macon team to Atlanta and managed that team to a pennant.

You may see Billy Smith here now looking out from the faded old pictures, a handsome old bartender style "dauber" hiding part of his face. It was enough to make a dozen or more of the cute little things which Herr Hitler wears.

Gabby Street, Kiki Cuyler, Lloyd Waner, Arkie Vaughn, Al Lopez and Ben Chapman. The story runs on. They all played in the old league.

And today it returns with a new supply of youngsters. There may be another Cobb, Rucker or a Jackson or a Cuyler somewhere in the lineups of these two teams, Macon and Columbus, that start here this afternoon.

GEORGE WHITTED.

George Whitted manages the Macon team. He was in the old Sally league in 1912.

In 1914 the Boston Braves needed a man. They were in last place. George Whitted joined them on July 4. That day the Braves started a drive which placed them with baseball's immortals and gave to their manager the title of "The Miracle Man." That was George Stallings who took the team from last place on July 4 to a championship.

Today in the crowd present for the opening game there was an attractive lady sitting with a group of friends. She was Mrs. George Stallings, who manages the Stallings farm near Haddock. There are 40,000 peach trees on that farm. Other farmers and peach growers may ask for government relief. But there are no government forms filled out at the Stallings farm. It stays in the black.

George Whitted went from the Braves to the Phillies in 1915. And that year the Phillies won their one pennant. George Whitted has a great personality, is a good manager and should give Macon a great ball club this season.

Macon, disappointed so often by failure to organize the league in the past five years, should warm up to this return with Whitted at the helm.

FOR COLUMBUS.

Columbus has a part in the history of the old league. In 1904 and 1905 when Billy Smith was winning pennants here, he had a tall, thin first baseman named Jim Fox.

Until this year the Columbus teams were known as the Foxes because Jim Fox went there and organized baseball.

This year the Columbus entry is a part of the vast Cardinal chain system with Eddie Dyer as manager.

Dyer was a Cardinal pitcher until a tendon pulled in his arm. He developed Ducky Medwick, Paul Dean and others on the present list of Cardinal stars.

OPENING DAY FEATURES.

Macon's baseball parade featured the umpires today. They rode in an old one-cylinder car of ancient vintage.

And behind them came an ambulance. And in the early part of the game when the base umpire called two close ones against the home nine it appeared likely he might need the services of the ambulance.

Umpire Ben Levin has one asset many umpires could use. He is practically deaf and cannot hear what the

Crackers and Vols Battle to 4-4 Tie

Darkness Halts Contest in Tenth; Bayne and Vandermeer Each Give Up Nine Hits.

By Jack Troy.

SULPHUR DELL, NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 21.—A sudden cold wave descended upon Sulphur Dell this afternoon as the Crackers and Vols battled through the first extra inning game of the season. It was called at the end of the tenth because of darkness with the score, 4 to 4.

Left-handed Billy Bayne worked the full 10 innings for the champions. He was very effective especially in the pinches. The Villainous Vols were able to get only nine hits, which was the same number the Crackers secured off John Van der Meer in seven innings.

Lord Byron Speece relieved Van der Meer, a left-hander who has everything but control, and turned our nine back in one-two-three order for the remaining innings.

Only a walk marred Bayne's work over the last three innings. He also turned them back in order after walking Dwyer in the eighth. It so happens that Umpire Eddie Ainsmith's decision that Manager Lance Richbourg interfered on a play at the plate in the third prevented the Vols from getting what might have been the winning margin. O'Malley came sliding into the plate and knocked the ball out of Bayne's hand. Bayne was covering home. Richbourg, who previously had gone out on a play at the plate, crowded in and Ainsmith ruled it interference after a lengthy conference.

UNPOPULAR .

As the fight writers say, it was an unpopular decision in the estimation of the Vol followers.

The Vols had two men on and two out and were prevented from scoring by great fielding and throwing of the baseball by the Champions.

The old punch in the pinch, plus Bayne's great pitching, featured the game.

Bayne Is Praised By Eddie Moore

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 21.—Billy Bayne pitched the Cracker pitching problem away on the wings of the chilly wind in Sulphur Dell today, in the belief of Manager Eddie Moore.

"I was sold on Bayne from the start," Eddie said. "We didn't waste any time getting him, you know, when the news came through that he had been made a free agent by Memphis.

"Billy demonstrated today that he can go out there and pitch with the best of them. He simply emphasized the faith I always have had in him.

"We are not looking for another pitcher. Bayne will win for us."

GEORGIA MEETS 'Y' STARS TODAY

The Y. M. C. A. swimming team is scheduled to meet the University of Georgia swimmers this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. As the Georgia swimmers boast a strong team this season the competition will be keen with the "Y" mermen favored to come out on top.

After losing only two meets this season the "Y" team is in top form and expects to make a fine showing in the approaching southern "Y" swimming championship meet.

Adam Comorosky Sent to Hospital

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—The Nashville baseball club lost one of its most valued outfielders, potentially, today when Adam Comorosky was sent to a hospital after an attack of intestinal influenza.

Comorosky had been out of the lineup for several days with a strained shoulder, but was about ready to reenter the lineup when stricken.

Thomasville Beats Albany; Moultrie, Tallahassee Score Win.

ALBANY, Ga., April 21.—Thomasville rejoined Albany and Americus in first place of the Georgia-Florida league here this afternoon, taking the long end of a 12-9 count from the local Travelers with a seventh-inning rally that netted five unearned runs. While Americus was losing, 8-6, to the Moultrie Packers.

Timely singles by Ferrell and Letchas and a home run with one on by Fernandez accounted for a majority of the visitors' runs, while Kratzer was the big gun of the Traveler attack.

Although outhit, the Packers bunched blows in the first, third, fifth and ninth innings to total eight runs from Davis Holds Macon Club to Four Hits; 1,500 Attend.

LUTHER WILLIAMS FIELD, MACON, Ga., April 21.—Columbus scored a 7-to-1 victory over Macon this afternoon with 1,500 fans present to see the return of Sally league baseball to Georgia.

The old league, abandoned in 1930, returns with six member teams, four from Georgia. The Columbus nine, one of the many members of the St. Louis Cardinal chain system, took the lead in the first inning, added two more runs in the third, and scored four in a big eighth inning rally at the expense of Mickey Hernandez, a Cuban lad from Ybor City, in Tampa.

Macon got but four hits off Bill Davis, the tall Columbus pitcher. And the one Macon run was helped along by a most favorable decision at third base in the seventh. Davis went all the way and was never in trouble. Three of the hits were of the infield variety.

Davis' pitching was all the more remarkable in effect because of four errors made behind him by his team. He looked like a good prospect.

Dr. Eugene Wilber, of Augusta, president of the revived Sally, was present. A parade and the appearance of Mayor Herbert Smart as the

SENATORS HELD TO THREE HITS BY BOSTON ACE

Yankees Beat Athletics; Dodgers and Bees Battle to Tie.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(UP)—The New York Giants increased their lead in the National league today by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies in the ninth inning, 7-6.

The Giants had the game won, 6-1, going into the eighth inning when Al Smith blew up and allowed the Phils four runs. Haslin's single in the ninth tied the score, 6-6. Although Manager Jimmy Wilson rushed his ace, Curt Davis, to the mound in the ninth the Giants scored the winning run on Jim Ripple's single, an infield out, and intentional pass and Hank Leiber's single.

HALTED IN 12TH.

In the only other National league game the Boston Bees and Brooklyn Dodgers player a 6-6 tie, the game being called in the twelfth because of darkness. The Dodgers filled the bases in the twelfth on singles by Frey and Lindstrom and a pass to Bucher, but failed to score when Seibert hit into a double play. Both teams scored in the tenth.

Lefty Grove allowed the Senators only three hits as the Boston Red Sox beat Washington, 8-1, in a six-inning game halted by rain. Eric McNair drove in four of Boston's runs with a homer and a single. Joe Bokina and Henry Coppola, young Washington pitchers, allowed nine hits, and gave up seven base on balls. The victory gave the Red Sox undisputed possession of second place. It was Grove's second win.

The New York Yankees defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-6, but had a ninth inning scare when the A's just failed to tie the score with a four-run rally. Wally Moses' triple drove in three runs in the ninth, and he scored, Leiber and Matuzak. Red Rolfe hit a triple and two singles. George Selkirk's ninth-inning single which scored Rolfe was the winning run.

The other American league games were cancelled because of cold weather.

Pebbles Postpone Their Night Games

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 21.—(AP)—Rain and cool weather that caused postponement of Little Rock's first scheduled night game tonight resulted in Traveler officials abandoning plans for nocturnal competition until the Pebbles return from their next road trip.

Tonight's deferred game will be played as part of a double-header when Birmingham pays its next visit to Little Rock.

GEORGE SARGENT AND RAINWATER TO QUALIFY HERE

Two Entries Assure Atlanta of Sectional Qualifying Next Year.

George Sargent, East Lake professional, and Crawford Rainwater, medalist in the Georgia amateur tourney last year, have entered the sectional qualifying for the national open tournament May 11 on the No. 1 East Lake course, it was learned Tuesday. The entries close next Tuesday and there may be others in line by that time, but at present it looks as though only two will enter from this section.

Entries of Sargent and Rainwater assures the city of the sectional qualifying this year and again next year and also makes it possible for two places to be reserved for the East Lake players in the national open.

Birmingham, Richmond, Va., and Troy, N. Y., have been added to the list for the first time, with Madison, Wis., Greensboro, N. C., and Jacksonville, Fla., being added last year for the first time.

This will be the 11th open championship for which sectional qualifying rounds will be conducted in various sections of the country. In 1924 there were only the eastern and western districts. Another was added in 1925, with the list increased to 17 in 1926.

There was some doubt that Atlanta would be assigned two places this year, but with Sargent and Rainwater already in, Atlanta is certain to be represented again this year.

Emory Golfers Lose To Davidson Team

Emory University's golf team dropped its fourth match of the season Tuesday afternoon, yielding to the visiting Davidson linksmen by the slender margin of one point, 9 1-2 to 8 1-2, in a hotly-contested match over the Druid Hills course.

Crawford Rainwater and Jack Bothamley led the Emory aggregation in their efforts, defeating Charles Snow and Ralph McClelland, 2 1-2 to 1-2 and 3 to 0, respectively, in the singles matches. Charles Ross, Davidson star, won three points from Ray Menkee, of Emory, and George Cowan defeated Marvin Smith, of Emory, 2-1, in the other singles play.

In the doubles competition, Rainwater and Bothamley downed Snow and McClelland, 2 to 1, while Ross and Cowan cinched the match for Davidson by underscoring Menkee and Smith to win 3-0.

Atlanta Dog Still Leads Prize Hounds

KINGSPORT, Tenn., April 21.—(AP)—Stone J. Crane's Red Wings, from Atlanta, maintained his margin in the Derby casting event of the Southeastern Foxhunters' Association today to lead the field of prize hounds into the final day of competition.

Twenty-five points back of the Atlanta ace in second place were Red Laura, owned by the Riley brothers, of Bluff City, Tenn., and Holston Klipper, entered by Dr. F. E. Beck, of Pikeville, Tenn.

The final cast of the Derby event will be held tomorrow followed by the foxhunters' ball Wednesday night. Thursday will begin the all-age competition.

GRANT ADVANCES IN MASON-DIXON AS REESE LOSES

Don Budge, Troubled by Wind and Dust, Barely Wins.

WHITE SULPHUR, W. Va., April 21.—(AP)—Dust got in the eyes of Don Budge, red-haired Oakland (Cal.) star, today, causing him considerable trouble in winning his way into the quarter-finals of the 16th annual Mason and Dixon tennis tournament.

Budge breezed easily through his first set with R. McElvenney, of Washington, without losing a game. Then the high wind and dust caused him to lose the next, 6-8. He took the third set and match, 6-3.

Other seeded stars moved up with Budge. The veteran Texan, Wilmer Allison, captain of the Davis cup team, beat Carl B. Grawn, Grouse Point, Mich., 6-1, 6-3. Wilmer Hines, of Los Angeles, put out Clifford B. Sutter, of New Orleans, 6-2,6-1.

Hal Surface Jr., of Kansas City, was erratic in his control but eliminated F. B. Lawrence, of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-4.

Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, beat R. O. Kelleher, of Forest Hills, 6-3, 6-4. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, beat Roland McKee, of Dayton, Ohio, 6-2, 6-3, and J. Gilbert Hall, of New York, put out M. Rainville, of Montreal, former Canadian Davis cup player, 6-3, 6-3. Gene Mako, of Los Angeles, beat W. B. Reese, of Atlanta, 6-2, 6-1.

PETRELS MEET DIXISTEEL TEAM

Dixiesteel and Oglethorpe baseball teams will clash at Glenn field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in a practice game that promises a close score.

Oglethorpe will probably use Lefty Archer on the mound while Roy Shoemaker will likely be Dixiesteel's choice.

Dixiesteel won the Commercial league championship last year and has a faster team this season.

Thursday afternoon Dixiesteel will play Warren Company on the Warren diamond in another practice game. Leonard Mayo, Dixiesteel pitching ace, will probably face Warren.

Warren Nine Wins Sixth Straight, 12-3.

The Warren Company annexed its sixth straight victory yesterday be defeating the Dixisteel boys, 12 to 3. Behind the seven-hit pitching of Tom Harper, Lefty Eidson hit a homer with two men on, and then in the fifth Dick Dodgen hit a homer with one man on. Leading hitters were Pope and Barnes, who collected three blows each for the winners and J. D. Patterson, who collected two hits for the losers.

The Steel boys expect to get revenge Thursday on the Warren Company diamond when they journey there for a return game.

WAGNON'S RUN BEATS FLORIDA

ATHENS, Ga., April 21.—Playing a tip-top offensive as well as defensive game, Captain Henry Wagnon came home on John Rucker's double to untie a three-inning deadlock and enable the Georgia Bulldogs to take the second game from Florida, 7-6, in the ninth inning today.

Wagnon's record for the day showed he scored three runs, garnered a homer a double and a single, and drove in four runs and made six putouts in center field.

G. M. A., Bullpups Tie on Track, 61-61

ATHENS, Ga., April 21.—Track teams representing G. M. A. of College Park and the Georgia freshmen this afternoon tied, 61-61, in a meet held on Sanford field.

Veals of G. M. A. was individual high point man with 16 1-4 points. The cadet ace won first place in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and in the broad jump. He was also anchor man on the winning relay team. "Bullet Bob" Packard had a good day in the 440-yard run, making the distance in 52 seconds. He was withheld from the dashes due to a pulled muscle.

Purple Net Team Defeats G.M.A., 6-0

Boys' High's crack tennis team smashed through to its 25th victory of the season against no defeats yesterday afternoon by routing G. M. A., 6-0. The feature match saw Russell Bobbitt extended to the limit to beat Lindsey, the cadet ace, who formerly was men's singles champion of Kansas. The scores were 6-8, 8-6, 7-5.

Other results:
Gillespie beat Mathews, 6-1, 6-2.
Selesky beat Cook, 6-2, 6-1.
Drager beat Rogue, 6-4, 6-2.
Selesky and Tenney beat Rogue and Cook, 6-4, 6-2.

PERRIN DEFEATS NELSON IN DUEL

New Orleans Rallies for Victory in Game Played in Cold.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—(AP) Shivering fans today saw Southpaw Bill Perrin, New Orleans hurler, best right-handed Tex Nelson, of Memphis, in a neat pitching duel to give the Pelicans a 2-1 victory.

The Chicks, who hit only six times, scored in the first. The marker looked big as Nelson handcuffed the New Orleans outfit until the sixth inning, when they scored.

Two more hits in the ninth gave the Pels another run.

BULLDOGS MEET EMORY NETMEN

The University of Georgia's tennis team invades Atlanta today, scheduled to meet Emory this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the centennial courts, at Emory.

Leading the visitors will be Aaron Cohn, of Columbus, and Albert Jones, of Atlanta, the latter a former Boys' High star. Cohn will face Bobby Wyatt, Emory's undefeated singles artist, and No. 1 netman.

Emory Netmen In Athens Play.

Crawford Rainwater and Jack Bothamley Jr., ranking players on Emory's intercollegiate golf team, will enter the southern intercollegiate tournament beginning this week at Athens, it was announced Monday by Graham Golson, golf manager.

Both of the delegates are Atlanta products and are ranked among the leading players of the city. Rainwater has had considerable tournament experience.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 21.—(AP)—Seventy-eight midshipmen today were awarded their letters for participation in winter sports at the academy.

The letters will be presented to the athletes during the June week ceremonies.

Stuhldreher Joins Big League Mentors

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP) Harry Stuhldreher, named athletic director and head football coach at the University of Wisconsin today, is the third of Notre Dame's famous "Four Horsemen" to reach the so-called coaching "big league."

Elmer Layden, fullback of the combination, now is Notre Dame's director of athletics and football mentor, and Jimmy Crowley, one of the halfbacks, directs Fordham's football destinies. The fourth member, Don Miller, running halfback, is a practicing attorney in Cleveland.

O'Mahony and Brown Meet Here Tonight

Danno O'Mahony, the broth of a lad from old Ireland who won the heavyweight wrestling title of our brave land, is to be in tour town tonight.

He wrestles Orville Brown tonight at the baseball park in the first outdoor show of the season with Henry Weber in charge.

O'Mahony was tossed into one of wrestling' national storms when he was declared the loser in a match with Dick Shikat a few weeks ago. The referee said O'Mahony "gave up" while in the grip of a hammerlock. The Irishman said the referee could not understand his, O'Mahony's brogue, and that he was not giving up.

The whole thing is in federal court with Shikat now enjoined from wrestling because of a contract which another manager claims he owns.

At any rate, O'Mahony goes along claiming the title and refusing to surrender the belt.

He meets a tough man tonight and Henry Weber, calling from his sickbed, arranged with Charley Rentrop, the veteran promoter of Memphis, to come to Atlanta to referee this first of the big outdoor matches planned for Atlanta.

"Why have they not listed my match as a part of the Dogwood Festival?" asked Weber yesterday morning. "That's why I arranged to have the champ here."

RENTROP ARRIVES.

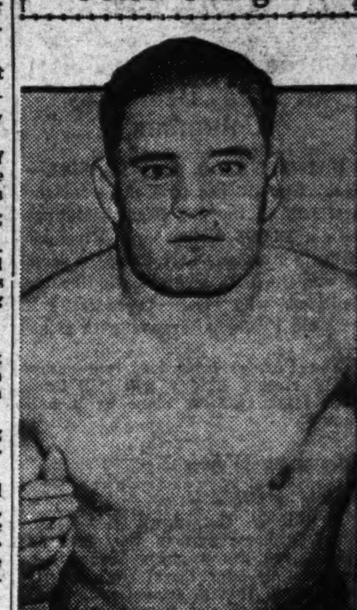

Rentrop arrived last night. He will handle only the main event. It will be a 90-minute limit match.

The opening bout, featuring Frank Speer, Atlanta and one of the most rugged men in the game, will see Speer attempt to pin big Jack Morgan in the 30-minute limit provided.

It is an excellent card and a good one to inaugurate the outdoor season.

Here Tonight

DANNO O'MAHONY.

irate players and fans have to say in comment on his umpiring.

And four beautiful young Macon peaches rode in the parade as sponsors.

In the stands was Tom Finney, ardent baseball fan despite the fact he has been blind for 20 years. He never misses a game in Macon and so acute is his hearing he knows from the sound of the ball about where it was hit and whether a hit or an out. He has his little joke in chiding the umpires about their bad eyesight.

Muse's "Dogwood Nubs"

The Cloth You Recognize Instantly By Its Nubs

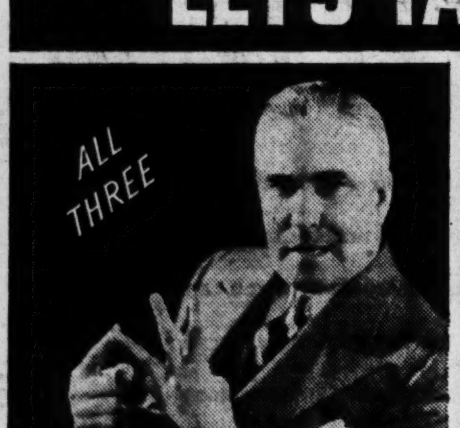

$35

Just as the dogwood tree is known by its bark, this fine Muse suit is recognized instantly by its "nubs"—little tufts of yarn in contrasting color on backgrounds of marine blue, tan, blue-gray or platinum gray . . . featuring smart stripes, glenplaids and other new designs.

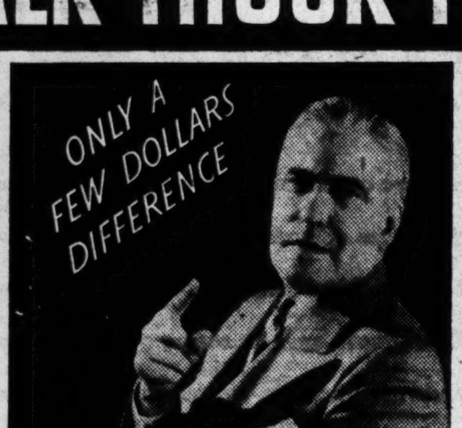

Many stores would feature the Dogwood Nubs suit at a higher price, but we consider it a value leader as well as a fashion leader, and proudly price it at $35 in all models —single breasted or double breasted, regular jackets or sport way jackets.

LET'S TALK TRUCK PRICES!

Yes, it pays to look first at the price when you compare America's three lowest-priced trucks. Many truck buyers are literally amazed when they see how close together the delivered prices are!

One way or the other, there is only a few dollars difference today between any corresponding models of the three lowest-priced trucks. This is especially true when wheelbase is considered.

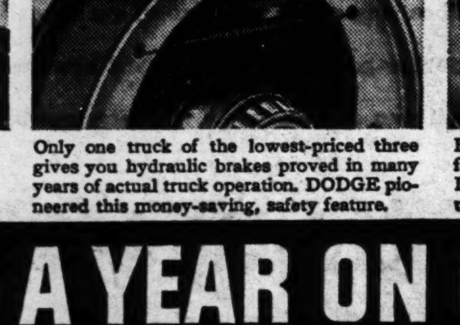

This means one thing sure! You don't need to consider price at all today when you compare lowest-priced trucks. Just get a "show-down" on features. Figure what you get for your money.

NOW COMPARE VALUES

Only one low-priced truck engine gives you exhaust valve seat inserts, full-length water jackets, aluminum alloy pistons, 4 piston rings, spray-cooled exhaust valve seats, oil cooling. That truck is DODGE!

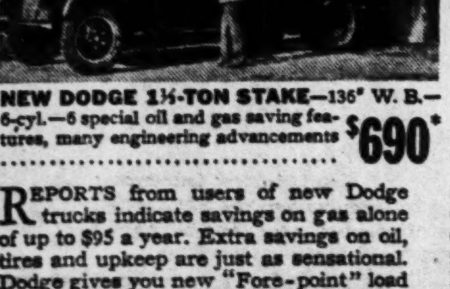

Only one truck of the lowest-priced three gives you hydraulic brakes proved in many years of actual truck operation. DODGE pioneered this money-saving, safety feature.

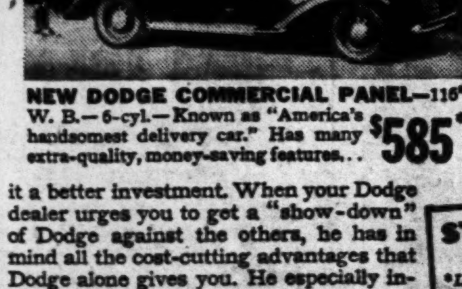

Full-floating rear axle is another of the many quality features pioneered by DODGE in low-priced trucks. DODGE introduced the full-floating rear axle to save upkeep expense, make your truck more dependable.

Tech High Cinches First Position in Big Eight Standings

SMITHIES BEAT RIVERSIDE NINE IN SLUGBEE, 12-8

Monroe Beats Boys' Hi; G. M. A. Beaten by Columbus.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 21.—Tech High cinched first place for the first half of the Big Eight standings with a 12-to-8 victory over Riverside Military Academy here this afternoon. It was the fifth straight win for the Smithies, who close the first-half schedule Friday afternoon with Boys' High.

The Purples have lost two games and a victory Friday will still leave Tech High in first place by a half game.

Monroe Wins Only Victory.

MONROE, Ga., April 21.—Leatherwood's home run in the sixth inning paved the way for Monroe's 6-to-5 victory over Boys' High, of Atlanta, here this afternoon in a semi-final game of the first half of the Big Eight schedule. It was Monroe's only victory of the league thus far.

Hyder also hit well for the Aggies, while Dye and Perkerson hit best for the Purples.

The Aggies play G. M. A. Friday in Atlanta; Porterdale, there, Saturday, and Riverside here next Tuesday afternoon.

Columbus Rallies To Defeat G. M. A.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 21.—Columbus Industrial rallied in the closing innings today and defeated G. M. A., of Atlanta, 12 to 10 in a semi-final game of the Big Eight schedule. It was Columbus' second win against three defeats and closed out the home schedule. Columbus will be idle Friday and will play all the remaining games away from home.

Fulton Wins Third Straight.

Fulton High won its third straight victory in the North Georgia Interscholastic conference with a 12-to-6 decision over Decatur Tuesday afternoon. The win gave Fulton a firmer hold on first place in the standings as the first half of the split season nears an end.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 21.—Lester Lowrey, husky left-hander, limited the Cordele Reds to six scattered hits here this afternoon and hung up the first shutout victory of the season as the Tallahassee Capitals turned back the Reds, 8-0.

With the exception of a let-up in the ninth frame, Lowrey was never in danger.

CRACKERS

der Meer then walked Lipscomb, forcing Hamel home.

A great catch of Hill's drive by Richbourg after Hamel walked sort of prevented more serious difficulties on the Vol side. As it was, the Crackers got only that one run in the first.

GALVIN DOUBLES.

The Crackers got another run in the third. Harris singled and Galvin, catching today in place of Paul Richards, slapped a double, scoring Harris.

Those Nashvilleans had done no scoring up to this point. They hit Bayne pretty hard to score three runs. It was the veteran left-hander's only bad inning.

Rodda singled and McGhee scored him with a double. The next two batters went out. Outlaw then singled, scoring McGhee. Scharein's triple scored Outlaw.

The third Cracker run was scored in the fifth when Harris tripled and Galvin again drove him home with a single.

The final Cracker tally came in the sixth. Browne singled and moved up on a wild pitch. He went to third on a fielder's choice and Hamel drove him home.

VOLS TIE SCORE.

The Vols got the tying run across in the seventh. Blaemire, hitting for Richbourg, singled. O'Malley sacrificed, and Rodda scored Blaemire with a single.

An so the game went on from this point. Despite the bitter cold, the veteran Billy Bayne, who is staging a remarkable come-back with the Crackers, seemed to gain strength.

Lord Byron Speece was also very effective in a relief role. And so it may be put down as a moral victory for Billy Bayne. He outpitched Van der Meer and held his own with Speece.

At any rate, Billy Bayne deserves worlds of credit for his pitching performances today. It ranks as the best pitching the Crackers have had so far.

GALVIN PRODUCER.

Jim Galvin continued to drive in the runs when they were needed. And so did Al Browne. They accounted for three between them, Galvin having two.

Dave Harris hit two singles and a triple his first three times up. He was the batting leader with three for five. Galvin was next with two for four, including a double. Buster Chatham also doubled in the fourth, but expired on third.

The Crackers will meet the Vols again tomorrow afternoon. Manager Eddie Moore may pitch West or Miller. Or he may resort to Uncle Bud Thomas, the Virginian.

Ahearn, who is on the way, will hurl for the Vols if he gets here in time.

Cotton States Loop Opens Season Today

JACKSON, Miss., April 21.—(AP)—The Cotton States league, successor to the East Dixie league of 1935, opens a 130-game schedule tomorrow with appropriate festivities in the offing at Jackson, Miss.; El Dorado, Ark.; Helena, Ark., and Greenville, Miss.

Though operating under a new name, the league finds the same clubs lining up at the barrier for the start of the 1936 season, with a majority of the clubs reporting bolstered teams.

Four of the clubs, Pine Bluff, Greenville, El Dorado and Greenwood, begin the season with new skippers.

The league is strengthened this year by an increase in the player limit per club from 14 to 15, and a raise in the salary limit from $1,200 to $1,300 a year.

Women's Tourney Will Open Today

A one-day medal play tournament for women members of the Capital City Country Club will be played at 9 o'clock this morning. Handicaps will apply and Willie Livingstone, assistant professional, will be in charge of the tourney.

GENE GAILLARD HAS 66 TO TIE ANSLEY RECORD

Qualifying Score in Spring Tourney Will Not Go in Records.

Gene Gaillard tied the Ansley Park course record Tuesday afternoon with a 66 in qualifying for the annual spring handicap tournament at Ansley Park. The tie will not go into the records, however, as winter rules are in effect during the tourney.

Gaillard got his par on the first hole, found trouble at the second, but came back with birdies at the third, fourth and fifth. He finished the first nine with a 34, one under par. He was even with a par on recorded birdies on every hole on the back nine for a 32.

Gaillard's card:

Max Schmeling Arrives---In the Pink

By Eddie Brietz.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—A supremely confident Max Schmeling came back to New York today on what may be his last pugilistic mission to the United States.

"It is now or never for me," he said, as the sleek Bremen steamed up the bay. "I know I will never get another chance in an important bout here unless I can beat your Joe Louis. That's what I intend to do."

The German and Detroit's sensational "brown bomber" are to meet in the Yankee stadium in June for the right to battle James J. Braddock for the heavyweight title in September.

"I don't say I'll knock Louis out, but I'm sure I can defeat him," he went on. "I regard him as a very good fighter. But he isn't unbeatable. He has never been called upon to face a man who would trade punches with him.

"I saw pictures of his fight with Baer and I told myself 'theer is my man.' Then I came over here and saw him beat Paulino. And again I told myself, 'there is my man.'

"You could tell from the pictures Baer was badly frightened. So were Primo Carnera and pool old Paulino. Here is one fighter who will not leave his fight in the dressing room."

The black "Uhlan" was accompanied only by Max Machon, his trainer. He was met at Quarantine by Promoter Mike Jacobs, of the 20th Century Sporting Club; Manager Joe Jacobs and a near record turn-out of boxing writers, photographers and newsreel men.

Max said Anny Ondra, his film star wife, may come to New York a few days before the fight but that she will not see him in the ring against Louis.

Although absent from the ring since he operated on Paulino in Berlin last July, Schmeling looks to be in good trim. He weighs 192 pounds, just four more than he plans to scale against Louis. He is heavily tanned from much golf and road work on his Baad-Saarrow estate.

Schmeling will spend the next several days visiting prospective training camp sites. Early next week he may go to French Lick, Ind., for two weeks of golf with Machon and Joe Jacobs. He expects to get down to hard work not later than May 10.

Braddock Praised By Harry Wills.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 21.—(AP) Harry Wills, former leading negro heavyweight boxer, described Champion James Braddock today as "the most underrated fighter who ever stepped into the ring."

Wills, here on business, told interviewers that the champion "is a swell puncher and he can take it."

"Has he got any chance against Joe Louis?" he repeated the question. "Yes he has. And if he doesn't beat Joe, well, somebody else will turn the trick before long."

Who that "somebody" is, Wills said he didn't know, "but I do know he'll be a counter-puncher."

Buford Defeats Kincaid, 6 to 3

BUFORD, Ga., April 21.—A three-run rally in the sixth inning enabled Buford's Shoemakers to defeat Kincaid Mills, of Griffin, 6 to 3, here this afternoon. It was the third straight win for the locals over the visitors.

Rec McSwain with a home run and double was the outstanding hitter of the game. He sent a run across the plate ahead of his circuit drive in the fourth and came back in the rally with a double.

Grady Bassett, former West Dixie league star, limited Kincaid to seven hits and kept them well scattered except the seventh inning when the visitors scored two runs.

GRANVILLE WINS JAMAICA PURSE

NEW YORK, April 21—(AP)—Granville, bay son of Gallant Fox and William Woodward's main hope to repeat Omaha's 1935 victory in this year's Kentucky Derby, ran to a smashing triumph over Willis Sharpe Kilmer's highly-touted Ned Reigh at Jamaica today.

Granville paid 3 to 2 to win, Ned Reigh being the 11-to-10 favorite.

GREYHOUND Lines

The odds are always against you when you gamble with your eyesight. Of course you would not intentionally risk anything so precious as your eyes or those of your family. But thousands, unthinkingly, are doing exactly that, because of poor lighting. It's a gamble in which you can't win, any more than you can beat the infamous "shell game." ¶ Nature made eyes for seeing out of doors in the daylight. But most of us nowadays live and work indoors and we do not stop our reading, sewing, working when the sun goes down. Give a thought to proper lighting in your home. Perhaps the light by which your children study is below standard, without your realizing it. Maybe you suffer headaches and physical fatigue without knowing they are caused by eyestrain, because you "can see things plainly enough." ¶ Don't take chances with your eyesight, when you can so easily and inexpensively have safe, proper lighting. Proper lighting means sewing, reading, writing, and performing other visual tasks under lights that are softly diffused, glareless and restful to the eyes, and at the same time of sufficient intensity to minimize strain. ¶ Scarcely one home in ten is properly lighted, even for READING. You don't need to take it for granted that YOUR OWN home is in the safety zone. Quickly and without any cost to you, one of our Home Lighting Advisors will tell you exactly how much light you have at any point in your home—and how much you SHOULD have. Just call our store for an appointment to suit your convenience. And remember—this advisory service is FREE.

GEORGIA POWER COMPANY

TODAY'S LIGHTING

In the perfectly lighted living room, the soft glow from indirect lamps is used for decorative purposes as well as to provide perfect vision . . . the same easy vision that comes with the natural light of day. Proper lighting is a science in itself, born of the days when light from unshaded bulbs threatened our vision. It is a science that has brought comfort to millions of eyes, because it has shown us that eyes require different light for different tasks, and told us just how much and what kind of light is required for each. It is the science of Better Light for Better Sight.

Grand Opera Will Be Heard By Hundreds of Visitors to City

By Sally Forth.

ONCE again Atlanta is the Mecca for hundreds of visitors journeying here to hear grand opera sung by stars whose voices have brought them fame. When the magnificent crimson curtain lifts Friday evening for the premiere of "Aida," the vast audience will include countless visitors to the city for the Dogwood Festival, as well as hundreds of local music-lovers. The out-of-town guests will also provide the inspiration for numerous dinner and supper parties to be given before and after the performances.

Important visitors arriving today to be present for opera's opening performance are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brown Gossett, of Charlotte, N. C. They will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson at their Pace's Ferry road residence and this evening they will be honor guests at a buffet supper at which their hosts will entertain.

Returning to her native city for Atlanta's gay festival week is Mrs. Stuart Hill Jones, the former Sally Cobb Johnson. En route from her Miami Beach home to her Connecticut abode, Mrs. Jones planned her trip in order to be here for this week. She is the guest of her mother, Mrs. L. D. McDonald, at her home on Woodcrest avenue, and she plans to sail early in June aboard the new British liner, Queen Mary, for England, where she will spend the summer. With hosts of other Atlanta friends, Sally Forth hopes that it is a true rumor that the former Sally Cobb Johnson will return here next fall to open her handsome new residence on Valley road.

Another former Atlantan whose love and appreciation of music caused her to time her annual visit to Atlanta for this week is Miss Louise Dooly, who came down from Asheville. Sally recalls that in former years when the Metropolitan Opera Company spent a week each year in Atlanta that Miss Dooly never missed a performance and her criticisms of the presentations appearing in The Constitution were read with keen interest.

Important among the younger visitors is Anne Dickinson, of Nashville, Tenn., who is the guest of her cousin, Eleanor Gray. Eleanor and Anne were popular figures attending the supper-dance last evening given at the Biltmore hotel in connection with the Dogwood Festival. The Nashville belle is a frequent visitor here, where she enjoys as much social prestige as she does in her native Nashville. Bessie Walker Callaway, of LaGrange, is another popular visiting belle and with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Callaway, she will be an admired figure attending the opera performances this week-end.

Eastern visitors receiving much social attention as guests of Dr. and Mrs. Lon Grove are Mr. and Mrs. Webb Hilbert, of Katonah, N. Y. Other New Yorkers in the city being feted are Mrs. Clarence Mitchell, the guest of Mrs. William Sutherland, and Mrs. Charles Cotterill, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilby.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Garrard are entertaining a quartet of Alabama visitors, the group including Mesdames Thomas Burke, Mitchell Alley, William Ruffel and Malcolm Fort. Motoring to Atlanta from their home in Tuskegee, the foursome plan to remain for opera and will return to Alabama on Sunday.

Cincinnati, Ohio, is represented here this week by Rev. and Mrs. Maxwell B. Long and their daughter, Anne. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Aiken, parents of Mrs. Long, who is the former Kitty Aiken. Distance was not considered when Mrs. Cora Ashton, of Salt Lake City, and Mrs. Reed Callister, of Los Angeles, decided to spend this gala week in Atlanta. They are guests of Mrs. LeGrande Richards and are being tendered many social affairs during their stay.

Prominent among the list of Georgia visitors is Mrs. E. R. Hodgson, of Athens, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bolling Jones on Peachtree Battle avenue. Mrs. Hodgson was accompanied to Atlanta by Mrs. Hugh Gordon, of Miami, who is also the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

Sally could continue to name interesting visitors here for the Dogwood Festival and grand opera performances, but the chroniclings of the week's gay social program limits the space of this column. But to each and every visitor Sally Forth extends greetings, and wishes a happy stay for them within Atlanta's portals.

THE regular procedure of events was slightly reversed at the lovely reception which followed the wedding of Rosalind Ware and Robert Reynolds, of Kingsport, Tenn. For Mary Hudmon, one of the bridesmaids, cut the bachelor's button from the beautiful wedding cake, and Larry Chaffee, of Chicago, a former Emory student, drew the thimble.

Clare, Rosalind's attractive younger sister, drew the engagement ring, and Bradley Reynolds, the groom's brother, of Bluefield, Va., received the wedding ring. Lalia Napier, another bridesmaid, cut the boat, which is supposed to mean a rapidly approaching trip to parts unknown, and Robert Mizell collected the dime, an omen of riches. Rosalind was quite worried later when she realized that, in her effort to slip away unnoticed, she forgot to throw her bouquet, which is now reposing neglected on the back porch of her home in Druid Hills.

Meeting Postponed.

Queen Esther chapter, O. E. S., has indefinitely postponed Adah's night, which was scheduled for this evening.

Request Is Made To Junior League.

Junior League members are requested to turn in their stubs, money and unsold tickets for the Junior League carnival ball which takes place this evening, to Mrs. G. F. Willis Jr., ticket chairman, who will be at the Driving Club today from 10 to 5 o'clock.

Luncheon Is Given For Miss Hancock.

As a complimentary gesture to Miss Florence Hancock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hancock, of Cartersville, whose marriage to Melbourne Martin, of Miami, will be a brilliant event of May, Mrs. Madison Bell and Mrs. Gus Ashcraft were hostesses at a luncheon yesterday at the Bell home in Cartersville.

The luncheon table was centered with a silver bowl of pastel-shaded spring flowers, and place cards carrying out the bridal motif completed the artistic decorations. Guests were Misses Anna Elizabeth Hancock, Belle Meador, Mesdames John McCord, O. L. Von Cannon, Donald Haucock and the hostesses.

Long—Douglas.

BARNESVILLE, Ga., April 21.—The marriage of Mrs. Zede Horne Long, of Barnesville, to Norval C. Douglas, of Atlanta and Toronto, Canada, took place Sunday at the home of Elder W. W. Childs in Yatesville in the presence of Miss Remel Horne, sister of the bride, and of Hunter Long, the bride's young son.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund G. Horne, of Barnesville. Before the bridegroom's residence in Atlanta, where he is in the publishing business, he was in the Royal Air Force of London, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas left for Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will make their home in Atlanta.

Attractive New York Visitor

Mrs. Webb Hilbert, of Katonah, N. Y., who, with Mr. Hilbert is receiving much social attention as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Lon Grove at their home on Habersham road. Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert are among the most important and attractive of the Dogwood Festival visitors. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

Mrs. Cotterill To Be Honored During Visit to Mrs. Wilby

Among the interesting visitors in the city who are an added attraction to the festivities planned for the Dogwood Festival and who are receiving much social attention is Mrs. Charles Cotterill, of New York city, who arrived yesterday to the guest of Mrs. Robert B. Wilby at her home on Tuxedo road. Mrs. Cotterill made her home in Atlanta until five years ago and is receiving a cordial welcome from a host of friends on this, her first visit here since going to New York for residence.

Mrs. J. M. Oliver will entertain at luncheon and bridge today at her home on Winslow drive as a complimentary gesture to Mrs. Cotterill and her hostess, Mrs. Wilby. Invited to meet them are Mesdames St. Elmo Massengale, O. B. Keeler, Poole Maynard, Richard Darby, Virgil Shepard, Hal Voorhis, Wilbur Blackman, Roy Booker, Howard Canfield, Jack Lester, Lena Brittain, Sam Johnson, Robert Mitchell and E. P. Hardwick.

This afternoon Mrs. Eugene Ruffner will be hostess to a group of friends at the cocktail hour at her home on Argonne drive, honoring this visitor. On Thursday Mrs. Scott Allen will entertain at a bridge-luncheon for Mrs. Cotterill at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Mrs. Carling Dinkler has planned a luncheon for Friday and on the same day Mrs. Goodloe Yancey will be hostess at a small informal tea at her home on Springdale road.

Mrs. Poole Maynard will be hostess to a small group of friends at luncheon at her home on Myrtle street on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Hal Voorhis will be hosts Saturday evening at a buffet supper at their home on Clifton road honoring Mrs. Cotterill.

Mrs. Wilby invited a group of friends of Mrs. Cotterill to meet her at tea yesterday.

The beautifully appointed tea table was covered with an imported lace cloth and graced in the center with an arrangement of garden flowers in a variety of tints. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Goodloe Yancey and Mrs. Jack Pierson.

Women Voters' Body Sponsors Luncheon, Lecture Thursday

Department of international cooperation of Atlanta League of Women Voters will sponsor a lecture and luncheon at the home of Mrs. Walter Cain, 2520 Memorial drive, on April 23 at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Harold Jordan, chairman of the department, announces that Mose Harvey, of the department of history of Emory University, will speak on "Public Opinion and International Relations." Those having belonged to the group and their friends are invited to attend. There will be a nominal fee for the luncheon to be served immediately afterwards. Reservations may be made by phoning the office of the Atlanta League, Walnut 6111, any morning.

A new study group was started yesterday at league headquarters, announces Mrs. Harvey Morrow and Mrs. H. M. Kulman, chairmen. The group planned an intensive study of educational conditions and the first speaker was Mrs. R. L. Turman, who discussed "The Setup of local, state and national education." This course of study has been requested by a large group of women anxious for knowledge of the present conditions, but the group meetings are open to anyone who desires to attend, as this is a part of the regular league service to the citizens of Atlanta and its environs.

Mrs. Trenton Tunnell, leader of the group studying good government, announces that at the fourth meeting of the group, "National Government" will be the subject, and Mrs. L. J. Hollister will speak. Members of the group and their friends are invited.

Mrs. J. D. Thomas, director of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, calls attention to the fact that registration closes May 2 and she urges all members to register.

Boston Attorney To Speak Here.

Miss Hannah Goldberg, young attorney of Boston, Mass., will address a joint Junior and Senior Hadassah meeting at the Ansley hotel today under auspices of Atlanta Unit of Junior Hadassah. Miss Goldberg, who is serving her second year as national vice president of Junior Hadassah, is one of the leading young Zionists of this country and is a brilliant speaker.

Miss Goldberg, who will speak in many southern cities in addition to Atlanta, will present a picture of life in modern Palestine and of the part that thousands of American Jewish girls, through Junior Hadassah, take in the upbuilding of the Jewish homeland.

Miss Goldberg will bring the message of Zionism, its practical work in Palestine and its cultural enrichment to Jewish life everywhere in the world. Mrs. George Alterman, president of the local unit of Junior Hadassah, will preside at the meeting.

Walker-Preston Betrothal Announced.

MACON, Ga., April 21.—Mr. and Mrs. D. Albert Walker announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to John Gray Preston.

Miss Walker graduated from Miller High school, Macon, in 1931, and received her A. B. degree from Wesleyan College in 1935.

Mr. Preston is the son of Mrs. John R. Preston and the late Mr. Preston, of Binghampton, N. Y., and Clearwater, Fla. He graduated from Clearwater High school in 1930 and received the degree of B. S. in electrical engineering from Georgia Tech in 1935. He is a member of the honor society of Phi Kappa Phi.

Mr. Preston is now a member of the engineering staff of radio station WMAZ in Macon. The wedding will take place in June.

Benefit Party.

The Legion of Honor Club of the Yaarab Temple Legion of Honor will hold a benefit-bridge party for the benefit of the tornado relief fund on Thursday from 12 to 4:30 o'clock in the Spanish room of Yaarab temple, entrance in the Fox theater lobby. Luncheon will be served by the ladies of the Legion of Honor, starting promptly at 12 o'clock, and the bridge party will follow the luncheon. Tickets are 50 cents each and many valuable prizes will be given.

Junior League's Gay Carnival Ball Features Day's Festival Program

The Piedmont Driving Club presents a spectacle of brilliance and carnival gaiety today as the stage is set for the Junior League Carnival Ball which takes place this evening from 9 until 2 o'clock, climaxing the day of varied entertainment of Atlanta's Dogwood Festival. Red and white triangular streamers hang from the high ceilings of the foyer and beautiful ballroom of the driving club, and great posters containing caricatures of the typical carnival freaks have replaced the formal panels of the loggia. Many other notes, reminiscent of the carnival and midway, are also expressed in the bright decorations which were arranged by Mrs. J. P. Garlington and her committee.

A group of popular Metropolitan Opera stars will be special guests at the ball, adding gaiety and interest. Among the group to be present are Joseph Bentonelli, Giovanni Martinelli, Dusolina Giannini, and others of the company who are here for a series of three operas on Friday and Saturday.

Special arrangement has been made with Vincent Lopez, who with his orchestra, will furnish music for the evening, to amplify the music so dancing can be enjoyed on the open air terrace adjacent to the ballroom. Other special musical features have been arranged for the evening, and specialty numbers added for the floor show.

The midway will be located on the north veranda and members of the league, in bright costumes, will preside at the various booths.

Barkers will hold sway with their gay banter at the entrance to the side show, which will include eight attractions, peep shows, freaks, dancers and other features. Robert F. Maddox Jr. will be master of ceremonies and will keep the entertainment moving at swift tempo in the ballroom. Mrs. Charles Tuller's committee has arranged for these interesting features.

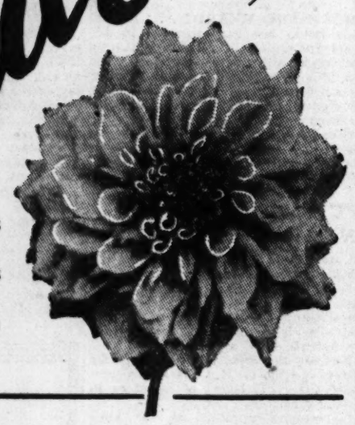

A special committee headed by Mrs. Tom Cassels will be in charge of dainty refreshment nooks. Mrs. Francis Gilbert's committee has secured 400 prizes that will be given, including a radio, a week-end trip to Sea Island for two with all guest privileges, and other beautiful gifts. The grand prize will be a complete summer vacation trip to Bermuda for two people, the trip to be made by air to New York, and all arrangements at exclusive hotels in New York and at Elbow Beach in Bermuda.

Due to the greatly increased sale of tickets, which indicate that more than 1,500 will attend the event, facilities for dancing have been increased to include the south terrace and other sections of the driving club. The occasion will be informal and will provide the highlight of fun and hilarity for the day's full program.

Mrs. Newman Hostess.

Mrs. N. O. Newman entertained the Witches Club with a bridge-luncheon at Peacock Alley on Friday. The tables were decorated with snapdragons and carnations. The prize for top score was won by Mrs. J. C. Wittmond and consolation by Mrs. Joseph Regenstein. Plans were made for the bridge benefit to be sponsored by the club at the Southern Dairies on May 13 at 2:30 o'clock. All those desiring to make reservations please call Mrs. McLean at Dearborn 3583, or Mrs. Poole at Hemlock 6280. Among those present were Mesdames R. S. McLean, E. E. Huguley, J. C. Wittmond, Joseph Regenstein, Odis Poundstone, W. E. Carnes, W. K. Wyant, John H. Bradley, W. C. Cottongim, Collier Laird, E. Dudley Van Frank, A. M. Turner, Harry G. Poole Jr., J. M. White, Lloyd N. Smith, I. R. Banks, Cecil Alexander and Mrs. Newman.

PROTECTIVE FOODS ESSENTIAL TO HEALTH.

"Eat what you want after you have eaten what you should." That is the advice of Dr. E. V. McCollum, a leading scientist in the field of nutrition. In reducing, this dietary rule is more important than ever, for in a restricted menu it is first necessary to include the protective food elements. Otherwise they may be left out.

IDA JEAN KAIN.

By this plan you are assured of fruits, leafy vegetables and milk, likely to be lacking in a restricted menu. After you got these foods, you may eat what you wish within your calorie allowance.

This may not be your idea of dieting, for most overweights strictly shun milk and follow the breadless-potatoless path, in the fixed belief that starch is the root of all avoirdupois and that milk is a food for gainers. We all know people who wouldn't think of touching these three foods . . . but they never seem to get an ounce slimmer. But does this make them doubt the method? Not at all! They hang all the blame on the family tree.

A pint of buttermilk or milk with the cream removed will never make you fat, and it is one of the best foods you can include in your menu, for skimmed milk and buttermilk contain just as much calcium (one of the most important minerals) as whole milk, and only half as many calories.

Also, you should include in your daily diet three or four slices of whole wheat bread for vitamin B. A reducing diet may easily be deficient in this vitamin, and while this deficiency for a short period is probably not harmful, if prolonged indefinitely it will lower resistance and vitality.

As to potatoes: One of average size potato is just 100 calories, and no more fattening than 100 calories of any other food. The lowly potato should not be spurned in a reducing diet, for it is high in mineral salts.

Here is the list of foods which must be given precedence daily in all menus:

Milk: One pint of skimmed milk or buttermilk for overweights, one pint of whole milk for normal weights, and one quart of whole milk for children and underweights.

Cooked vegetables: Two servings in addition to a potato, which may or may not be included. One of the vegetables should be green leafy.

Raw vegetables: Two servings to supply bulk and vitamins. The reducer may use almost unlimited amounts of raw vegetables.

Fruits: Two fresh fruits, one a citrus.

Bread and cereals: Include in the form of whole grain products.

Butter: One and one-half tablespoons for reducers, liberal quantities for underweights and children.

Follow Dr. McCollum's advice. "Eat what you should first," and it will be easier for you not to eat what you shouldn't.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I married the father of two lovely children and wanting them to love me I believed I could put it over. We have got along fairly well and never have any words but the oldest boy makes unkind remarks about me behind my back which hurts me deeply. There is four years' difference between the two boys and the older is inclined to mistreat his younger brother. I refrain from interfering as long as I can but it often becomes necessary to put a stop to the fight. I am sure the older one needs to be spanked but feeling sorry for him I substitute a mild punishment: depriving him of his candy which I always keep in the house for them. My friends tell me that he accuses me of "picking on him" and he also tells his father lies about the discipline. I must have failed without knowing how or when because I had my heart set on doing the right thing and winning the love of both boys, I am trying to be a good mother, but it is very hard. Sometimes I consider running away from the situation. I need some guidance.

A READER.

Answer: You might have a heart-to-heart talk with the two boys, explaining that you love them equally and want them to love you and since your attempt to settle their squabbles is getting you in bad, you have decided to leave all the discipline to their father, letting him decide who is right, who is wrong and what the punishment is to be. This will lay the burden squarely where it belongs, run your stock up and put the quietus on the tendency of the older boy to carry tales to his father.

One stepmother who tried this plan of refusing to discipline her husband's children found that it worked like a charm. The boys and girls grew up to love and respect her. She was friend and counselor to them and that's all. You see the mere desire to love and be loved by stepchildren is not enough, though this is certainly the first essential to a successful relationship. The sensitive, censorious child is a trial to his own parent and it takes not only mother love but good judgment as well to deal wisely with him. It is too much to expect of any woman but the child's mother, that she can absorb the humiliation of having him criticise her to outsiders and tell fibs on her to his father without her becoming prejudiced against him and somewhat bitter about the position he puts her in. Then when the time for discipline comes, she can't avoid being swayed by her natural desire to get even, to show the young rebel who holds the reins. The conscientious stepmother doesn't put any of this into words. She probably doesn't recognize the emotions that sway her. But she is human and with all her good intentions toward her "steps" she reacts as any other human being will react to injustice at the hands of child or adult.

How much better for a woman faced with this hard problem to withdraw from disciplining the children than to run away from her duties as wife and homemaker for the family.

Things That Make Women More Beautiful

A Violet Perfume With Which to Scent Artificial Flowers Perfectly

By MIGNON.

Maybe you have been reading about the comeback that is being staged by the modest little violet. Through a play produced some years back, the innocent little flower came into bad repute, and was used as a sign of something objectionable. That memory is gone now, and, as the violet never was to blame, it has come back into its own in great shape, forgetting the slander. Violets are being worn for corsages throughout the country as they never have been before.

There are women who cannot wear flowers well, because they wither on them almost immediately. For this reason, artificial flowers, which are being made more beautifully every day, have come into vogue. Velvet violets made of three different shades bunched together are being used a great deal, also the one color single violets, made of silk or cotton cloth. Perhaps the loveliest of all are the double English violets with their pale lavender color.

The thing to do is to buy a bottle of one of the most exquisite violet perfumes ever put upon the market, a scent that one never tires of, and which is the very soul of the beautiful flower. It is made by a company in New York, and the wife of one of the officials in the concern never uses any other perfume. I happened to be in their manufacturing establishment one day when she called up to order more of it and I immediately became interested.

This is not a violently expensive perfume, but I swear to you that if you saturate a bunch of artificial violets with it, no one will suspect, unless he or she touches the bouquet, that the flowers are anything but real. This is a smart trick—try it.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column phone Mignon at The Constitution. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, in which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Culbertson on Contract

By ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

ENTRY TROUBLE.

"Entry trouble" is one of the most prevalent of all bridge maladies and is responsible for the painful death of many a contract. It is particularly vicious because it is so difficult to anticipate and guard against in the bidding. Often a perfectly legitimate contract goes on the rocks for lack of one vital entry.

At other times the trouble is more apparent than real. Entries not always are aces and kings; not always plainly visible. If a desperate need exists a declarer must go to great lengths to discover an entry that may be lurking in the bushes.

The penurious policy of conserving a high card, when to do so cost him an entry in the dummy, accounted for the declarer's defeat in the hand shown below:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 no trp	Pass	3 no trp	[final bid]

South's opening bid probably was motivated by the fact that he considered himself a player far superior to his partner. His play of the contract did not verify this opinion. North's raise was slightly shaded; he, too, probably admired South's game.

West opened the fourth highest spade, dummy played low, and East put up the ace. Now, on the very first trick, declarer made a fatal error—he followed with a low spade. East, after serious consideration of the bidding, made the good return of the heart jack. Declarer won and led the ace and another diamond. But he now was playing a lost cause. West ducked the second diamond. East won with the king and continued hearts. When the third round of diamonds lost to West's queen, two good hearts promptly were cashed and the contract was down one trick.

Had South's excellent opinion of himself (as indicated by his unorthodox two no trump opening bid) been warranted he would have brought home not eight but ten tricks! The king of spades should have been thrown on East's ace with neatness and dispatch. It was apparent that if East should shift to hearts, two entries in the dummy would be necessary to establish the diamond suit before both heart stoppers were removed. In other words, South could not afford to give up two diamond tricks and the only logical method of establishing the suit with one trick loss was to lead twice from the dummy, finessing each time in the closed hand.

With the king of spades out of the way South could have finessed dummy's ten for one of those vital entries. As a matter of fact there would have been only a slight risk in this procedure, since East hardly would have put up the ace, holding the jack as well.

With the favorable adverse lay of diamonds the proper method of play would have given South two spade, two heart, four diamond, and two club tricks.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Has the 4-5 no trump convention been superseded by the new asking bids?

Answer: No! Both now are integral parts of the Culbertson system. They do not conflict with each other; each has its separate and vital sphere.

On the Air Today

RICHARD BONELLI — The Metropolitan baritone, Richard Bonelli, will be guest artist with the orchestra and chorus directed by Andre Kostelanetz heard over WGST at 8 o'clock tonight.

The popular baritone's selection to open the broadcast will be the dramatic prologue to Leoncavallo's opera, "I Pagliacci," and later in the program he will sing "Out of the Night."

RAY NOBLE'S ORCHESTRA—The tuneful music of Ray Noble and his orchestra with Connie Boswell as soloist will be heard over WGST at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

Connie will sing "Love Came Out of the Night," in addition to Al Bowlly's solos. Noble will offer a group of melodies which will include "You Hit the Spot," "Shooting High," "Let Yourself Go" and that popular new tune, "Yours Truly Is Truly Yours."

BURNS AND ALLEN—Amusing comedy galore will be offered by irrepressible Gracie Allen and George Burns during their program with Jacques Renard's orchestra heard over WGST at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Renard and the orchestra will present "Awake in a Dream" and "The Right Somebody to Love."

RESEARCH TALK

Advertising Club To Hear Henry G. Weaver.

Henry G. Weaver, advertising research authority and winner of the 1925 Harvard advertising research award, will be principal speaker today at the luncheon-meeting of the Atlanta Advertising Club, to be held in the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Weaver will discuss the practical psychology of advertising response. James W. Petty Jr., president of the club, will preside.

Mrs. Virginia Gouedy and Mrs. James E. Fuller head the woman's committee in charge of the program.

Roast skunk, fried devil fish, roast dog, broiled snails, broiled honey ants, fried locusts, cat kidneys, minced crow pie. All these are eaten regularly by some of the world's human inhabitants.

For Bridal Couple.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jewett entertained last evening honoring Miss Mary Collis Gregory and her fiance, Sidney B. Jewett, at a buffet supper following the rehearsal of their wedding.

The decorations for this occasion featured the bridal motif. Spring flowers in yellow and white were arranged in baskets throughout the house. The table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a silver bowl filled with bridal wreath, narcissus and white flags. White tapers burned in silver candelabra.

DeKalb D. A. R.

The Baron de Kalb Chapter, D. A. R., will meet on Friday at 3 o'clock, with Mrs. C. H. David, Rockbridge road, Avondale Estates. Mrs. W. H. S. Hamilton will assist Mrs. David in entertaining. The program, arranged by Mrs. R. T. Gillespie, will consist of a talk on peace by Miss Sarah Catherine Woods, a senior of Agnes Scott College, and a group of readings by Mrs. Albert Sidney Johnson, a charter member of the chapter. Mrs. Walter Estes, the regent, has called a board meeting at 2:45 o'clock. Members who wish transportation may call Mrs. Minor Franks, Dearborn 1736.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Jr. To Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady Jr. will entertain at an informal party this evening at the Piedmont Driving Club, preceding the Junior League carnival, honoring the chairmen of the ball and their husbands.

The guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Everard Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tuller, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Willis, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Garlington, Mr. and Mrs. William Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McCarty, Mr. and Mrs. John Ottley Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pegram Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Foreman, Mrs. Francis Gilbert and the hosts.

B. O. J. Entertains.

The B. O. J. Club recently entertained at a leap year theater party followed by a gathering at the home of Miss Hannah Hardman. The officers and members of the club are: President, Miss Pearl Rubin; vice president, Miss Florence Levine; recording secretary, Miss Dorothy Boss; corresponding secretary, Miss Hannah Hardman; treasurer, Miss Sylvia Barnett, and Misses Helene Kantor, Trilby Stein, Mildred Cohen, Miriam Davis and Lenora Bierman. Those invited were Harry Weber, Sam Glass, Dave Silver, Louis Cohen, Zack Lifchez, Ted Swimmer, Mike Wasserman, Lester Frank, Joe Postel and Louis Mazier. The chaperons were Miss Dorothy Davis and Dr. Nathan Blass.

"SPENDING" NAMED AS MAJOR ISSUE

Institute of Public Opinion Asks Voters "Why" of New Deal Stand.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Analysis of thousands of ballots cast in a special poll conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion shows that the campaign cry which may be most popular with republicans is: "Stop government extravagance." The democratic favorite is: "Roosevelt helped the common man."

Not content to ask voters merely whether they approved or disapproved the New Deal, the Institute asked each voter to tell why.

"Too much spending" was the No. 1 reason given by citizens who are against the New Deal and who intend to vote for a republican president.

"Roosevelt helped the common man" led all reasons given by voters who favor the New Deal and who would vote for Roosevelt's re-election if the election were today.

There you have the chief issue of the campaign as it appears to citizens today: Has spending been wasteful, or has it been worthwhile?

Triple-A, NRA and the handling of unemployment and relief were specific phases of the New Deal approved by voters in this poll who today classified themselves as democrats.

Voters who disapproved the New Deal, in addition to what they termed "wasteful spending," disliked regulation of business, disregard of the constitution and dictatorial government.

Christians can and do become Jews. Judaism welcomes converts, and at various times its proselytizing was as militant as that of other charges.

J. C. MAYSON FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for J. C. Mayson, 47, who died unexpectedly after a heart attack at his home, 2412 Piedmont avenue, Monday will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Rock Spring Presbyterian church, with the Rev. Richard T. Gillespie officiating. The board of deacons of the church, of which Mr. Mayson was a long-time member, will act as an honorary escort. Burial will be in Sardis cemetery.

Mr. Mayson, a member of a widely known family, for many years was superintendent of the Piedmont yards of the Randall Coal Company. He was a member of Masonic Lodge No. 107, Bolton chapter, and a member of the Atlanta commandery of the Knights Templar.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Mayson; a son, John C. Mayson Jr.; two brothers, P. T. Mayson and C. W. Mayson, and two sisters, Mrs. A. C. Cates and Mrs. T. S. Satterfield.

Services at the grave will be conducted by Sardis Lodge No. 107, F. & A. M.

MRS. NOLA E. KUGLAR PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Mrs. Nola E. Kuglar, widow of the late Dr. R. M. Kuglar, prominent Conley physician, died yesterday at her residence at Murray Lake, near Conley, at the age of 67.

She is survived by four sons, C. M., P. R., Murray and Harold Kuglar; a daughter, Mrs. M. L. Myers, and a sister, Mrs. T. E. Kuglar.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Forrest Park Baptist church. Burial will be in the Forrest Park cemetery with Awtry & Lowndes in charge.

6 JUDGES MENTIONED TO SUCCEED RITTER

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Speculation as to a possible successor to Federal Judge Halstead L. Ritter, of Florida, is current here with a number of names mentioned.

Judge Ritter was convicted by the senate on Friday of impeachment charges brought in the house and removed from office.

Among those mentioned were six Florida circuit judges—Worth W. Trammell, of Miami, brother of Senator Park Trammell; Millard Smith, of Titusville; H. F. Atkinson, of Miami; Elwyn Thomas, of Fort Pierce; Paul D. Barns, of Miami, and C. E. Chillingworth, of West Palm Beach.

One-Man Protest Hampers Air Service

IOWA CITY, Iowa, April 21.—(AP)—Frew A. Tucker's cows were quite contented today.

So was Tucker. But the community paid for the prevailing peace by being deprived of the services of a Transcontinental Air Line for the 32d consecutive day.

Opponents got out an injunction against that. So Tucker reared a 24-foot stick March 20 and topped it with a red flag. United Air Lines officials termed the post dangerous. They cut Iowa City off their route pending elimination of the hazard.

Four airport employes were transferred to other points. All radio, weather and plane servicing activities were halted. Now only two staff men remain.

City officials hoped to circumvent the difficulties by asking WPA funds to finance a 625-foot runway extension.

WEED PACT MEASURE IS PASSED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—The senate today passed without a record vote the Kerr bill authorizing states to enter compacts to control production of tobacco. The measure, already passed by the house, goes back to that body with minor amendments.

The measure specifically grants congressional consent for the states of Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia to enter into compacts, but opens the way also for agreements among other leaf-growing states.

The six states involved, growing flue cured, burley and dark fire cured tobacco, must adopt identical control legislation before the proposal becomes effective. Virginia already has enacted a model statute.

An amendment by Senator King, democrat, Utah, was adopted to prohibit the states from price-fixing or establishing tobacco monopolies under the compacts.

SOUTH CAROLINA PASSES CONTROL BILL.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 21.—(AP) The senate passed and sent to the house tonight a tobacco crop control bill after amending it, its sponsors said, to render it ineffective for the 1936 crop.

An amendment by Senator McEachin, of Florence, to eliminate a provision to include Georgia in a proposed compact of states by a voluntary agreement for control of the 1936 crop was adopted.

Senator Paul Quattlebaum, of Horry, whose motion to table the McEachin amendment failed, 16 to 8, said of the amendment: "It has the effect of making the bill non-operative for the 1936 crop."

McEachin, from a tobacco-growing center, said of the proposal to admit Georgia under a voluntary agreement: "Voluntary agreements are not worth the paper they're written on and you know it."

RITES FOR MRS. BATES TO BE HELD AT BOWDON

Funeral services for Mrs. W. A. Bates, Carroll county pioneer, who died Monday at the residence of a daughter here, at the age of 77, will be held today at the Poplar Springs church, Bowden, Ga. She had been a member of that church for more than 50 years.

Mrs. Bates resided here with her daughter, Mrs. E. T. Stallings, at 321 Candler street, for the last three years. Burial will be in the Poplar Springs churchyard with J. Austin Dillon in charge.

N. Y. URGED TO RATIFY CHILD LABOR LAW

ALBANY, N. Y., April 21.—(AP)—Governor Lehman called upon the legislature today to ratify the federal child labor amendment "in fairness to the children of the state and nation."

The Governor expressed the "earnest hope that the great Empire state will lead the way for the remaining 12 states" whose action is necessary for complete ratification.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT HITS NEW DEAL POLICY

Republican Leader Urges Co-operation With Democratic Party.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt Jr., accepting the presidency of the National Republican Club for the third consecutive term, tonight urged the republican party to invite the co-operation of the "hundreds of thousands of democrats who think as we do."

"Let us make common cause with them," he said, "let us invite them to fight side by side with us for the democracy we love, let us assure them not merely that we will welcome their aid but that when we triumph we will invite them to a place at the council board."

He made this plea at the conclusion of a speech in which he declared democratic government was in jeopardy because through the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt the "government dictates and controls the actions of the citizens and their private lives."

He said it is foolish to contend that the constitution should never be changed or to believe that it is sacred, but that "what is sacred is the principle of democratic government as embodied in it, and he who strikes at this principle strikes at the soul of America."

GOOGE DISCLOSES MILL PROJECTS

Atlantan Declares Mississippi Intends To Complete Four Textile Plants.

PHILADELPHIA, April 21.—(AP)—George Googe, of Atlanta, southern representative of the American Federation of Hosiery Workers, told the 25th annual convention of the federation today that Governor Hugh L. White, of Mississippi, intends to complete four textile mills, begun as WPA projects, with state relief funds.

Work on the mills was ordered stopped by Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins after an investigation disclosed the projects, begun as vocational schools, were to be leased to private corporations, Googe said. The projects are in Lumberton, Brookhaven, Philadelphia and Columbus, Miss.

Alexander McEwan, of Minneapolis, told delegates the Citizens Alliance in Minneapolis, which he described as an "employer organization opposed to labor," had been broken by the unionization of the Strutwear mill after an eight months' strike.

AGED NEGRO SERVANT, JANIE BRADFORD, DIES

Janie Bradford, ante-bellum negro and one of the city's most picturesque negro residents, died Monday at an estimated age of 94. During her entire life she had served in one family.

As a young girl she was a slave of the family of Colonel J. G. Foreacre. When Dr. F. P. H. Akers married Miss Camilla Dillon, relatives of the Foreacres, in 1880, Janie Bradford became their family servant and nursed the Akers children.

She will be buried in the negro cemetery in DeKalb county at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

MRS. HEXTER DIES

Well-Known Atlantan Was Native of Germany.

Mrs. Bertha Hexter, a resident of Atlanta for 22 years and a former prominent member of the Jewish community of Savannah, died yesterday at her residence, 656 Seminole avenue, at the age of 82.

A native of Germany, Mrs. Hexter came to America at the age of 7 with her parents and settled at Savannah. Her husband, the late Simon Hexter, was a member of the Virginia Blues of the Confederate army, and a prominent Savannah merchant.

She is survived by a son, J. S. Hexter, of Chicago; three daughters, Mrs. S. Epstein, Mrs. M. Hyams, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. T. Kreigsman, of New York; a brother, H. Helburn, and two sisters, Mrs. T. Saxe and Mrs. S. Sonneborn, both of New York.

The body was taken last night by Sam R. Greenberg to Savannah for funeral services at the Sipple Brothers chapel with Rabbi George Solomon officiating. Burial will be in Laurel Grove cemetery.

MRS. JAMES HEMBREE, OF STONEWALL, PASSES

Mrs. James T. Hembree, of Stonewall, died Monday night in a private hospital here after a short illness.

She is survived by her husband; four sons, Austin, John Lee, Rainey and Henry Hembree; her father, W. E. Askew, and six sisters, Mrs. Wiley Rainwater, Mrs. L. G. Montgomery, Mrs. Amos Newborn, Mrs. Carl Brock, Mrs. Henry Brock and Miss Myrtice Askew, and two brothers, Burgiss and Charlie Askew.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Campbellton Baptist church with the Rev. Y. A. Brown officiating. Burial will be in the churchyard with Bishop & Poe in charge.

RFC SLASHES RATES ON CATASTROPHE LOANS

Catastrophe relief loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will carry an interest rate of 4 per cent instead of the 5 per cent previously announced, it was announced yesterday by Erle Cocke, manager of the Atlanta RFC agency.

News of the reduction came to Cocke yesterday from G. R. Cooksey, secretary of the RFC board of directors in Washington.

"Numerous applications for such loans have been filed throughout Georgia, particularly in the Gainesville and Cordele storm areas and the Augusta flood district," Cocke said.

Offices of the RFC have been set up in Gainesville for north Georgia and in Cordele for south Georgia for the handling of catastrophe loans.

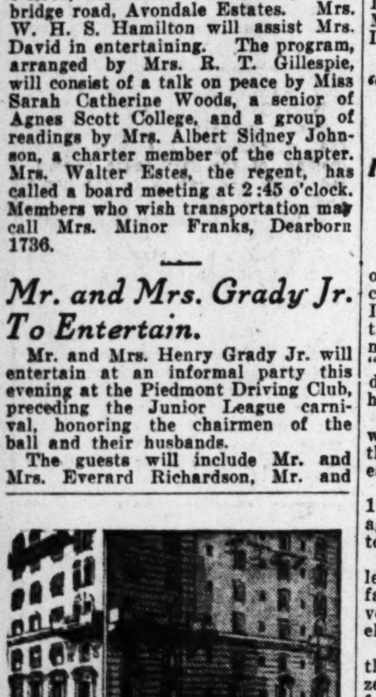

Cocke said the loans are made incident to damage from tornado and floods to business properties, residences and public buildings and can be made by individuals or political subdivisions upon direct application to the RFC.

MRS. W. A. CAMPBELL WILL BE BURIED TODAY

Final rites for Mrs. W. A. Campbell, member of a pioneer Georgia family after which old Campbell county was named, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Owl Rock church.

Officiating will be the Revs. W. M. Suttles, R. H. Hays and J. V. Jones. Burial will be in the churchyard, with Harry G. Poole in charge.

Mrs. Suttles, who was 79, had been in failing health for many months. She was a lifelong resident of the community.

State Federation Executive Board Confers Honor Upon Mrs. Inman

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 21.—Mrs. Samuel M. Inman, of Atlanta, was made life director for service in Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs at the meeting of the state executive board here Tuesday. The honor was conferred upon her by citation in the by-laws for long, distinguished and continued service. Mrs. Inman is chairman of constitution and by-laws and is a member of the nominating committee of 1936, which will make its report Wednesday at the 41st state convention being held in Augusta.

Mrs. Inman's counsel is sought and relied upon by state clubwomen because of her excellent judgment and absolute fairness in making decisions pertaining to every phase of club work. From the social, cultural, and civic standpoint, Mrs. Inman occupies an enviable position in Georgia, and the action of the executive board is another laurel added to her queenly crown.

State's President's Address.

In line with the convention theme "What They Dared to Dream, They Dared to Do," the state president, Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, of Athens, based her address at the opening session Tuesday evening held in Tubman High school, upon "Sawn Ivory and Burnished Horn." She said there two diverse gates through which dreams issued, one of sawn ivory and the other of burnished horn. Dreams fly without fate, and hopes turn to scorn through ivory gates, but dreams issuing through gates of burnished horn are born of virtue and truth. She chose her subject from a passage in Homer's "Odyssey."

"Our enumerations of momentous events are lists of dreams which have been translated into definite action; our roll call of great men and women is but a list of dreamers who have had courage and faith in their dreams," said Mrs. Ritchie. "Together these two comprise a record of those intrepid souls who have dared to dream and what they dreamed they dared to do. The story of the founding of American democracy and the institutions necessarily attendant upon democracy, the every act of the actual founding of our land is the magic story of dreamers and their dreams.

"In these dreams and the movements which grew out of them were certain central themes which have persisted as part and parcel of American ideals. The state leader listed the themes as self-determination of destiny; freedom fettered only by equal rights of others; the right of people to have a free voice in the government of their own creating; equality of opportunity before law; free universal education, and the destiny of America serving as the evangel of human rights as the agent through which democracy should be spread throughout the world.

Theme of Home.

"But," said Mrs. Ritchie, "above all others was the theme of the home, a center from which there should go forth a type of humanity which should be as true and as fine as God intended man to be. Each theme is an enterprise, challenging all the effort and enthusiasm of which a generation is capable. To these themes each age in its turn, has to be dedicated anew.

"The federation, with its enrollment of thousands of purposeful women, always has been stabilizing force, eagerly welcoming the new which bears promise of much good for our people, and holding fast to that which has proved itself worthy in the past. Much depends upon our wisdom in choosing dreams which shall call forth courageous action. We live in our dreams, in our visions, in the purposes we form, and the hopes we cherish," concluded Mrs. Ritchie, who was introduced by Mrs. Edward Clark, president of the Augusta Woman's Club, the hostess organization to the convention.

Wednesday's Session.

The convention swings into action Wednesday at the session held at Partridge Inn, when Mrs Z. I. Fitzpatrick gives the first reading of the resolutions and nominating committee makes it report. Convention committee and standing committee chairmen and state officers will report, and departments to be featured include public welfare, American citizenship, education and legislation. Highlighting Wednesday's session will be the address by Dr. Harmon Caldwell, bachelor president of the University of Georgia.

Mrs. Candler Named A. D. Pi President.

Mrs. John Candler II was elected president of the Atlanta Alumnae Club of Alpha Delta Pi sorority at the April meeting held at Black's tea room. Other officers elected were Miss Mabel Wood, vice president; Miss Virginia Merry, publicity chairman; Miss Martha Brady, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. W. Frank Aycock, treasurer.

Alpha Delta Pi national convention meets at Del Monte, Cal., June 28 to July 5, and two Atlanta girls plan to go to California for the convention and will remain several weeks for some interesting sightseeing. These girls are Miss Ellen Fleming, a debutante of last season and a student at the State Florida College for Women, and Miss Margaret Johnson, a student at the University of Georgia.

Atlanta D. A. R. Celebrates Birthday.

Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, commemorated 45th birthday anniversary recently at Craigie House, home of the chapter, with Mrs. Frances Brown Chase, regent, presidfng. The three-tiered birthday cake was embossed in blue, the D. A. R. insignia, on white background, and on either side blue letters bore the dates 1891-1936, and 45 candles surrounded the cake. Pastel colored flowers adorned the table and were used throughout the house. The cake, a gift of the regent, was cut by past regents or representatives for those who have passed.

The regents cut in succession corresponding to years of their service as follows: Mesdames Henry Jackson, William Dickson, F. H. Orme, Porter King, Jane L. Byers, William G. Raoul, John M. Slaton, Francis Block, Ira Y. Sage, A. McD. Wilson Sr., Mrs. William D. Ellis Sr., Mrs. Thomas H. Morgan, Mrs. Sheppard W. Foster, Joseph Morgan, Samuel D. Jones, James O. Wynn, Joseph M. High, E. Bates Block, Charles F. Rice, David Woodward, Elmer R. Kirk, Charles A. Davis, Bun Wylie, Edwin C. Stewart, Lucius W. McConnell, John William Smith, Eli A. Thomas, Thomas C. Mell, James D. Cromer and Frances Brown Chase.

Mrs. Chase gave a message of welcome to guests and Mrs. Robert B. Blackburn, poet-laureate, read a verse stressing the new piano, which is the outstanding gift of Mrs. Chase's regime.

Mrs. Julius de Give arranged musical program, featuring Mrs. William Elsas, and visitors were Mrs. A. B. Boardman, regent Pulaski chapter, Griffin; Mrs. J. J. Flynt, Griffin, Baron de Kalb chapter, Decatur, and Joseph Habersham chapter, Atlanta.

Orpheus Music Club.

One of the social features of the Orpheus Music Club for April will be a theater party on Saturday afternoon for the Allegro Con Brio group with Anna Mae Farmer Nimick, counsellor of the club, as hostess. The affair will honor Misses Pauline Newman, Shirley Shulman, Frances Yudelson, Frances Klotz, Anita Mazier, Betty Auerbach, Ragolda Jacobs, Selma Piassick, and Miriam Lewis.

North Ave. School Fete Will Feature Novel Exhibitions

The lawn fete and picnic supper to be given at North Avenue Presbyterian school from 5 to 7 o'clock tomorrow will have the added attraction of four worth-while exhibitions. These kodak, nature study, doll and museum exhibits will be open to the public with a small admission fee.

Heading the committees for the entertainment are Mesdames W. B. Burwell, John S. Hurt, George Hoyt and P. A. Partee. In the museum collected by the boys' department of the school will be a sword over 100 years old, which will be displayed by John McEachern. A feature of the doll exhibit is a doll owned by Mrs. George B. Denman, which has passed the century mark in years.

In the rare book "nook" will be the handsome modern Bible of Mrs. Gordon Curtiss in contrast to the century-old Bible belonging to Mrs. John Echols. Mrs. S. E. McConnell has an ancient book on "Mannegs and Etiquette" of bygone years. The Parent-Teacher Association of the school is offering this exhibit as additional entertainment for the Dogwood Festival Week.

Miss Dorothy Malone has planned to enter some kodak pictures of her trip abroad when she attended Camp Eiken in Norway last summer, and Miss Martha Hurt will enter some pictures taken at Daytona Beach, Fla., during the spring vacation. To judge this exhibit, Hal Drake, of the Atlanta Camera Club, will lend his expert opinion. For one of the judges of the doll exhibition, Mrs. Burwell has secured Mrs. Ralph McGill.

Brookhaven Club Will Sponsor Tea

The Brookhaven Garden Club met recently at the home of Mrs. L. B. Whitehead on Woodlawn avenue. Mrs. John Bass was co-hostess and the president, Mrs. J. R. Wright, presided. The club will sponsor a silver tea in the garden of Mrs. J. R. Wright on Colonial drive from 3 to 5 o'clock on April 23. The public is cordially invited.

The civic chairman, Mrs. Hub Huddleston, announced that the Brookhaven Civic Club will meet at the school auditorium today at 7:30 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged and all adults in the community are urged to attend. H. H. Howard, DeKalb county tax commissioner, will be present to give all who wish it an opportunity to register, so that they may vote in the coming primary. Officers for the year will be elected at this meeting. The WPA orchestra will furnish music and a social hour honoring the young people of the community will follow the business meeting. Because of inclement weather, the date of the clean-up campaign will be extended until April 25. An instructive reading on the history of cactus was given by Miss Estelle Lindsey. Mrs. S. Grogan received the door prize and Mrs. Walter Adams, the cactus plant. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. G. H. Blackwell on University drive.

Miss Wing Fetes Phi Chi Thetas.

Miss Christine Wing was hostess at tea at the home of Mrs. D. H. Symmers, 865 Arlington place, N. E., for Upsilon chapter of Phi Chi Theta sorority of the University of Georgia Evening school recently. The tea was given in honor of several girls who are working for commerce degrees.

Mrs. Symmers assisted the hostess in entertaining and Miss Marcia Baker poured tea. Phi Chi Theta colors of lavender and gold were carried out in the mints and cakes served, and the dining table was beautifully decorated with lavender and yellow iris, which is the flower of the sorority.

For Miss Truesdale.

A miscellaneous shower of interest was given recently at the home of Mrs. R. Lee Weimer in Peachtree Hills in honor of Miss Maudie Truesdale. Miss Evelyn Kitchens and Mrs. R. Lee Weimer were joint hostesses. The house was decorated throughout in green and white. After the games, lovely gifts were wheeled in on a miniature wagon by the hostesses who were dressed in corresponding colors. The bride-elect was very lovely in white. Refreshments were served buffet style and the cake was adorned with a miniature bride and groom.

Benefit Bridge.

Plans are being made by the Smillie P.-T. A. for the benefit bridge to be sponsored in Sterchi's tea room today at 2:45 o'clock. Many prizes will be awarded. Other games will be available for those who do not play bridge. Reservations may be made by 'phoning Mrs. J. W. Warwick, Walnut 0068, and Mrs. J. W. Landham, Cherokee 1647. Tickets are 25 cents.

Lenox Park Club President Announces Annual Prize Contest

Three prizes totaling $85 in cash will be awarded. All residents of Lenox Park are eligible to participate and have from now until the middle of June, when the judging will take place, to get their gardens ready.

Gardens will be judged for artistic arrangement for proper maintenance of all grass plots and for the general character and condition of gardens and shrubs.

In previous years this contest has created intense interest among home owners in that section. Many of the beautiful private gardens in Atlanta have been developed in this community.

The competition should be keen. Nearly all homes in the area have private gardens and there also are public gardens and parkways. Its acres of beautiful woods, containing a wide variety of trees, add greatly to its attractiveness.

The cash prizes are divided thus: First prize, $50; second, $25, and third, $10. Three representative members of other Atlanta garden clubs will act as judges.

Registrations are to be made at 1585 Lenox road, N. E., just north of Highland avenue and Rock Springs road.

Exhibits Feature Dogwood Festival

The Atlanta Woman's Club through its president, Mrs. W. F. Melton, and the chairman of the art division, Mrs. W. H. Smaw, is sponsoring a series of art exhibits in the main building of the club. The paintings of Mrs. E. K. Turner, of Emory University, are on exhibit during the week of the Dogwood Festival. Mrs. Turner is an artist of note, and has had her paintings on exhibitions in Florida, Alabama and Georgia.

Her painting of Bullock Hall was chosen among the best paintings on exhibition by the Washington Art Guild, and Mrs. Roosevelt, wife of the President, selected it to hang on the wall of the White House. Bullock Hall is the home of the Roosevelt ancestors. The versatility of Mrs. Turner's art is displayed at this exhibition at the Atlanta Woman's Club. There are landscapes, sea scenes, portraits and flower studies.

Mrs. Melton, president; Mrs. Turner, artist, and Mrs. Smaw, chairman of art, cordially invite everyone to attend the open house in honor of the Dogwood Festival, April 21, from 2 to 4 o'clock, and to view the exhibition.

Miss Gleason Feted At Party Series

Miss Elizabeth Gleason, whose marriage to Gordon Heath takes place on Friday evening at the Oakhurst Presbyterian church, continues to be honored at a series of delightful social affairs, among which is the luncheon which was given yesterday by Mrs. Fred R. Londorme at her home on Stewart avenue, and the barbecue supper, at which Mrs. Lamar Springer was hostess last evening at her home at Jonesboro.

This evening Mr. Heath will be tendered a stag dinner by Thomas Walker and at the same time Miss Gleason will be honor guest at a spinsters' dinner to be given by Mrs. Frank Shipp at her home at Avondale. On Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Robinson will be hosts at a buffet supper at their home on Huntington road prior to the Gleason-Heath wedding rehearsal.

Miss Elsie Van Winkle entertained at luncheon on Saturday for Miss Gleason. Guests included Miss Gleason, Misses Dorothy Smith, Myra O'Neal, and Mesdames W. R. Eason, Weyman Gower, George Cotton, D. N. Landers, E. R. Smith, R. D. Robinson, T. C. Walker and Berman Henson.

Miss Gleason and her fiance were honor guests at a tea given Sunday by Mrs. Norman Harper and Mrs. John Poole at their home on Oakdale road. One hundred friends called to greet the affianced pair.

Others who have entertained in compliment to Miss Gleason are Mrs. J. Harry Helmer and Miss Mary Doris Helmer who were hostesses at tea at their home at Niskey Lake. Their guests included Miss Gleason, Mesdames M. A. Agnew, J. C. Heath, Fred R. Lindorme, J. Homer Thomas, H. W. Ridgley, D. N. Landers, R. D. Robinson, Leon O'Neal, J. H. Helmer, E. E. Parker, Walter Pangborn, Lamar Springer and A. C. Prince.

Peachtree Hills Club.

The Peachtree Hills Woman's Club met Wednesday for a spend-the-day party at the summer home of Mrs. N. A. Garner, at Pine lake. Members will meet at the home of Mrs. Garner on Peachtree Hills avenue, at 10:30 o'clock.

The club is also serving luncheon to the Fifth District Garden division at Sterchi's cinbroom Friday. Those desiring to make reservations may call Mrs. J. H. Phagan, Raymond 0085.

Winthrop Alumnae.

Atlanta branch of Winthrop College Alumnae Association will give a luncheon at Davison-Paxon's tea room on April 25 at 1:30 o'clock. All Withrop alumnae in Atlanta, and also those in near-by towns, are urged to attend. Tickets are 50 cents and reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Richard Gillespie at Hemlock 8534 not later than noon on April 24.

Popular New York Visitors Inspire Gay Social Program

Mr. and Mrs. Webb Hilbert, of Katonah, N. Y., continue to be extensively feted during their visit to Dr and Mrs. Lon Grove on Habersham road, with luncheons, teas, aperitif parties and dinners crowding every day of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert are among the most popular of the Dogwood Festival visitors, their presence providing inspiration for much informal entertaining among their hosts' coterie of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Hitt will entertain a group of the younger married contingent at an aperitif party this evening preceding the Junior League's carnival ball at the Piedmont Driving Club. On Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. Grove will be hosts at a buffet supper honoring their guests at their home.

Mrs. Clement Evans has planned a luncheon to honor Mrs. Hilbert at the Piedmont Driving Club on Friday. In the afternoon of the same day, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neely will entertain at an informal aperitif party at their home on Piedmont avenue as a complimentary gesture to Dr. and Mrs. Grove and their visitors.

On Saturday evening they will be central figures at the party at which Dr. and Mrs. William McDougall will be hosts at the Piedmont Driving Club dinner-dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pottinger entertained at dinner last evening at their home on Rivers road, inviting a few friends to meet Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert. They were guests for tea yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Willet at their home on Tuxedo road.

My Day

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C., Monday.—A day filled with a number of little things, those rather sad, small errands that are the last things one can do at a time such as this, in the hope of making what is at best a heartbreaking moment, a little bit easier for the family.

After lunch I went over to the WPA art project. Mr. Cahill showed me some paintings done by Sam Brown, of Philadelphia, a colored painter who has developed extraordinarily since I saw his first paintings a year ago.

I also saw samples of posters, research in design, water colors, etchings and photographs, all extraordinarily interesting and many of them done by very young people. This gives promise of an artistic future that would perhaps never have been realized without the interest which has been forced upon the government by these years of depression.

I came across a letter today with these words: "I have reached the seventy-fourth milestone of life's journey and find the school a source of much that is worth while, and that is the reason I hope you will use all your influence, with the proper ones, to establish the Hope Street school in Shreveport, La., as a permanent institution."

This school is one of the projects in adult education started under the FERA and continuing under the WPA. It is interesting that in a state which has such a high rate of illiteracy there should be this great desire for continuance of this work.

I sometimes think that the next few years are going to bring us more appreciation of the things of the mind because as the necessities of life are more easily achieved by average human beings, they naturally will put their energies into the appreciation and acquisition of other satisfactions.

"Let Your Stars Guide You"

By BERNICE DENTON PIERSON, Foremost American Astrologer.

"And there shall be signs in Sun and Moon and Stars."

"Atlanta's Who's Who in the Zodiac."

MRS. BELLE BOND.

Mrs. Belle Bond, prominent Atlanta business woman, past international president Pilot Club, member board of directors, woman's division, Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, organizer "Kle" Club, a charitable club, auxiliary to the Elks, was born February 27 under the Zodiacal sign Pisces, the sign of unselfishness, reliability, calmness and determination. The sun position gives her vitality, energy and force, together with strong religious and philosophic inclinations. The sun-Saturn position adds perseverance and tact. Solid force is imparted to the character with organizing ability fitting her for responsible positions. The Mercury position gives an aptitude for studies of a serious nature, adding eloquence, cheerfulness, love of music and an understanding of human nature. The sun position also indicates the true and loyal friend. No inconvenience or sacrifice is too great for her when serving those she loves. The Mars position gives general good health, vitality, intense enthusiasm and the ability to finish undertakings. It gives executive talent and posts of responsibility. The Sun-Jupiter position adds breadth of mind and vision, high altruism. The sun-moon position becomes the promise of honor, health, recognition and a successful life.

Bernice Denton Pierson.

You can get your complete astrological forecast through The Constitution, compiled by Bernice Denton Pierson, one of America's best known astrologers. Mrs. Pierson does not profess the ability to tell fortunes, to foretell the future or to solve personal problems, but she can give you a complete and accurate rendition of the position of the sun and planets at the time of your birth, carefully worked out, according to the strict rules of astrology. All you have to do is to fill in the coupon below, inclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope, together with 10 cents in coin, to cover the mailing, cost. You will then receive through the mail certain pertinent facts which deal astrologically with the sun at the time of your birth, called a sun chart, and with this sun chart, a series of numbers which will enable you to identify the planetary interpretations which will be published in The Constitution each day, dealing with the influence of a given planet on the day of your birth, according to the rules of astrology. When you have checked each of your numbers your forecast will be complete.

Mrs. Bernice Denton Pierson, Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Please prepare astrological forecast, according to the rules of astrology, of the birth date submitted below and return to the name and address given. I enclose:

1. Self-addressed, stamped envelope.
2. Ten cents in stamps or coin to cover mailing cost.

Birthdate .....

Year Mo. Date of Mo.

You may obtain as many astrological forecasts as you wish for your family and friends. There is nothing to do except send in the birth date, address and 10 cents in stamps or coin to cover the cost of mailing, in accordance with this coupon.

Planetary Interpretations.

Below are planetary indications, according to the rules of astrology, one of which may apply to your forecast. Every day these interesting interpretations will be published, descriptive of the influence of the planets at the time of your birth. Your astrological forecast includes a sun chart, and planetary interpretations, designated by numbers on your sun chart. Watch carefully day by day for your numbers.

NO. 862—The indications are that you are drawn toward ventures that have a tinger of novelty or uncertainty. You love to battle with your wits, and the greater the obstacles to be overcome the more fascinating it seems to be. Your best investments would likely be in manufacturing corporations of a substantial nature and municipalities. By diligent application and conscientious effort you will be able to overcome present financial uncertainty. The latter half of your life promises more secure financial prospects.

NO. 510—Overcome your tendency to restlessness and dissatisfaction. Concentrate on the one thing at hand and do it well before venturing on something new. Your best lines of endeavor would be law, medicine, civil service. You have a talent for music and dramatics. Subordinate positions are certainly not for you. You will always aspire to be a leader, and there is no reason why you should not accomplish this.

NO. 310—Your profession should be one that has to do with mental work, such as literature, secretarial work, advertising work. Anything having to do with beautifying the body would be excellent, such as beauty parlor work, selling beauty preparations, etc. Any occupation that has to do with constructive or original thinking would be excellent.

NO. 411—You have a large circle of acquaintances, but few real friends. You will find it more profitable to choose your friends with great care. Your financial prospects in many instances will be improved through such friendships. You need a business associate in your more important undertakings.

Benefit Bridge.

The benefit bridge sponsored by Morningside P.-T. A. to be held at Davison-Paxon's tea room will begin at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The proceeds will pay for the new auditorium curtain. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. O. F. Kornegay, Mrs. T. H. Robertson, or any grade mother or grade finance chairman. As many mothers as can possibly do so are urged to be responsible for one table. Plans have been made for 150 tables.

AVERAGE PRICE.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—(AP)—The average price of middling cotton at seven southern spot markets today was 11.70 cents a pound.

NEW ORLEANS, April 21.—(AP)—Cotton recovered Monday's losses in quiet trading today, advancing from 2 to 8 points to close near the best levels of the day.

The firm tone was attributed to a decline in hedge selling, the approach of first notice day for the spot month and a more constructive interpretation placed on the movement of loan cotton.

May closed at 11.40, up 4 points. July gained 8 points to 11.09, while October at 10.38, December at 10.40, and January at 10.42, were nominally higher.

The most important development during the day was the reports from Federal Reserve Bank cities that cotton was moving rapidly out from the loan holdings. A Washington dispatch stated that the AAA office anticipated the release of 300,000 bales of loan cotton in the next few weeks.

While bookkeeping details of the repossession plan were expected to hold the sales by farmers in check for a little while, operations were said to be imminent.

Spot sales picked up appreciably with 15,029 bales being sold and all Texas markets closed for the holiday.

With first notice day appoaching the trade was paying increasing attention to pool operations in May. The pool was said to be still holding 200,000 bales in this month, and no attempt has been made to liquidate any of them.

Foreign markets were quiet, but steady today.

Port receipts 4,878; week 21,585; season 6,628,244; last season 4,212,839. Exports 15,189; week 44,480; season 5,058,903; last season 3,790,696. Port stocks 1,907,865. Spot sales at southern markets were 15,029; last year 2,631. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston were 52,042; last year 72,895.

N. Y. COTTON GAINS IN ACTIVE TRADING

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Cotton was moderately active and higher today. July sold up to 11.20 and closed at 11.19, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 4 to 7 points.

Exports today 24,175, making a total of 5,318,019 for the season. Port receipts 5,028. United States port stocks 1,902,921.

The Liverpool cables said traders there were inclined to await further developments and attributed the relative steadiness to good trade calling in the near months with offerings light and a continued tight spot situation. Houses with Liverpool connections were credited with buying here on the differences during the earlier trading, while there was buying of new crop months by Japanese interests who were supposed to be fixing prices, or perhaps lifting hedges against outside growths.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—The action of the market Tuesday was about as expected and the rally towards the close was not very convincing. It looks as if a further corrective decline must take place before prices again move forward appreciably.

FENNER & BEANE—Tax bill terms permitting, further rallying tendencies may be witnessed Wednesday but no definite conclusions as to secondary trend yet appears justified.

BEER & CO.—The position of the market at this point is indeterminate. The action over the next few days or so should clarify the situation.

DOBBS & CO.—While Tuesday's rally was somewhat unexpected, it did not succeed in recreating complete confidence about the very immediate future.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—Prospects for rains in the dry sections are somewhat better. Should they materialise wheat would sell off sharply.

FENNER & BEANE—The market is still a weather affair so far as the new crop months are concerned and a two-sided market is likely temporarily but conditions in May wheat appear bullish.

BEER & CO.—If the precipitation overnight in the southwest is not heavier than it was last night the market may develop considerable strength Wednesday.

COTTON OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—Should the liquidation of government loan cotton and improved weather send prices off, we would favor purchases of the distants.

FENNER & BEANE—There seems to be little probability of much change until after the pool begins to liquidate its Mays or hedges increase.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO. TO DOBBS & CO.—Evidently the trade has found no fresh incentives of importance in Tuesday's news and interest has focused largely on the near month situation.

CRASH HURTS FATAL TO DR. R. F. INGRAM SR.

Prominent Atlanta Dentist Injured in Alabama When Auto Overturns.

Dr. Robert F. Ingram Sr., prominent Atlanta dentist, died yesterday in a hospital at Dothan, Ala., of injuries suffered Monday when his automobile overturned on a curve near Headland, Ala. He was returning to Atlanta with a friend, W. R. Leathers, also of Atlanta, from a fishing trip to Florida.

Dr. Ingram suffered a punctured lung and concussion of the brain. He was 73 years old. Leathers was not seriously injured.

A resident of Atlanta for many years, Dr. Ingram resided at 47 Inman circle.

He is survived by a son, Dr. Robert F. Ingram Jr.; two daughters, Mrs. Dan Sage, wife of Dr. Sage, of Atlanta, and Mrs. J. R. Kidd, of Chicago.

The body was brought to Atlanta for funeral services which will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Harry G. Poole. Dr. Richard Orme Flinn will officiate and burial will be in West View cemetery.

Dr. Ingram maintained offices here with his son in the Grant building.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM.
(Copyright, 1936, by United Press.)

NEW YORK, April 21.—(UP)—A flood of good corporation reviews—most of which were given stockholders at annual meetings—improved sentiment in Wall Street today, although the stock market still performed erratically.

The market was steady at the opening, after Monday's sharp shakeout, then churned about nervously until the final hour when short covering and some buying carried prices up to an irregularly higher close. Volume reached 1,880,000 shares. There was no particular zest either on the buying or selling side.

The confirmed bulls contend the present market is nothing more than a correction in a bull market. The bears are as timid as the bulls but point to difficulties abroad—particularly the French economic and monetary situation—the tax bill which was reported favorably by a house committee today and uncertainty over America's own monetary and economic problem.

These are bringing the caution to the market which continued corporation betterment reports are unable to overcome. Reports of stewardship by various executives cast a favorable light on business. Included in these were:

Phelps Dodge Corporation.—Louis S. Cates, president, said: "For the first time in five years I am really optimistic regarding the copper outlook."

American Locomotive Company.—Unfilled orders April 18 totaled $9,500,000, compared with $2,800,000 in the corresponding 1935 date.

Twentieth Century Fox Film Company.—Net profit for the first quarter $1,239,760, compared with $616,806 in the corresponding period last year.

Pennsylvania Railroad.—President M. W. Clement said "our business is picking up with both passenger and freight running ahead of a year ago."

New York Central Railroad.—President F. E. Williamson said "although we expect the usual seasonal diminution in the summer, as far as we know our business ought to exceed a year ago for the next few months."

Northern Pacific Railroad.—President Charles Donnelly said gross revenues for April were running slightly ahead of the 1935 month.

Penn-Dixie Cement Corporation.—President Blaine S. Smith said first-quarter business was showing a definite improvement with shipments 23 per cent ahead of a year ago, sales 30 per cent greater and unfilled orders about 20 per cent greater.

Weather Outlook For Cotton States

PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS COLUMBIA TRADE PACT

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today proclaimed a reciprocal trade treaty with Columbia which will become effective on May 20.

The pact, tenth to take effect in the administration's reciprocal trade program, provides mutual tariff concessions by both countries. Ratifications were exchanged yesterday in Bogota.

The other agreements are with Belgium, Sweden, Canada, The Netherlands, Switzerland, Brazil, Cuba, Haiti and Honduras.

2 ROBBERY SUSPECTS CAUGHT IN GUN BATTLE

KANSAS CITY, April 21.—(AP)—Clarence Sparger and John Langdon, sought by the government for bank robbery and automobile theft, were arrested today after a fierce gun fight near here in which Sparger and a federal officer were wounded. Department of Justice men refused to name the agent.

The Bureau of Investigation said Sparger is under indictment with other members of the Walter (Irish) O'Malley gang, midwest desperadoes, for the $16,685 robbery of the First National Bank of Neosho, Mo., March 2, 1935. Langdon was wanted in connection with the theft of an automobile near Sioux City, Iowa.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—A feverish stock market today struggled, somewhat successfully, to overcome further selling drives.

While there were plenty of declines at the finish, there were also sufficient advances of fractions to 2 or more points to renew the hopes of bullish forces.

The flow of favorable domestic economic news continued with only mild exceptions. But the foreign outlook appeared as unsettling as ever and Wall Street opinions of near-by market trends wer eas mixed as the final prices of equities.

Some analysts seemed satisfied with the action of stocks, as a whole, pointing to yesterday's sharp sell-off as a much-needed correction after the lengthy advance. Others, however, felt that the many good earnings reports may have been discounted and that a further readjustment of quoted values will be necessary before the list attains a "healthy" level.

During the rallying periods of the session the activity was not pronounced. The pace quickened on the intermittent reactions and, at one time, the ticker tape fell behind floor transactions as leading issues yielded fractions to around 3 points or so. In the last hour the tone hardened and many losses were shaded, cancelled or replaced by gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended up .2 of a point at 61.5. Transfers totaled 2,032,490 shares against 1,771,140 Monday.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—There was little unity of action in today's bond market, though price changes were firmly narrow on either side.

The corporate division had some points of strength, but there were also a few spots which were indicative of poor support. United States governments were moderately lower during the greater part of the session.

Traders saw no new influences of fundamental character in the general unevenness of the list. Heaviness in some of the speculative ratings was attributed to the recent upset in the stock market, though today an equal number of such ratings were able to pick up some part of the losses of yesterday.

The general run of prime corporate liens were well taken. On the basis of the Associated Press averages this group made a slight gain at 111.7.

Transfers totaled $10,023,000 against $8,965,000 Monday.

In the treasury division of the federal list declines ranged from 1-32d to 5-32ds of a point. Somewhat heavier losses affected Federal Farm Mortgage 3s, 1949, and Home Owners' Loan Corporation 3s, which closed 8-32ds lower. Total dealings in the governments were approximately $1,010,000 against $670,000 yesterday.

New York Central loans were among the better acting rails, the 6s rising 3-4 to 112 1-2 and the 5s gaining 5-8 at 90 3-4. Baltimore & Ohio 4 1-2s and Chicago & Northwestern 4 3-4s likewise improved fractionally.

Southern Railway 4s sold off a point to 59 1-4 and Chesapeake Corporation 5s were off 1-2 at 128. International Telephone issues closed higher as did International Hydro-Electric 6s. Utility Power & Light 5s slid off a point to 67; United Drug 5s receded 1-2 to 100 1-2, and Warner Brothers 6s were 5-8 lower at 93 1-2.

Foreign issues showed a mixture of small gains and losses. Those of Argentina, Denmark, Japan and Uruguay improved. Rome, German and Australian issues were fractionally lower. Cuban 5 1-2s gave up 1 1-4. Panama 5s, stamped, rose 3 7-8 to 76 7-8.

POPE PIUS URGES PICTURE CONTROL

Bad Movies Termed Insult to All That Is Beautiful in Vatican Address.

VATICAN CITY, April 21.—(AP)—Control of the motion picture production was urged today by Pope Pius in an emphatic address to several hundred delegates attending the International Convention of Movie and Press Writers.

His holiness said:

"Control is one of the great needs, one of the great necessities for keeping moving picture production in lines where it ought to remain—under pain of enormous guilt."

Making one of the longest speeches he has delivered in recent years, Pope Pius said this control should be just, neither too severe nor too indulgent.

He called bad movies "a real insult to all that's beautiful, delicate and honorable in souls, particularly young souls" and urged independent criticism divorced from producing companies.

ROOSEVELT HOPES TO VISIT CANADA

President Invited To Dominion by Governor General.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Hope for a visit to Canada was held out today by President Roosevelt in acknowledging an invitation from the governor general of the dominion, Lord Tweedsmuir.

Mr. Roosevelt said last week that his future plans hinged on the conclusion of work on Capitol Hill, including his long-scheduled visit to the Texas and Arkansas centennials the first week of June. In a White House statement today it was said Mr. Roosevelt "is not yet certain" whether he would be able to accept the invitation.

It was believed by those close to the executive that if congress adjourned by early June, the President would continue his proposed journey to the southwest to include a call at Ottawa. This would be during the week when the republican national convention is meeting.

4 JAPANESE EXECUTED IN ESPIONAGE PLOT

TOKYO, April 21.—(AP)—A Domei (Japanese) News Agency dispatch from Hsinking said Major General Ling Sheng, former governor of Hsingan province, northern Manchoukuo, and three other high officials were executed today for plotting subversive movements.

The four officials of the Japanese-sponsored state of Manchoukuo were sentenced to death by a court-martial, the dispatch said, and the sentences were carried out immediately.

Two other officials were sentenced to imprisonment of 15 years and 12 years.

All six men, Mongol officials in the provincial government, were arrested early last week, charged with plotting, conducting espionage and giving military information to soviet Russia in connection with recent far eastern border incidents.

Jobless Are Camped In Jersey State House

TRENTON, N. J., April 21.—(AP)—A small delegation of the unemployed "camped" in the New Jersey assembly chamber today, after the legislature adjourned without providing relief funds.

Ray Cooke, state chairman of the Workers' Alliance of New Jersey, organization of the unemployed, indicated they would remain until the legislature acted, distributed his poorly dressed group about in the seats of the assemblymen and announced that more were being brought by truck from Camden, Burlington and Essex counties to take up their peaceful occupation of the statehouse.

Cooke remarked that a similar demonstration was made in Wisconsin recently and continued two or three weeks. He said food would be supplied from the Trenton headquarters of the alliance and that blankets, pillows and other needs of the "campers" would be provided for.

SHORT ILLNESS FATAL TO MRS. MARIENTHAL

Mrs. Florence Marienthal, a resident of Atlanta for 19 years, died yesterday at her home, 1025 St. Charles avenue, after a short illness. She was 58.

Mrs. Marienthal was a member of the Temple Sisterhood and the Atlanta Council of Jewish Women. She had been a resident of the city since the death of her husband, a Cincinnati broker.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of Sam R. Greenberg. Dr. David Marx will officiate and burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Lillian Mae Patterns

A MAKE-IT-YOURSELF FROCK FOR SPORTIVE HOURS. Pattern 2667.

Demure, but fashion-wise, is the clever miss who wears this snappy sports frock. Demure because her frock boasts a smart yoke-sleeve all in one piece and four wide pleats. Fashion-wise because she realizes that a bright cotton fabric will be the most effective material for this summer frock which she plans to make herself. Have you noticed the dots? They're a grand idea for the person who likes a bit of swagger and pep for a change—though pastel monotones are perfect, too. Its fabric possibilities are many—may we suggest that this model would be appealing in seersucker, shantung, pique, linen or printed cotton. Send for the pattern!

Pattern 2667 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 1-2 yards 36-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send 15 cents in coins for this Lillian Mae pattern. Do not send stamps. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Order our new Lillian Mae Pattern Book and learn how easily you can make a smart summer wardrobe that's just your style! The latest frocks, suits, blouses; beach and vacation clothes; bridal outfits. Lovely clothes for children, too. Smart styles for stouts. And a full picture-story of summer fabrics and accessories. Price of book 15 cents.

BIG BETHEL APPEALS FOR MORTGAGE FUNDS

An urgent appeal for funds for the Big Bethel church was made yesterday by the campaign committee as the time for the end of the $3,000 campaign, Sunday, drew near. A large portion of the needed fund remains unsubscribed.

"Funds are needed or Big Bethel will lose all," the campaign committee said. "Our mortgage is in default and we have no one but our Atlanta friends to turn to. Big Bethel choir has responded to every call made on it and we feel sure that those who have been thrilled by the choir will be glad to aid us when our distress is called to their attention. The drive ends Sunday night and we have only a few days in which to reach our goal, which is still far away."

OIL SHARES ADVANCE; CURB TREND UNEVEN

Utilities, Heavy in Early Trade, Register Modest Advance.

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—Oil shares moved up briskly on the curb market today, but other groups failed to follow.

Prices shifted irregularly, with late rallying tendencies in a number of issues which has been weak during the forenoon trading.

Strongest among the petroleum stocks were Gulf at 90 1-2, up 3 1-2; Creole at 28 1-2, up 1 3-8, and Humble at 66, up 1.

ROGERS ENDS RECITAL IN FLORIDA FLOGGING

Victim Denies Accusation Defendant Fired Him for Improper Relations.

BARTOW, Fla., April 21.—(AP)—After reciting additional details of the flogging administered to him and two companions, in a woods near Tampa last November, Sam Rogers hotly denied late today an accusation of Cross-Examining Pat Whitaker that C. W. Carlisle, one of the seven defendants, had him fired from a filling station job "for improper relations with negro women and for selling liquor."

Rogers completed his recital of how he, Eugene F. Poulnot, and Joseph Shoemaker, who subsequently died, were whipped, tarred and feathered and Whitaker began a searching cross-examination which had not been completed at adjournment.

Whitaker drew from Rogers an admission he could not be positive it was Carlisle who tied a handkerchief over his head as a blindfold in the car in which he was taken to the scene of his ordeal, as Rogers had testified on direct examination.

The vigorous chief of defense counsel questioned Rogers closely as to the actions of himself and Poulnot after they left Shoemaker resting under a tree and went to seek aid at a filling station on the way back to Tampa after the assault.

PLEA FOR PATTERSON FILED BY LEIBOWITZ

DECATUR, Ala., April 21.—(AP)—Counsel for Heywood Patterson, negro defendant in the "Scottsboro case," filed a bill of exceptions in circuit court here today to his conviction and sentence of 75 years in the penitentiary.

The bill, 162 pages long, was signed by Samuel S. Leibowitz and Osmond K. Fraenkel, of New York; George W. Chamlee, of Chattanooga, and the law firm of Watts & White, of Huntsville, Ala.

Filing of the bill was the first legal step in the appeal from the verdict last January, when Patterson was convicted of attacking a white girl aboard a freight train March 31, 1931.

Styles by Annette.

SUN-BACK DRESS WITH SHIRT BLOUSE.

Such a darling little dress is this for a young girl in aqua-blue crepe silk.

It has a shirt blouse and beneath a dress with sun-back with plaits in the skirt. These are all qualities much beloved by youth.

You can wear it right now to town. When summer comes, wear it without the shirt blouse.

If you want it defintely for summer, it's jaunty in white linen with the shirt in navy blue with white linen collar and cuffs.

You can use the pattern again for a separate blouse or a sun-back dress.

Style No. 1715 designed for sizes 11, 13, 15 and 17 years. Size 15 requires 3 3-8 yards of 39-inch material with 1-2 yard of contrasting and 3-4 yard of 35-inch material for camisole.

Our illustrated home dressmaking spring book will enable you to have smart clothes and more of them for less money. Each step in the making of a dress is shown with illustrated diagrams. Send for your copy today.

Price of book 15 cents.

TARZAN AND THE LEOPARD MEN No. 99

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The garrison of the Leopard Clan's stronghold clashed furiously with Tarzan's fierce avengers. Skulls cracked under the impact of massive bludgeons. Sharp spears impaled leaping warriors. Dreadful claws of steel—Talons of Death—plowed flesh and blood.

Those whirling talons and the hideous leopard uniforms of the monster men struck terror to the hearts of Tarzan's fighters, and it was only the ape-man's encouraging shouts and his own feats of strength and heroism that inspired them to continue the struggle.

Now Orando was seized with a happy idea. He raced to a campfire, plucked out a flaming brand, and applied it to a hut. The tinder-like structure burst into flames. The fire spread rapidly, and soon the village was enveloped by a devouring conflagration . . .

. . . But, unknown to Orando, the billowing flames served as a message to bring reinforcements to the foe; for now one of the Leopard Men in the temple awoke from his drunken slumbers and beheld the flame-lit sky. "Village afire!" he shouted. "Let's go help—quick!"

Solve Your Problem
With a Master Loan

IF your personal finances have become tangled with a number of small obligations scattered here and there, on which the payments are inconvenient to handle, our service will appeal to you.

BRING your problem to us. See how easily a plan can be worked out to consolidate all items into one loan repayable out of income.

THERE is nothing complicated in the service we render. We make loans from $100 to $300, secured by household goods or endorsements. You receive the full amount of the loan, and repay us in monthly installments. Only actual interest is charged for the time you have the money, at 1½ per cent per month.

No Deductions. No Fines.
No Commissions.

THE personnel of our office is qualified to give you sound financial advice.

CAROLINA BANKERS CONVENE AT AIKEN

Golf Competition Is Won by New York Financier.

AIKEN, S. C., April 21.—(AP)—Members of the South Carolina Bankers' Association assembled here today for their 36th annual convention.

An 18-hole medal play golf tourney this afternoon and a dance tonight made up the day's program. Business sessions will begin tomorrow. The golf competition was won by S. W. Noyes, of New York, who shot a 72.

A breakfast for members of the trust division will open tomorrow's events. J. Harvie Wilkinson Jr., vice president of the State Planters Bank, of Richmond, will make the address, while J. H. McGee, of the South Carolina National Bank at Charleston, president of the group, will preside.

At the full convention session, B. M. Edwards, of Columbia, will deliver his address as president. Other speakers will be John J. Driscoll Jr., of Driscoll, Millet & Co., Philadelphia; John M. Miller Jr., president of the First & Merchants National Bank of Richmond, and Harry D. Reed, of Columbia, general counsel for the Farm Credit Administration.

SHIPPERS ARE HIT.

PARIS, April 21.—(AP)—American shipping and express companies were hit by a government decree today prohibiting foreign companies or individuals from acting as customs brokers in France unless their own countries accord this right to Frenchmen.

PROFESSOR RESIGNS, ATTACKS PITTSBURGH U.

PITTSBURGH, April 21.—(AP)—Dr. Weyland M. Parrish, head of the University of Pittsburgh's public speaking department for 12 years, resigned today and denounced what he termed "the high-handed autocracy" of the university's administration.

Dr. Parrish said:

His resignation came nearly a year after a legislative inquiry into charges that academic freedom was curbed at Pitt, and a warning from Governor George H. Earle that the university might lose its annual appropriation from the state unless the situation is corrected.

Notice to Contractors

Sealed proposals for the construction of a water treatment plant will be received at the City Hall in Roswell, Ga., until 2 p. m., C. S. T., on April 30, 1936. All proposals must be accompanied by a certified check, or a bid bond from a qualified surety company, drawn in favor of the town of Roswell, Georgia, in the amount of not less than 5 per cent of the base bid; such check, or bid bond, representing a guarantee that the successful bidder, if awarded the contract, will promptly enter into a contract and furnish surety bond as required by law, equal to one hundred (100%) per cent of the contract price, conditioned upon the faithful performance of the contract and upon the payment of all persons supplying labor and furnishing materials for the construction of the project.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty days after the date set for the opening thereof.

Contracts will not be awarded until bids have been examined and approved by the Acting State Director, Public Works Administration.

Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates approved by the Acting State Director, Public Works Administration, must be paid on these projects.

The project is financed in part by the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, and is subject to all of its requirements.

The work on the contract shall begin not later than 20 days after the approval of the award by the Acting State Director, and shall be completed within approximately six months thereafter.

Payment will be made on the contract as the work progresses, as follows: Between the 1st and 15th of each month, 90% of the work done and material furnished and incorporated in the project, or suitably stored on the project sites, will be paid.

The balance of the contract price to be paid within thirty (30) days after the completion and acceptance of the project.

Plans and specifications may be obtained from Wiedeman and Singleton, Engineers, upon deposit of $10.00, which will be refunded upon return of documents within 30 days after opening of bids or upon submission of a bona fide bid.

(Signed)
TOWN OF ROSWELL GEORGIA,
By G. N. RUCKER, Mayor.

ROAD REPAIR PROGRAM IS LAUNCHED BY STATE

$3,000,000 Cost Estimated by Wilburn; To Be Completed in 90 Days.

Chairman W. E. Wilburn, of the State Highway Board, announced yesterday that with the advent of good weather the department was launching a repair program through which it hoped to repair all damaged roads within the next 90 days. The chairman said that it would cost at least $3,000,000 to repair the highways damaged during the severe winter weather.

"We expect to get to work on Route 41 north of Cartersville next week, Wilburn said. "Our reports show that this road was the worst damaged of all, and until now the weather has been such that we could do little work north of Atlanta."

Wilburn said that reports from highway engineers showed the damage from the widwinter ice storm more severe than any previously reported in Georgia.

Best Roads Suffered.

"Even our best concrete roads built to withstand what we believed to be the worst weather Georgia would have suffered immeasurably," the board chairman said.

Wilburn said that the automobile license tag fees which are allocated to the Highway Department for maintenance work would not be sufficient to pay the repair costs.

"We get about $1,000,000 a year for maintenance from the tag fees and under ordinary conditions this would be enough to maintain the roads," he said. "However, this year we will have to get the balance we will need out of our general highway fund, and the board is certain that the people will agree with the membership that the money will be well spent."

Judge Max L. McRae, commission member in charge of south Georgia work, said that the roads in his section also were badly damaged.

"It is the first winter in the history of the Highway Department that south Georgia roads have suffered from the weather," he said. "The weather down our way has not been so good, but we have some of the repair work done and will finish it as speedily as possible."

FIRST LOAN COTTON SOLD BY FARMER

Transaction of 347 Bales Nets Grower $2 Per 500 Pounds.

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 21.—(UP)—The first release of "loan" cotton under the government's new plan to dispose of 1,000,000 bales of its 4,500,000-bale holdings this year, was reported today by the John M. Parker Company.

It was a 347-bale transaction. A farmer who borrowed 12 cents a pound from the government on his crop in 1934, more than it was worth on the market, was allowed to redeem it today for 11.41 cents a pound. The government is letting the farmers redeem cotton at $1.25 a bale below the market price for middling cotton. The 347 bales were better than middling, so the farmer got a premium that made his total profit about $2 a bale, the company announced.

The government bore the cost of two years' storage, as part of its new program. It is estimated the government will lose about $10,000,000 through its manipulations with the 1,000,000 bales alone.

The American Cotton Co-operative Association announced tonight it had received 30,000 bales of the 12-cent loan cotton from the government, which was now ready for its farmer-members to claim.

The A. C. C. A. reported farmers were generally anxious to redeem the cotton and dispose of it on the market, but the movement had been delayed because the official forms were late in reaching them.

SEN. BLACK SEEKS FUNDS FOR HARRIS

Hiring of Ex-Law Partner Is Sought by Alabaman.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—(AP)—Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, introduced a resolution in the senate today to confirm the engagement of Crampton Harris, of Birmingham, Ala., as counsel in connection with the injunction proceedings brought against the lobby committee by William Randolph Hearst, the publisher.

Black is chairman of the lobby group and Harris is his former law partner. The resolution would empower the audit committee to arrange compensation for Harris out of the appropriation for the contingent fund of the senate.

The house last week defeated a senate-approved resolution to make $10,000 immediately available for payment of legal fees in connection with the Hearst suit.

The publisher lost in the District of Columbia supreme court in an effort to restrain the lobby committee from examining his telegrams. His counsel, Elisha Hanson, served notice an appeal would be taken. Harris represented the committee in that hearing.

ALBERT B. GROSSMAN DIES ON 85TH BIRTHDAY

Albert B. Grossman, former Atlanta insurance man and a resident of the city for many years, died yesterday, on his 85th birthday, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Raymond Schwartz, in Sumter, S. C. Mr. Grossman resided here until 10 years ago.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon in Sumter after which the body will be taken to Washington, D. C., for cremation.

Brothers Made In-Laws By Marriage Ceremony

KENTON, Ohio, April 21.—(AP) Brothers became father and son-in-law today as marriage performed a strange mixup in blood relationships.

John Lightner Jr., 34, was married to Mrs. Opal Shields, 39, and his 25-year-old brother, Andrew Lightner, became his son-in-law by marrying Mrs. Shields' 20-year-old daughter, Laverna Shields.

The marriages made the former Mrs. Shields and her daughter sisters-in-law, and introduced the possibility of a new tangle of relationships if both couples have children.

Safe Driving Pledge

In the interest of accident prevention and safer conditions on the highways and in co-operation with the Safety Council of The Atlanta Constitution, I am making the following pledge:

1. To drive at moderate speed and on own side of road.
2. Not to pass cars on curves or hills.
3. To stop at stop signs.
4. Not to jump traffic lights.
5. In city traffic to be particularly watchful for pedestrians stepping into the line of traffic from parked cars.
6. Always to give hand signals showing my intention of turning to the left, to the right, or stopping, and not to leave the curb from a parked position without giving a signal.
7. To be fair to other drivers in all respects and to refrain from reckless driving.

Drunken Driving Hikes Death Toll, Traffic Accident Study Reveals

If you drink, don't drive.

Emphasizing this warning today, the Safety Council of The Constitution points out that of all the drivers in fatal accidents last year, 6.8 per cent were declared to be under the influence of liquor.

And of all drivers in accidents, according to such records as were available in 1935, 3.1 per cent were declared to have been under the "influence."

Thus the fatal accident experience of drivers intoxicated was 118 per cent worse.

In calling these facts to your attention, the Safety Council realizes that very likely all the statistics in the world tending to indicate something one way or the other on the relation between automobile accidents and the use of intoxicants wouldn't make any impression on the person whose common sense or conscience fails to restrain him from driving after he has partaken of alcoholic beverages.

Moreover, such statistics as are available may or may not be accurate, and there is much to support the supposition that they have always been far short of reasonable accuracy.

But the evidence on the fatal accident record of drivers reported to have been under the influence of liquor is conclusive. That record cannot be dodged by any argument.

Let's take a look at the pedestrian side of the picture.

Of all pedestrians in accidents, according to the same reports, 4.9 per cent were declared to have been under the influence of liquor.

But of all pedestrians killed, 9.4 per cent were declared to be intoxicated. Thus the fatal accident experience of intoxicated pedestrians was 91 per cent worse!

Modern traffic conditions demand alertness and perfect co-ordination of mind and muscle on the part of every automobile driver. The same hazards exact care on the part of those on foot.

To face such hazards while under the influence of liquor, when co-ordination is subnormal, is simply to attempt to cheat death or injury. The figures prove it. So if you drink, don't drive.

If you haven't already enlisted in The Constitution's safety army, do so at once. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Safety Council and receive stickers for your car and other material relative to this subject.

Printed in this newspaper as part of its campaign for safe driving and safe walking is a pledge outlining seven simple rules of safety. Sign that pledge now, and live up to the precepts it outlines.

While motoring, observe the proper use of hand signals. Let the motorist behind you know what move you are about to make. Greater safety, fewer crashes, less deaths will result.

PUBLIC POOLS TO OPEN IN ATLANTA ON MAY 30

Parks Committee Forced To Decline Collum's Latest White Park Offer.

Atlanta's official swimming season will open with a splash on Saturday afternoon, May 30, it was decided yesterday by the parks committee of city council when that body adopted a recommendation by George I. Simons, general manager.

At the same time, the committee was informed by Simons that it would require approximately $7,000 to put the greens and fairways of the John A. White golf course in condition to play and that they could not be used but about two months the latter part of the year.

The committee decided informally that it could not recommend acceptance of the latest offer of Dr. O. E. Collum to turn the 86 acres he owns over to the city free of any cost for the remainder of the year.

It was intimated, however, that a co-operative plan may be evolved between the Fulton county commission and the city through which Collum's portion of the 107-acre tract may be acquired.

Mayor Key earlier in the day had said he would resist any move to gain temporary custody of the tract. There has been a persistent controversy between city officials and Collum about the purchase price of the Collum-owned acreage since the city surrendered it December 31.

Bids for the concessions at Grant and Piedmont park for a period of five years were rejected and ordered readvertised, committee members taking the position that the bids were too low. Awards were made for concessions at Candler, Oakland City and Washington parks.

Any kind or type of bathing suit may be worn in Atlanta pools as in the past so long as they do not shock the esthetic sensibilities of the public.

The pools are located at Grant, Piedmont, Moseley, Oakland City and Maddox park for white persons and Washington park for negroes.

Police "Vets" Offered To Parks Department

Balked in his drive to force about 40 veterans of the police department to take examinations to determine whether they are physically fit to do police duty, Councilman G. Dan Bridges, chairman of the police group and a police committee member, yesterday "found a place where they can be of service."

During a parks committee meeting, of which Councilman Horace M. Rantin is chairman, the question arose of additional policemen to expedite the flow of traffic in Atlanta parks.

Rantin incidentally is a member of the police committee and was one of the three committee members who voted to rescinde a committee action requiring all police officers who had 25 years' active service to take physical examinations.

"Just write a letter to the chief (Chief T. O. Sturdivant, of the police department), and tell him to put all those old men in the parks," Bridges said. "That will be one place where they can work. The parks committee should furnish palmetto fans and shade trees under which they can lie. We've got to keep them, so the parks would be an ideal place to corral them."

Rantin smiled, but made no comment.

Georgia Planning Annual Tribute To Thinning Ranks of Gray Heroes

By the Associated Press.

With the weight of another year on their shoulders, Georgia veterans of the War Between the States today await another Memorial Day, April 26, when the state will honor their valor and the cause for which they fought.

Official figures from the state veterans' office disclosed that time is rapidly thinning the ranks of the veterans and veterans' widows.

At the beginning of 1935 there were 525 veterans alive. At the beginning of 1936 but 417 remained. Today there are but 375 on the lists.

The number of veterans' widows likewise is gradually becoming smaller. In January, 1935, there were 2,228 widows receiving pensions. January, 1936, the number was 1,951. Today it is 1,847.

No Veterans in Sparta.

Some counties have no living veterans within their borders. Hancock (Sparta) county is one of them. The annual dinner given by the United Daughters of the Confederacy at Sparta will be foregone.

With living veterans to honor, Chapter A of the U. D. C. at Augusta is to mark its luncheon for the veterans by presenting a cross of military service to Frank Brooker, an Augusta veteran of the World War, whose service was in the British army.

Of South Carolina ancestry, Brooker enlisted in the Royal Irish Fusiliers in 1914 and served five years, earning the British war medal and the victory medal with five service chevrons.

After the Augusta luncheon, a parade will move to Magnolia cemetery for exercises with Gwinn Nixon to be the principal speaker.

Parade Planned Here.

An extended parade will be a part of Atlanta's observance of the day, with special exercises to be held in Oakland cemetery. Veterans of the Confederacy and of other wars, along with dozens of other patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations, are to participate with Lieutenant Colonel Chester E. Martin, of the 422d infantry, as marshal of the day.

At the cemetery, Harry Cochran Erwin, great-grandson of Lieutenant Isaac P. Henderson Harris and great-grandnephew of Captain John Evans, is to raise the Confederate flag.

Judge Lucien P. Goodrich, of Griffin, will deliver the principal oration, with the Rev. Edward G. Mackay to deliver the benediction.

A rifle salute will be fired, and taps sounded by the 22d infantry, Fort McPherson.

The entire program will be under the direction of the Atlanta Ladies' Memorial Association.

Columbus Celebration.

Columbus' celebration will include a parade, under the leadership of Lieutenant Colonel William H. Gill, of Fort Benning. J. Robert Elliott, attorney, will be the orator of the day at a program at the Springer opera house after the parade.

Special salutes are to fired at the Confederate monument and over the graves of General Semmes and General Benning in Linwood cemetery by an escort company from the 29th infantry, Fort Benning.

Historic Midway cemetery, on the coast, will be the scene of special exercises with the veterans' graves there and in other cemeteries in the section to be decorated by the Liberty County Chapter of the U. D. C.

Parade at Savannah.

Savannah will honor its veterans with a massive parade, which will include the eighth United States infantry, a landing force from the coast guard cutter Yamacraw, the 118th field artillery and Troop A, 118th Cavalry, both national guard units, and various other organizations.

After moving through the business district to the Confederate monument in Forsyth park, the parade will halt for memorial exercises there before moving on to Laurel Grove cemetery. A rifle salute will be given over the veterans' graves, and then will sound the solemn notes of "taps," a soldier's good-night.

Only six veterans remain alive in Bibb county to receive Macon's plaudits. A Memorial Day luncheon is to be given on Monday, April 27, for the veterans and after a parade, Walter J. Grace, Macon attorney, will deliver the Memorial Day address at Rose Hill cemetery.

Throughout the state other celebrations will be held in honor of the occasion.

BODY OF MRS. CRESAP IS TAKEN TO FLORIDA

Funeral services for Mrs. Electa Cresap, former principal of the Lee Street school and member of a distinguished British family, who died Monday at a private hospital, will be held in Tampa, Fla.

The body was taken to the Florida city last night by Awtry & Lowndes. Mrs. Cresap, who was 56, had been a resident of Atlanta for 50 years.

GEORGIA RELIEF FUND MOUNTS TO $310,000

The Georgia Red Cross relief fund totaled approximately $310,000 last night, Willis J. Milner Jr., state disaster relief chairman, announced. Funds in the Atlanta relief center amounted to about $167,500.

In addition to contributions from many Atlanta industries, $283.50 was given yesterday by employes of the three Fulton country prison camps. Sandy Springs camp gave $165; Stonewall, $41.50, and South camp, $77. Employes of the Exposition cotton mill subscribed $318.20.
